NEW LIGHT ON WAR.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

People who love children are beginning to read the war news and to study the war maps with the appealing figure of the war orphan always in their minds.

They catch a glimpse, for instance, of a headline which announces that the Russian army is pushing forward into East Prussia and they see little flaxen haired German girls and boys flying with their mothers from ruined farm houses to hide somewhere until the tide of war sweeps by.

The next edition trumpets a report that the German legions have pushed the soldiers of the czar back over the same ground. Child loving readers see the tiny Germans hunted from their hiding places by the retreating armies and driven to find new places of refuge.

Babies Are Neutral.

Between the lines of the grim tables stating the number of killed and wounded in each of the myriad battles, they read the number of babies and little children left fatherless. When they are told that a village has been destroyed by the bursting shells of rival field guns they think of the cribs and cradles which have been crushed like egg shells.

The little child is the only real neutral in the great war. When it holds out its arms for help one forgets nationality and racial prejudice. Chicago and the United States are compounded of many nations and it is possible for the war orphans of each to be welcomed in a new home—temporary or permanent—by people of his own blood.

Surplus of Children.

And in one point all are agreed. So far as possible the broken families, the fatherless children, should be kept in the land of their birth to help in the rebuilding of the fatherland for which their fathers fought. But after all that is possible is done it seems certain that there will remain many thousands of children, entirely orphaned and homeless, for whom it will be impossible to make proper provision in the home land. There will be other fatherless families—families of many children—for all of whom it will be impossible for the mother and relatives to provide at once.

It is to provide permanent homes for the one class and a temporary refuge for the other that THE TRIBUNE is asking the assistance of the people of Chicago and of the country.

Banker Has a Plan.

It is, indeed, from outside of Chicago, from small cities and farms in the middle west, that some of the most enthusiastic and interesting letters have come—among hundreds received—since the movement was started.

From a downstate banker, for instance, comes a suggestion that if proper arrangements can be made he is willing to establish a farm school for a colony of twenty-five or thirty boys, orphaned by the war. He would give the boys a good common school education and a thorough training in agriculture under the direction of permanent and competent teachers. Attached to the school would also be a trained nurse to look after the physical well being of the pupils and a matron to give them "the best possible substitute for the fostering care and sympathy of a mother."

Childless Ones: Note This.

From another man in an Illinois city comes a letter from which a couple of paragraphs may be quoted:

"The two little girls who came to our home through the efforts of THE TRIBUNE have been so much to us that I would like to speak a word to every childless home in the country. Every few days people say to me: 'Those little girls have a good home. How fortunate they are.' But we always think how much more fortunate we have been. Homes are plentiful—that is houses in which people live—but a house without children is not a real home.

"I wish we might tell every one who has under consideration or who ought to have under consideration the taking of these little war orphans, under the plan suggested by THE TRIBUNE, what it would mean to them. We lived for fifteen years without children and through the aid of THE TRIBUNE we now have two little delightful girls. They have made our house a home and filled our lives with pleasure that we never knew before."

But there is no need, after all, of printing that letter. It seems certain that there will be room in the homes of the

Boy of 16 Steals from Employer; In Trap, Ends Life

Frank Potocki Signs Confession He Took $800, Then Shoots Self.

SALARY $7 A WEEK

Frank Potocki earned $7 a week. His parents thought that was good pay for a boy of 16 and so did Frank—at first.

Out of the $7 Frank paid $4 board. He managed, after the first few weeks, to make what was left go a long way. Gradually he spread himself a bit in the matter of clothes; first with a trial pair of silk sox, then with silk shirts and advance style neckties.

Even with his little extravagances in dress Frank was able to save enough to buy a motorcycle. Beyond that he put something in the bank every week.

Rises Fast in Office.

In the office of the Acme Sausage company at 3738 South Ashland avenue Frank was held in high esteem. He had been in the employ of the company for a year. At first he had been a mere office boy. Then, after a few months, he was promoted to a clerkship. After that he became assistant cashier and acted as cashier himself during the noon hour.

Several weeks ago Harry A. McConnell, manager for the company, discovered there was a leak somewhere between the pockets of his customers and the cash drawer.

Puts Money in His Pocket.

At the noon hour, when Frank was attending to the duties of the cashier, a man came into the store and bought $3 worth of sausage. Frank wrapped up the order and put the money in his pocket. McConnell was watching.

The manager called Frank into his private office shortly after 5 o'clock. A number of stockholders were there. Frank was asked if he knew what was causing a crimp in the profits of the company. He shook his head. Then McConnell told him what he had seen.

Then He Signs Confession.

In the end Frank signed a confession. He had taken $800, he said, most of it in the same way he got the $3. According to McConnell he admitted he had spent part of the money for a piano and two motorcycles—one for himself and one for a brother—and had put the rest in the bank.

With the confession disposed of and the leak calked the stockholders turned to other business. Presently they started on a tour of inspection through the building, leaving Frank alone in the office. They were hardly out of sight when a revolver shot brought them back on the run.

Find the Boy Dead.

Frank lay on the floor, with the office revolver beside him. The bullet had lodged in his brain and killed him instantly.

"I guess Frank thought he would be sent to prison," said McConnell. "But we weren't even going to have him arrested. All we planned to do was to replevin the piano, the motorcycles, and the money he had banked."

GRAFT CHARGE SPRUNG IN TAX QUIZ EVIDENCE

Reviewers' Clerk Named Admits He Could "Tell a Lot."

GRAND JURY SOUGHT.

The charge that money was received by a clerk in the office of the board of review for obtaining the cancellation of a large tax assessment was made yesterday before County Judge Owens in the investigation of the ways of tax dodgers.

A sensational five minute bit of evidence brought the inquiry before Judge Owens to a sudden halt and caused him to direct that the whole investigation be laid before a grand jury. The charge of "tax fixing" and other evidence of wholesale cancellation of tax assessments obtained by false representations to the members of the boards of assessors and review are predicted to lead to the impaneling of a special grand jury.

Revision of System.

Roy O. West, president of the board of review, asserted that a grand jury inquiry would probably lead to a complete and needed revision of the revenue system of the state of Illinois.

Assistant State's Attorney Hayden N. Bell first introduced into evidence a tax complaint of July 31, 1913, which asked that the assessment of $15,549 on the estate of Charles F. Rakebrand at [illegible] North Troy street be reduced because it had been distributed among his widow and other heirs. A notation on the document showed that the entire assessment had been canceled by Roy O. West. A second document introduced was a receipt for $150 given to Mrs. Adele Rakebrand by Sass, Nicolai & Hood, attorneys, for legal services rendered. A third was a check for the same amount given by Mrs. Rakebrand to the law firm and indorsed over to Peter Walscheid, a clerk in the office of the board of review.

Widow on Stand.

Mrs. Rakebrand then took the witness stand. She is the executor of her husband's estate.

"Your husband's property was assessed at $15,549?" asked Prosecutor Bell.

"Yes."

"Was the estate divided at the time you visited the board of review in order to have your assessment lowered."

"No, it was not."

"Tell what happened when you called at the board of review."

Taxes Cut in Half.

"A man met me and I told him what I wanted. I said I thought the assessment was too high. He said he would take care of it for me, and that I would hear from him in a few days. A few days later he called at my house with some kind of paper from the board of review. He said my taxes would be only $150 instead of $300.

Mrs. Rakebrand then identified the tax complaint as the paper which her visitor had shown her. She proceeded:

"I told him that I could not pay him cash, as he asked, but would take care of it. He told me to pay it to Sass, Nicolai & Hood, a rm of lawyers, and he gave me a bill for $150. I took the bill downtown some time later and gave my check to a stenographer in the lawyers' office. I got a receipt."

She identified the bill and the check which had been offered in evidence.

Mrs. Rakebrand said she did not know the man was who had "fixed" her assessment, and said she thought she was paying taxes when she paid $150.

Did Not Employ Lawyers.

"Did you ever employ Sass, Nicolai & Hood to do any legal work for you?" Mrs. Rakebrand was asked.

"No; I never heard of them before. They were not the lawyers who handled the legal matters in connection with my husband's death. I supposed that by paying the money to the lawyers they would see that my taxes were paid."

Bernice Moni of 429 South Leavitt street, the stenographer who signed a receipt for the $150 paid by Mrs. Rakebrand, was thought to be the key to the mystery of who had received the money. Her employers refused to let her be interviewed. Later they issued a statement which declared she had given the check to Joseph Nicolai, a member of the firm, and he in turn had given it to Walscheid when he called at the office.

None of the three members of the law firm made any statement about the case until late in the day. They refused to let a reporter talk to the stenographer who

German Spy Goes to His Doom in Tower of London

Carl H. Lody First to Be Executed in Historic Edifice Since 1700.

POSED AS AMERICAN

LONDON, Nov. 10.—It is officially announced that Carl Hans Lody, alias Charles A. Inglis, who was found guilty by a court martial of espionage on Nov. 2, has been shot as a spy.

Lody met his death in the tower of London. The statement concerning the execution is brief, merely saying:

"Sentence was duly confirmed."

Lody died bravely, refusing to the last to reveal the name of the superior officer from whom he received his instructions to spy on the British navy.

This was the first execution in the tower of London since 1700. The scene of the execution was the tower barracks, not far from the spot where Anne Boleyn and other persons famous in English history were put to death.

Formerly Lived in America.

Lody, who was about 28 years old, once was employed as a guide by a tourist agency in New York and also worked for the Union Pacific railroad in Omaha.

He was arrested late in September in London charged with espionage and at his trial testified that he was a former lieutenant in the German navy but that he had been transferred to the reserves.

In his capacity as a reserve officer, Lody said, he was ordered to go to England and keep track of the movements of the British fleet, but was warned not to do any spying.

He was told to travel as an American citizen and was given an American passport. He claimed membership in several New York societies. Last year Lody [illegible] ing yacht Meteor.

Prosecutor Asks Death Sentence.

The prosecutor, in summing up, said Lody had admitted being an alien enemy posing as a civilian—at times as an American—meanwhile communicating important information to Germany. He described the prisoner as one "upon whom the international law against spies should be imposed."

Counsel for the defense admitted that Lody was a German lieutenant and said he had taken the risks because he thought it was his highest duty to do so. He asked for a sentence less severe than death, but said if the full penalty were exacted Lody would face it like a man.

FORMER WIFE SILENT.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 10.—Neither the former Mrs. Carl Hans Lody, who is the duaghter of Gottlieb Storz, nor her father is in the city. Mr. Storz, however, indicated some time ago that his interest in the Lody case was only a passing one.

The marirage of Lody to Miss Storz created considerable comment when the wedding, which was almost clandestine, occurred two and a half years ago. Miss Storz met Lody while on a tour of Germany and other European countries. She lived with him only a few months and then they separated.

Lody returned to Europe and his wife sued for a decree. He returned and secured counsel to oppose the suit, but later decided not to contest it and soon afterwards left the city.

BULGARIAN RULER PLANS TO VISIT UNITED STATES.

Secret Appointment of Minister to Washington Looked Upon as Foretelling Journey of Royalty.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SOFIA, Nov. 10.—Surprise was caused here today by the announcement that Prof. Stephen Panaretoff of Robert college, Constantinople, had been appointed Bulgarian minister to the United States and that he is now on his way to Washington.

The matter was kept so quiet that even most of the cabinet did not know of his appointment.

It is said that the real reason for the appointment is the desire of King Ferdinand to visit the United States in the near future and that Prof. Panaretoff will be his diplomatic advance agent.

AEROS, AUTOS, AND GUNS GO DOWN WITH MEN

Sailors Save 248, Several Being German Officers.

CAUCASUS BATTLE ON.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PETROGRAD, Nov. 10.—Naval headquarters today reported the sinking of four Turkish transports. The report says:

"The Russian fleet approaching Sangouldak sent vessels with torpedoes to destroy buildings and warehouses. This was successfully accomplished. Our guns also sank a steamer.

"One of our scouts saw a Turkish transport full of soldiers standing out to sea. The transport on perceiving us tried to regain the coast, whereupon a cruiser pursued and sank it.

Three More Boats Sunk.

"The fleet then stood out to sea. Two transports flying the Ottoman war flag were seen to our left. Torpedo boats which were sent to destroy them discovered a third transport. All were loaded with ammunition, motor cars, aeroplanes, and guns. All the transports were sunk.

"We rescued and took prisoners 248 men. Several of them were German officers. One was a staff officer who was carrying dispatches. The prisoners declared the transports were making for Unier, whence they were to transport troops to Trebizond."

Turk Attack Fails?

An official communication from the Caucasian army staff at Tiflis dated Nov. 8 says:

"At daybreak near Keprikeui the combat was resumed with renewed force when the enemy launched against us troops concentrated in the region of Erzerum, which, in their turn, were reinforced from the garrison of that stronghold.

"To judge from the character of the action and such information as could be gathered, German officers commanded the Turks.

"In the afternoon the fighting assumed a particularly tenacious character when the Turks supported their advance guards by fresh divisions. However, their attempted envelopment of one of our flanks failed.

"Thanks to the valor of our troops, we were able, toward evening, when the battle moderated, to hold all we had previously conquered. One of our columns took possession of positions at Karakiline [Karakilisse] and Alaschkertska.

"The artillery fight on the Kaprikey position lasted all day Nov. 8."

Russians Defeated, Report.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—It is officially reported that after two days of heavy fighting on the Caucasian frontier the Turkish troops have completely defeated the Russian army and captured the Russian positions.

A Turkish fleet has pursued Russian ships which were bombarding Kosiu, but the ships escaped in the fog.

Reports reaching here from Sofia, Bulgaria, set forth that a majority of the inhabitants of Odessa, on the Black sea, have fled to the interior.

Workmen's riots have broken out in the Russian government of Yekaterinoslaff, and, according to the same authority, Russian reservists have mutinied at Luhanisk, where fifteen mutineers were shot down by loyal troops.

CHRISTIANS THREATENED.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The commander of the Turkish forces at Beirut, Syria, in a formal note addressed to the American consul general and intended for the British and French governments, declares that for every Mussulman killed in the bombardment of any open and unfortified port, three British or French subjects will be immediately executed.

The Turkish note says, moreover, that the commander declined to take the responsibility for any uprising against Christians which might ensue from such a bombardment.

Held Its Only Recourse.

Turkey, according to its war minister, has neither soldiers nor ships to send against its enemies to bombard their unfortified towns, and would have only one recourse—to hold the subjects of the enemy as hostages.

Ambassador Morgenthau reported, however, he was making rapid progress in arriving at an understanding with the Ottoman officials regarding the departure of British and French subjects, and that he had already obtained the release of several Englishmen who had been imprisoned. He said misunderstandings on the questions of detained British and French subjects were daily being removed.

FARM RAIDED AS MOTOR CAR FENCE

Detectives Say Indianian Was "Making Over" Stolen Autos When Nabbed.

A couple of men in square-toed shoes who didn't look a bit like constables got off a train at Thayer, Ind., yesterday, arrested Hank Granger, who owns one of the best farms in the township, and seized seven automobiles from as many of Hank's neighbors.

Granger, it became known later in the day, is accused of being the selling agent for a band of motor car thieves operating extensively in Chicago. He had figured in the sale of each of the seven seized cars, all of which had changed hands within the last week.

The arrest of Granger marked the climax of an investigation by the Shippy, Hunt, and Dorman Detective agency.

Retained by Risk Firm.

The detective agency, which has been working in coöperation with the state's attorney's office, was retained by the American Auto Insurance company to protect it from further losses.

Operatives from the detective agency traced a stolen car to one of the big barns on Granger's farm. In the barn subsequently, it is asserted, they beheld Granger chiseling away the number on the motor.

Ordered a Car to Suit.

Granger, it is charged, talked with his prosperous neighbors about buying automobiles, got an idea of the sort of machine they might buy, and then "ordered" such a car from the automobile thieves in the city.

Granger's two sons may be dealt with by the Indiana authorities, who have been asked by State's Attorney Hoyne to act.

BANDIT O. K.'S TROLLEY RULE

Pleased to Find Conductor and $35 Alone on Rear Platform of Car.

Edward Flood, a conductor on the Van Buren street car line, is particular about keeping his rear platform clear of passengers. Although his car was crowded when it started from the loop at 7 o'clock last evening, Flood was alone on the platform.

At Desplaines street a young man got aboard. He had a revolver in his hand instead of a nickel.

"I'm glad to see you obey the company's rules," said the young man. "It makes things so much simpler. Now I'll take your money, please."

At the next corner the newest passenger got off the car. So did Flood's coin box and the $35 it contained.

SUMMARY OF NEWS IN DAY'S WARFARE.

The battle in West Flanders and for miles to the south in French territory continues with unabated fury. There apparently is little change in the general situation, but each day of the fighting has meant a rearrangement of forces at certain places which in the end must be of vast importance.

The official statement from Berlin declares the western campaign is making satisfactory, but slow, progress; that 500 French colored and English prisoners have been taken in the vicinity of Ypres; that further south the German troops have repulsed strong counter attacks by the British and are advancing, and that in the Argonne region favorable progress is being made.

The situation in the eastern arena is uncertain, owing to conflicting reports. From Petrograd it is stated the Austrians continue their evacuation of positions to the southeast of Lemberg, in Galicia, and in Bukowina.

On the other hand, a Berlin dispatch, by way of London, says official reports from Vienna announce the evacuation of the greater portion of Bukowina by the Russians, who are being pursued by the Austrians.

Petrograd official reports also claim marked progress in East Prussia.

The loss of the cruiser Emden under fire of the Australian cruiser Sydney in the Indian ocean and the bottling up of the Koenigsberg are incidents which have rejoiced the British public, as both these German warships have been exceedingly active in destroying British merchant vessels.

For the first time since 1700 there has been an execution in the Tower of London, Carl Hans Lody, a German spy, who lived for a time in the United States, being shot.

GERMAN OFFER OF PEACE IS REJECTED BY RUSSIA?

Rome Dispatch to London Post Says Kaiser Sought to Call Off One Enemy.

BOER REBELS MEET DEFEAT.

Casualties of Insurrectionists in South Africa Number 120, and 25 Are Prisoners.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Pretoria says it is officially announced that on Nov. 8 Lieut. Col. Van[illegible]venter met the rebels at Zandfontein, [illegible]ty-four miles north of Pretoria, killing or wounding 120 and capturing twenty-five. The loyalist losses were twelve men killed and eleven wounded.

BOOTED OFF CAR; 'RULES IS RULES'

Youth Seeking Fresh Air on Rear Platform Soars Eight Feet.

"Pigs is pigs," "passengers is passengers," and "rules is rules."

That may all be, but the three equations became woefully transposed on the rear platform of a State and Division street car yesterday at State and Monroe streets.

Harry Gorman is red headed and boasts a mild disposition. He weighs 125 pounds, stands 5 feet 5 inches, works as a delivery wagon driver, and wears his hat on the side of his head. He lives at 4312 West Madison street and works in the loop.

Harry came downtown reading a newspaper story about the traction company's new rule by which passengers are invited to remain off the rear platform. Judge Sabath on Monday discharged from custody one passenger who was arrested on a charge of refusing to move inside.

Wants to Get the Air.

"It was 7:05 when I transferred at State and Madison," said Harry to a reporter. "I hopped on a south bound State and Division street car on my way to work.

"I only had to go to Van Buren street, and, besides, I had a headache and wanted to stay on the back platform to get the air.

"'Inside for you,' says the conductor. I tried to explain. Then he said he'd kick me inside or kick me off.

"He called me a few names, broke my hold on the railing, and dragged me to the step just as the car stopped at Monroe street.

Lands Out in Street.

"Then I got two kicks that landed me about eight feet from the car tracks. I fell on my left hip right in front of an automobile, which swerved to one side just in time to miss running over me. When I came to myself the car had gone."

Gorman was examined last night by Dr. J. S. Pigal of 2756 Ogden avenue, who said that the young man had suffered a contusion of the spine. Gorman's mother asserted she would put the case in the hands of her attorney this morning.

No More Platform Arrests.

Chief of Police Gleason issued an order to commanding officers yesterday directing them to make no more arrests of citizens charged by employés of the street car companies with refusing to move off the rear platforms of street cars.

lested in any way since the outbreak of the war and are in no danger, Ambassador Morgenthau further reported.

No Alarm for U. S. Ship.

Navy department officials refused to be disturbed today by persistent rumors that the cruiser North Carolina at Beirut had been sunk by a mine.

"There is not the least apprehension for the ship," was the official answer to all inquiries.

Telegrams from anxious relatives and friends of the officers and men of the cruiser North Carolina reached the navy department tonight from all parts of the country. To each inquiry Secretary Daniels replied that while he was without official word from the cruiser he felt positive no harm had befallen it.

WHITE PAPER ON TURKEY.

LONDON, Nov. 11, 1 a. m.—The diplomatic correspondence from the British embassy at Constantinople relating to the events leading to the war with Turkey was issued last night in the form of a White Paper.

The correspondence which begins Aug. 3 and closes Nov. 4, portrays the grand vizier as ostensibly striving to maintain the neutrality of Turkey, but proving no match for his war minister, Enver Bey, who, "backed by Germany, was determined to force Turkey into a war against the allies."

The detention by the British government of the two battleships building for Turkey in England provided Turkey at the outset, according to the White Paper, with a grievance, but this soon assumed minor importance compared with the cruisers Goeben and Breslau, with their German crews.

Grand Vizier Quoted.

The grand vizier, according to a dispatch from the British embassy at Constantinople dated Aug. 16, admitted that Germany was doing its utmost to compromise the Turkish government, but gave solemn assurance that Turkey's neutrality would be maintained.

This assurance was frequently repeated and so impressed the British ambassador, Sir Louis Mallet, that he wrote to Sir Edward Grey that he was convinced of the grand vizier's absolute sincerity.

The grand vizier pleaded for more time in which to get rid of the German crews of the Goeben and Breslau, and explained that the mobilization of Turkey was due to necessity of avoiding being surprised by Bulgaria, but, as stated in another dispatch from the ambassador, Enver Bey had got "entirely out of hand," and, continued the ambassador, "I gather that he alone is responsible for the present situation."

Enver Bey Gets Control.

The situation, as told in the correspondence, rapidly became more critical, with Enver Bey virtually in control. Turkey's preparations for hostilities became more open and its breaches of neutrality more glaring.

All the while the grand vizier expressed his deep regret at the course affairs had taken and still declared he would do his utmost to maintain peace.

Australian Battle Craft Put Two German Sea Raiders Out of Commission.

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Two naval successes of utmost importance to Great Britain and its allies were announced by the admiralty today.

The first was the destruction of the German cruiser Emden. It was driven ashore and burned after a severe engagement with the Australian cruiser Sydney in the Cocos or Keeling group of islands southwest of Java in the Indian ocean.

The second was the bottling up of the German cruiser Koenigsberg near Mafia island on the coast of German East Africa by the blocking of the channel to the harbor. This was done by the Australian cruiser Chatham.

These two victories have cleared all the high seas of German cruisers with the exception of Admiral Von Spee's fleet in the southern Pacific, and the British admiralty has informed the country that adequate measures have been taken to deal with this fleet, victor of the recent battle off the Chilean coast.

Emden Famed as Raider.

The destruction of the Emden closes the career of a sea raider which has been without parallel since the famous Alabama of the confederate states was roaming the ocean.

Since the opening of hostilities the Emden is known to have sunk twenty-two ships, mostly British, and has captured at least one. It has bombarded several ports and destroyed cable communications with several localities in the far eastern ocean.

No accurate estimate can be made of the value of the vessels destroyed or of their cargoes. Shipping men have variously placed the extent of the damage at $4,000,000 to $21,000,000. It is not unlikely that additional ships whose loss has not been reported were sent to the bottom by the German cruiser.

Search Made for Emden.

Because of its activity the Emden has been hunted for weeks by British, French, Russian, and Japanese war craft, the search covering an immense area. The success of the Sydney in the hunt is told in the admiralty statement as follows:

"Yesterday morning news was received that the Emden, which had been completely lost to sight after its action with the Russian cruiser Jamtchug, had arrived at Keeling or Cocos island and landed an armed party to destroy the wireless station. Here it was caught and forced to fight by the Australian cruiser Sydney, Capt. John Glossop.

"A sharp action took place, in which the Sydney suffered the loss of three men killed and fifteen wounded. The Emden was driven ashore and burned. Its losses in personnel are reported as heavy. All possible assistance is being given to the survivors by the various ships which have been dispatched to the scene."

Captain of Emden Saved.

According to a dispatch from Tokio Capt. Karl von Muller and most of the crew of the Emden were saved.

The Evening News in an editorial says:

"To the British nation there is one regret in the destruction of the Emden. That is the possibility of loss of the life of the Emden's captain, a brave, ingenious, and courteous gentleman. He has played the game admirably. We hope he has been saved."

The first lord of the admiralty, Winston Spencer Churchill, has sent the following message to the Sydney and to the navy board of the Australian commonwealth:

"Warmest congratulations on the brilliant entry of the Australian navy into the war and the signal service given to the allied cause and to peaceful commerce by the destruction of the Emden."

Close of Koenigsberg's Career.

The cruiser Chatham, which erased the danger of the Koenigsberg to shipping of the allied nations, was a sister ship of the Sydney in the Australian navy. The Koenigsberg, like the Emden, had made a record as a raider, its most notable feat having been the disabling of the British cruiser Pegasus in Zanzibar harbor on Sept. 20.

The Pegasus was caught with a disadvantage as its was undergoing repairs. Twenty-five of the crew of the Pegasus were killed and eighty wounded.

Since that time the Koenigsberg had sunk or captured several merchant vessels despite the search made for it.

Cruiser Seeks River Refuge.

The admiralty report telling of the success of the Chatham says:

"After the whereabouts of the Koenigsberg had been indicated by the attack on the Pegasus a concentration of fast cruisers was arranged by the admiralty in East African waters and a thorough and prolonged search was made.

"This search resulted Oct. 30 in the Koenigsberg's being discovered by H. M. S. Chatham, Capt. Sidney R. Drury-Lowe, hiding in shoal water about six miles up the Rufiji river, opposite Mafia island, German East Africa. Owing to a greater draft the Chatham could not reach the Koenigsberg.

"Pending operations for the capture or destruction of the Koenigsberg effective steps have been taken to block the vessel by sinking colliers in the only navigable channel to the river and the cruiser is now imprisoned and unable to do any further harm."

IRON CROSS TO VON SPEE.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Vice Admiral Count von Spee, the commander of the German squadron in the South Pacific, which encountered a British fleet off the coast of Chile, Nov. 1, has been decorated with the Order of the Iron Cross, first and second class. These decorations have been distributed also to officers and men of the squadron as well as to the captain and crew of the German cruiser Karlsruhe.

Heavy Firing Off Coronel.

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 10.—Heavy cannonading was heard at sea yesterday off the Chilean seaport of Coronel, according to reports received here from Chili.

AUSTRALIAN NAVAL HISTORY.

The royal Australian navy came into being in 1911 when the commonwealth adopted the policy of making itself self-defending and agreed to furnish the Australian fleet unit which since the naval agreement act had been supplied by the mother country. This act of 1903 provided that the naval forces on the Australian station should consist of not less than one armored cruiser of the first class, two second class cruisers, four third class cruisers, four sloops, and a royal naval reserve consisting of twenty-five officers and 700 seamen and stokers.

The base of these forces should be the ports of Australia and New Zealand and their sphere of operations the waters of the Australian, China, and East Indian stations. They were to be officered by officers of the royal navy and royal naval reserve. Eight nominations for naval cadetships were to be given annually to the commonwealth and two to New Zealand. An annual charge of $10,000,000 was to be paid to the imperial government by the commonwealth and $200,000 by New Zealand.

Ships of All Classes.

Under the new agreement of 1911 the main obligations of the commonwealth are to provide a battle cruiser of the Indefatigable class, three unarmored cruisers of the Bristol class, and six destroyers of the improved "river" class; also two submarines of the "E" class and the necessary auxiliaries, such as docks and dock ships.

This fleet was made one of the three divisions of the eastern fleet working in close association with the China and East Indian squadrons of the royal navy, all being under one control in war but the Australian unit being controlled by the commonwealth government in peace. The vessels are all manned as far as possible by Australians, supplemented by imperial officers and men.

Carrying out that program, the modern Australian navy now consists of the following: Australia, dreadnought battle cruiser; Melbourne, Sydney, and Brisbane, protected cruisers, and six "river" class destroyers. A naval college has been established for the training of officers.

[illegible]ron Cross for Aviator.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Lieut. Caspar of the German [illegible]iation service has been decorated with the [illegible]r of the Iron Cross for a daring flight.

THE Sydney was laid down in 1911 and completed in 1913. It has a displacement of 5,600 tons. It is 430 feet long, has a beam of 48½ feet, mean draught of 15¼ feet, length over all 450 feet. Its engines are of 22,000 horse power and with a speed of twenty-six knots an hour.

Its armament consists of eight six inch guns and four three pounders, and it carries two twenty-one inch submerged torpedo tubes. It has a two inch armored deck.

The Emden was built in 1908. It has a normal displacement of 3,600 tons and a complement of 321 men. Its length at the water line is 387 feet, beam 43 1-3 feet, maximum draught 17¾ feet, length over all 395 feet. Its horse power is 14,500 and its speed 24½ knots an hour.

Its armament consists of ten 4.1 inch guns, eight five pounders, four machine guns, and two submerged torpedo tubes. It has two inch deck armor.

TSING-TAU IS HANDED OVER.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The German stronghold of Tsing-Tau, according to a dispatch received by the Central News from Shanghai, was unconditionally handed over to Japan at 10 o'clock this morning.

Kaiser Sees Omen in Victory at Sea.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Emperor William has answered a telegram from the Bremen senate congratulating him on the victory of German warships over an English squadron in Chilean waters in the following terms:

"I rejoice with the entire German people over the splendid proof of the true German sailor spirit. I pray God still to grant our weapons victories on land to the confusion of all the plans of our enemies for the destruction of German being and influence."

Johannes Kaempf, president of the reichstag, has received the following dispatch from Emperor William:

"The heroic defense of Tsing-Tau that model settlement of German culture built with the labor of many years, brings new laurels to the spirit of faithfulness unto death, which the German people have so often shown since their army and their fleet have been in defensive warfare against a world of hatred, envy, and covetousness, a war which, if God wills, will not be in vain."

FIND A HIDDEN RADIO IN LOWER CALIFORNIA, MEXICO.

Secret Service Men Locate Wireless Station, but Fail to Ascertain What Nation Is Operating It.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Secret service men and navy radio experts seeking hidden wireless stations, supposed to be violating American neutrality, have located a hitherto unknown station at Ensenada, Lower California, not far across the United States boundary.

Officials believe word of the impending investigation, which was determined upon two days ago, must have gotten to the station quickly, as the radio experts reported it had not been talking for the last twenty-four hours. The United States authorities, of course, have no jurisdiction over a wireless station on Mexican soil.

Such brief information as came to hand today did not establish the nationality of the station nor what stations it was working with.

REPORT GERMANS ARE RETREATING FROM FLANDERS

Great Masses of Troops Move Eastward and Headquarters Is Taken Back.

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Unofficial dispatches assert that great masses of German troops are being withdrawn into Germany from the extreme right wing of the kaiser's army in Belgium. They are supposed to be those who recently attempted to break through the allies' line between Dixmude and Nieuport.

A telegram received by the Exchange Telegraph company from its Rotterdam correspondent says 35,000 men and 100 big guns have been withdrawn from Thielt toward Ghent and that forty-eight munition trains have left Bruges in the same direction.

The Central News company has received a message from Amsterdam saying that the German army headquarters has been transferred to Alost, which is only fifteen miles west of Brussels and forty miles east of the fighting area around Dixmude. This dispatch also asserts that many trainloads of German artillery are being taken eastward from the valley of the Lys river.

Battles at Ypres Continues.

In the vicinity of Ypres, according to the official dispatches from both Berlin and Paris, the fighting continues to be of the most desperate character. The Germans are now making a determined effort to break through at this point, having been checked further to the north by the flooding of the land and the continuous fire both from the allied armies and from the British fleet lying off shore.

The communication issued today by the German army headquarters at Berlin says:

"Our attacks near Ypres are progressing slowly. More than 500 French colored and English prisoners have been taken and several machine guns captured.

"Further south our troops also are advancing, the strong counter attacks of the British forces having been repulsed.

"In the Argonnes the fighting is progressing favorably, hostile attacks being repulsed."

French Official Statement.

The latest official statement in Paris merely says that "at the north the battle continues violent," but an earlier report said:

"The action continued all day yesterday with the same intensity that has characterized the previous fighting between the sea and the region of Armentires. The encounters were of particular violence for the reason that the opposing forces were alternately taking the offensive. The day was marked by the checking of a German attack to the south of Ypres, and by perceptible progress on the part of French forces in the vicinity of Bixschoote and between Ypres and Armentieres.

"Equally on the front of the British troops all the German attacks were repulsed.

"Along the major part of the front, from the canal of La Bassee as far as the Woevre our troops made secure the results attained in the course of the last few days. There should be reported also our progress in the region of Loivre, between Reims and Berry-au-Bac.

"In the Vosges fresh attacks by the enemy against the heights to the south of Mount Sainte Marie and to the southeast of Thann have been repulsed."

Still Bombarding Reims.

A dispatch from Paris says Reims still suffers every day from bombardment by the Germans. Last Friday 250 shells fell into the city, though no French troops were stationed there. The cathedral seems, observers of the bombardment say, to be a point of the German gunners' aim. All the buildings around the edifice have suffered terribly, while the cathedral itself presents a shocking spectacle.

No French military station is anywhere near and there are no artillery batteries within miles of the city. The military governor has informed the cathedral authorities that any one ascending to the towers for any reason whatever will be shot immediately, as he does not desire to give the Germans any excuse for training their guns on the building.

German airmen make frequent trips over Reims, where they drop bombs. The civil population is understood to have lost about 700 of its number in killed as a result of the German bombardment.

Floods Hold Back Allies.

THIELT, Belgium, Nov. 10.—The inundations in Flanders which prevented the Germans from making their way along the coast in their efforts to reach Calais are proving equally unfavorable to the allies, who are finding it impossible to proceed through these marshy regions.

The Germans have been obliged to evacuate Middelkerke, on the coast, half way between Nieuport and Ostend, and this point has not yet been occupied by the allies.

The fighting has swung over the country with great rapidity, some villages, such as Dixmude and Ramscapelle, changing hands several times a day. At the present time the Germans hold only a couple of unimportant villages on the left bank of the Yser.

AMERICAN IN INDIA SEES BRITISH KILL 300 HINDUS.

Photographer Writes of Fate of Rebellious Natives Who Were Refused Admittance Into Canada.

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—One of the editors of the Moving Picture World has received a letter from J. D. Williams, a moving picture man now in India.

The letter was dated Calcutta, Sept. 30. In it Mr. Williams told of the shooting by soldiers on the night just previous of 300 of the Hindus, who were refused admission to British Columbia when they went there to test the Canadian immigration laws last year. This news apparently was suppressed. The letter reads:

"The soldiers shot 300 natives last night. They were part of a crowd who had returned from Canada on account of not being admitted there. They were marching on Calcutta to try and start trouble. I went out to the scene of the trouble in a motor car with a newspaper man. There was not a line in the paper about it this morning."

AUSTRIAN INFANTRY CHARGING UNDER FIRE—This picture was taken during a battle near Przemysl in Galicia. This fortress has been invested and masked by the Russians in their advance toward Cracow. The main column of the dual monarchy's forces is reported retiring toward Cracow and across the Carpathian mountains.

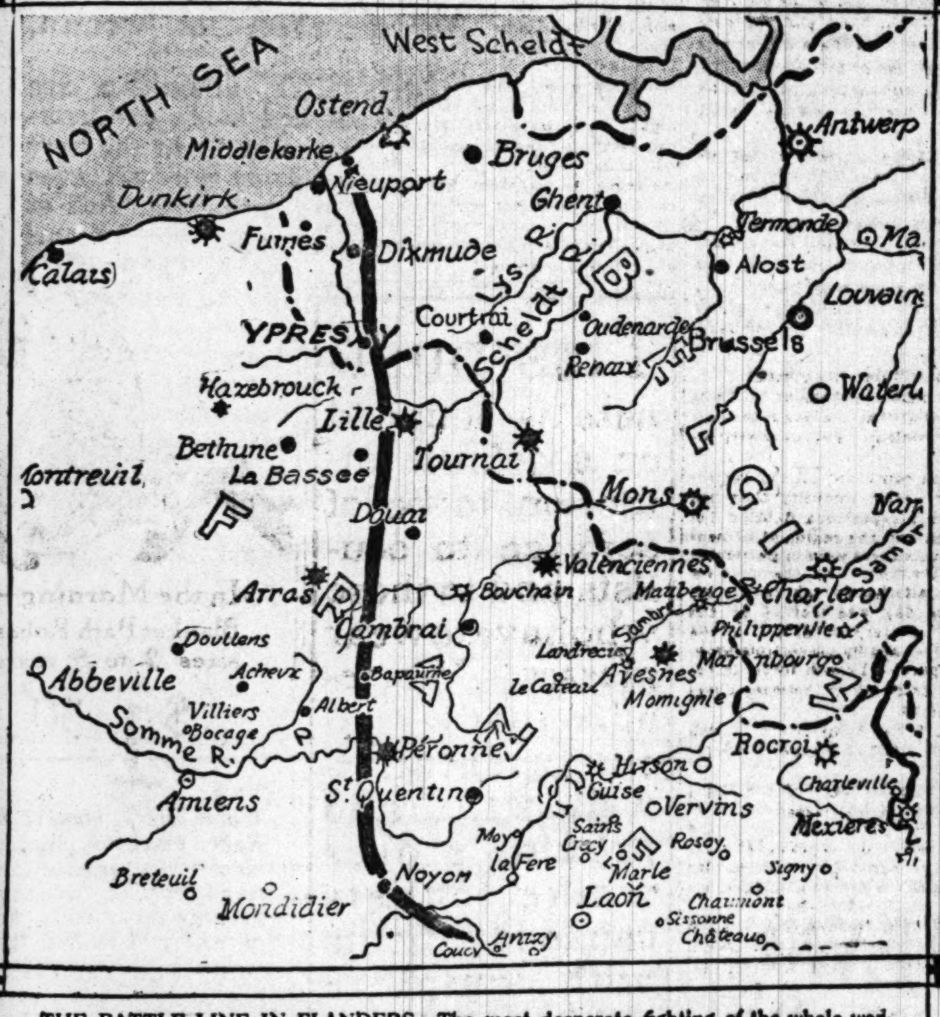
FRENCH COLONIAL TROOPS ON WAY TO THE FRONT—The strange mixture of races in the armies opposing the Germans in France and Belgium offers an interesting study in racial and national temperaments diametrically opposite. The whites and blacks and the browns all fraternize on the one issue. As fighting men they form excellent comrades. The picture shows an English officer shaking hands with one of the warriors from Morocco.

(Photograph copyright: 1914: By New York Times company.)



THE BATTLE LINE IN FLANDERS—The most desperate fighting of the whole war is in progress in the vicinity of Ypres where the Germans are making a supreme effort to break through the allied lines. Further to the north, between Dixmude and Nieuport, the offensive has been abandoned by the Germans but the flooding of the lands which had much to do with driving out the forces of the Kaiser now is handicapping the efforts of the allies to advance. The Germans are reported to have abandoned Middelkerke. Another message says the German army headquarters has been transferred to Alost, 15 miles west of Brussels.

WOMEN OF THE AMERICAN COLONY IN MUNICH SERVING WITH THE GERMAN RED CROSS—This picture shows the corps of German-American women who have organized and installed a large hospital which is caring for hundreds of wounded German soldiers. Most of the younger members of the American colony were in Germany at the outbreak of the war studying either art or music in Munich.

BRITISH CAVALRYMEN IN FRANCE—This picture shows a large troop of English lancers watering their horses along the banks of the River Aisne. They are the advance guard of a large mounted column which can be seen crossing a bridge in the background. These British cavalrymen have done excellent service in the campaign up to date.

RUSSIANS IN THE TRENCHES—Photograph taken under fire of the Czar's infantry in the battle line in Galicia. The Czar's troops have waged a remarkable campaign against the Austrians and Germans, and according to the latest reports were invading the Kaiser's territory in East Prussia, Silesia and Posen.

DAILY WAR COST $15,000,000 FOR GERMAN EMPIRE

None Complains, Bennett Says, and Work if Unable to Contribute Money.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

[War Correspondent of The Tribune.]

LAON, France, Oct. 18.—It is estimated by Germans that the war is costing the empire $15,000,000 a day. When it is remembered that the German thinks in marks and that as a basis for computing living expenses a mark means here almost what a dollar means in the United States, it is fairer to give the total as the Germans themselves give it—60,000,000 marks a day.

As the weeks pass the expenditure is bound to increase, for Germany is constantly pouring more men into the field.

In many talks with manufacturers, merchants, clerks, hotelkeepers, teachers, noblemen, soldiers, and servants I have not heard one word of complaint against the financial burden of the war.

On the contrary, the people of all classes take an immense pride in the fact that the war bonds of 4½ milliards ($4,500,000,000) were heavily oversubscribed.

Give Service if Not Money.

When a man cannot give money he gives service.

A German who was once a government official, but is now living in retirement, has a weak heart. He was anxious to join a party of youths and farm laborers who were going into the fields to gather in the harvest and prepare the ground for the next planting. His doctor forbade any such exertion.

The methodical German worked out a graded system of his own.

He went into the fields. On the first day he worked two hours and felt no bad effects. The second day he remained three hours with the harvesters. The third day he added another hour, and so on up to the fifth day, when he was able to work six hours.

"And so," said the German who told the story—"and so all goes well!"

The doctor's offended professional sense at the conduct of his patient is said to have been considerably assuaged by the fact that this conduct contributed something to "the cause."

Pension System Is Planned.

If Germany wins this war an enlarged pension system is to be part of the fruits of victory, and it will be based, of course, on indemnities levied upon conquered nations. In most instances the pensions paid to disabled veterans of the Franco-Prussian war are pitifully meager, and that has long been a source of national dissatisfaction.

The amazing fact has lately been brought out that as recently as 1870 various German cities were just cleaning up bond issues made necessary by tributes levied upon them by Napoleon more than half a century before.

In the early weeks of the war the talk of "the man in the street" was for the levying on France of an indemnity of 15 milliards. The figures have risen during the last month.

"Fifteen milliards?" said a German officer; "be assured, my friend, it will be nearer thirty."

Has Captured 2,000 Cannon.

On Sept. 20 it was estimated that Germany had already captured 2,000 cannon—as many as it took from France in 1870 and 1871.

I saw a park of ten captured French guns in a field on the outskirts of Maubeuge. Two German sentries were performing the dull duty of guarding the cannon, and they beamed with relief when John McCutcheon proposed that he take their picture.

Meanwhile a German officer surveyed the trophies with a condescending eye. "They are not much good," he said.

They made a fine show, though, and one could foresee that they would provide a picturesque rumble in Unter den Linden in the event of a triumphal return to Berlin.

FOES STRUGGLE TO WIN PRUSSIA

Russia Reports Advance in South; Germans Claim Success in North.

AUSTRIAN NEWS MIXED.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 10.—The following Russian official statement was issued today:

"In East Prussia the right wing of the enemy, who has been stubbornly resisting in the region of Lyck, has been driven back towards the Mazur lakes. East of Neideburg, twenty-four miles south of Koenigsburg, near the Muschaken railroad station, a Russian cavalry force defeated a German detachment which was protecting the railroad. The Russians captured a train and blew up the railroad bridges.

"On Nov. 8 Russian cavalry, meeting a cavalry division of the enemy, forced it to retire towards Kalisz. On the route leading to Cracow we have attained Miechow, a town forty-four miles southwest of Kielce.

"In Galicia our troops have traversed the river Wisloka. They now occupy Rzeszow, Dynow, and Lisko."

Austrians Evacuating Galicia?

The Austrian evacuation of the positions to the southeast of Lemberg in South Galicia and in Bukowina is reported today to be continuing. There are also indications here that the entire Austrian line from Stry to Czernowitz is being gradually abandoned.

Dispatches received here from Czernowitz, capital of the crown land of Bukowina, declare that, with the exception of a garrison of reservists of the oldest levy, no Austrian troops are left there.

The engagements recently have, for the most part, been trivial encounters between individual columns. Only at Kolomea are the Austrians seriously disputing the Russian advance.

Rome Confirms Austrian Failure.

VIENNA, via Rome, Nov. 10.—It was officially announced today that the war operations in Galicia soon will be indefinitely suspended. For this reason the correspondents who are now there have been ordered to the southeast.

This announcement is interpreted to mean that the Austrians have been defeated and intend to withdraw their lines of entrenchments with the object of resisting a Russian invasion into Hungary.

Vienna Reports Russians Repulsed.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The following dispatch from Berlin was received this evening by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company:

"It is officially reported from Vienna that the Russians have evacuated the greater portion of Bukowina and retired in the direction of the Dniester river, where they have been pursued by the Austrian troops, who have taken many prisoners."

Germans Claim Success in North.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Another Russian repulse on the East Prussia frontier has been reported to Berlin from Gumbinnen under date of Nov. 8.

Simultaneously with their operations against the main German army under Gen. von Hindenburg on the line of the River Warthe the Russians attempted to break into East Prussia by the old route south of Wirballen, but they were met by Gen. von Morgen's army and after heavy fighting were driven back across the frontier.

No intimations regarding the strength of the forces engaged have been published here, but they must have been considerable, inasmuch as the Russians are reported as having left 4,000 prisoners in German hands.

Germans Stand on Frontier.

Nothing new has been heard here of the Russian operations against the German positions on the River Warthe since the Russian cavalry division which followed the Germans in the retirement from Warsaw found that the Germans were making a stand behind this river.

GRAFT CHARGES SPRUNG IN TAX QUIZ EVIDENCE

Reviewers' Clerk, Named in Testimony, Admits That He Could "Tell a Lot."

had accepted the $150 check, and said they knew nothing of the incident.

Lawyer Explains Things.

Later James H. Hood, who with George Sass now comprise the firm, made the following statement:

"Walscheid, the man to whom we indorsed over the check, was an acquaintance of mine. I met him in a social way and once he turned some business my way. Shortly after that he said he had performed a service for an estate and wanted to know if he could not send out his bill on our letterheads. I did not think there was anything wrong, and we allowed him to send out the bill. When we received the check we turned it over to him."

Walscheid refused to appear at the state's attorney's office when an investigator found him at his home at 1351 Mohawk street.

"I read something about the case," said he, "in the afternoon newspapers. But I've been a bailiff long enough to know that you can't force me to come downtown if I don't want to. Tell them to put the case over for a week, will you? I might say a lot about the work of the office of the board of review, but I'm not going to, or some one might be sent over. I'm going to stand with the rest of them."

A reporter for THE TRIBUNE was unable to find him last night.

After the evidence had been concluded Judge Owens said:

"I am convinced that the revenue laws have been violated—there seems no question about that. Who is responsible I am not going to say, and I am not going to take the responsibility. I think this matter should go to the grand jury."

Wants a Grand Jury.

Later he wrote Judge Kersten, chief justice of the Criminal court, in part as follows:

"I am of the opinion that the magnitude of the investigation conducted by the state's attorney and the examination in my court to determine who the offenders are is such that public justice and public interest demand the impaneling of a special grand jury for this purpose.

"I am also of the opinion, from the evidence already heard by me, that violations of the taxing laws of this state have been committed and that the offenders ought to be punished.

"In view of this situation I have this day suggested to the state's attorney. Maclay Hoyne, that he make application to you as chief justice of the Criminal court of Cook county for an order authorizing the calling and impaneling of a special grand jury to investigate offenses alleged to have been committed in and about the violation of the taxing laws."

West Makes Statement.

President West of the board of review asserted that because of the large number of cases reviewed by the board during an average day, sometimes as many as 800, he had no recollection of the cancellation of Mrs. Rakebrand's assessment and did not know upon whose recommendation it had been stricken off. He said he might have canceled it at the request of Walscheid, who had been an employé of the board of review for five years. Walscheid was considered a competent and worthy employé, he said. He was employed by Frank A. Vogler, former chief clerk.

In a forcible statement to THE TRIBUNE Mr. West foresaw the revision of the present system of spreading personal property taxes.

"Assessment a Farce."

"The assessment of personal property in Illinois is a rotten farce," he said. "But the methods employed in Cook county are fuller and more equitable than in any other county. The principal criticism against the assessing bodies is on account of personal property which is hidden and cannot be discovered by the assessors and reviewers under the existing laws. Only about 20 per cent of the personalty is assessed that should be.

"The result is that intangible assets, such as notes, bonds, stock in foreign corporations, and cash, are not discovered and assessed. In a great cosmopolitan city like this it is impossible for five assessors to know anything of the taxable possessions of even a small per cent of the people who ought to be assessed. The assessors are supposed to place the assessments on the books and the board of review was created as a court of appeals before which taxpayers could appear and file complaints asking for reductions."

"The work of the latter board must be completed between July 1 and Sept. 7, according to the law. During this period three members of the board of review must pass on about 25,000 cases.

"We try to ascertain the facts and act in accordance with the law and the facts. But it is possible for us to be imposed upon, even when the integrity of witnesses is doubted and they are placed under oath. It is a wonder we have not been imposed on oftener. All that we can do is to take a man's word for the value of his property.

"If this and other instances will bring the public and the general assembly to realization of the fact that they must have a constitutional amendment to permit the classification of property so that a full and fair and complete assessment of personal property can be made a very great service will have been rendered the county.

Urges Legislative Action.

"I have tried at every session of the legislature to obtain the passage of such an amendment and it is to be hoped that this investigation will enforce the need of such a measure in the public mind."

Mr. West further pointed out that the records of the Probate court, which are sometimes available for the board of review, are not often out of date for the purposes of taxation.

Other witnesses appeared before Judge Owens during the day and testified regarding the striking off of their assessments.

His Assessment Canceled.

Charles Denges, dealer in meats at 2322 West Lake street, testified that he gave his 1913 and 1914 schedules to his landlord, a former alderman named Little. The records of the assessors showed that the field man placed a valuation of $3,725 on the property and that the assessment was canceled by Adam Wolf, one of the assessors.

Abraham Yablun of Cohn & Yablun, 1448 West Twelfth street, testified that he gave his 1913 and 1914 schedules to a friend named Maurice Eller. He said his stock was worth about $18,000, but that he owed for most of it. The records showed that the field man reported an assessment of $21,000 and that M. K. Sheridan, one of the assessors, reduced the amount to $650. Mr. Yablun said that he did not have to pay any money to Eller.

No Pay for "Fixing."

Max Hoffman, in the women's clothing business at 1251 South Halsted street, said that he had a stock valued at $8,000 and that he gave his schedule to a man who had a lot of other schedules.

He heard nothing more about the matter and did not know the man. The records showed that the assessment had been canceled by Assessor Sheridan. Hoffman testified that he did not even have to pay car fare to the man who "fixed" his assessment.

Those responsible for the tax "fixing" will be charged with conspiracy to defraud the county. The maximum penalty for this offense is a fine of $5,000 and five years' imprisonment, or both.

Case Will Be Pushed.

It is asserted that the prosecution of the Rakebrand case will have to be pushed to a speedy completion, because of the fact that the statute of limitations only allows indictments to be returned within eighteen months of the time that the alleged crime was committed.

During the three days that the investigation before Judge Owens was conducted by the assistants to the state's attorney they bared three score of cases in which the assessments on personal property had been stricken off the books by the action of some member of the board of review or board of assessors. It is said that the county has been defrauded out of upwards of $80,000,000 in taxes during the last four years.

FRISCO RECEIVERS LAUNCH NEW MOVE IN RAIL MUDDLE.

Suit for $14,000,000 Against Ex-Directors Dropped to Permit Attack on $26,000,000 Bond Issue.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 10.—Suit to recover $14,000,000 from directors and former directors of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, which was thrown into the hands of receivers on May 27, 1913, was dismissed in the Federal court here this afternoon.

The dismissal of the suit, which was filed by the receivers, is part of the plan of the receivers to repudiate a liability of the Frisco railroad on a $26,000,000 bond issue of the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico railroad.

The Luxury of a GOSSARD Corset

Is now shared by women in every walk of life.

STREET SUIT
by MME. HOSAC, CHICAGO

Black kitten's ear broadcloth. Long coat with yoke, collar and cuffs of broadtail. Broadtail buttons. Circular skirt with broadtail flounce.

GOSSARD Corsets are the standard of corset styles in South America, Australia, Europe, New Zealand and North America.

The greatest tribute that can be paid an author is to see a favorable review of his book in the penny daily and the Century magazine at the same time. To write a book that every one will read and approve is an accomplishment of which one might be justly proud.

A more exacting and difficult feat is to design a garment that will be acceptable to the women of South America, Australia, Europe, New Zealand and North America. Naturally this garment would have to sell at widely varying prices, and it would be compelled to pass a "style censor board" composed of the smartest fashion critics—the women of the world, because they know corset values.

Each woman is a law unto herself in her dress. Her country has its dominant color idea, form idea and style idea. She, however, reserves the final right to adjudicate in matters pertaining to her own dress. To win her approval and retain her friendship—that is what manufacturers of corsets have attempted for three centuries—

And It Is What We Have Accomplished in a Brief 10 Years

"GOSSARD Corsets are a luxury" has been said so often that it has become a truism—but unlike most luxuries, it has been made a necessity through our immense production, which permits of a great variety of models at prices that are acceptable to every woman.

Tens of thousands of women in Chicago wear GOSSARD Corsets. Millions throughout the world wear them. They afford more personal satisfaction and supply a greater degree of luxury and practical utility than any other corset at any price. Their style and wearing service is shared by women in every walk of life.

A trial fitting is offered you any time without the slightest obligation.

Illustrated Today Is a Gossard for Street Wear

Rather long and straight in skirt is this corset. It supports the bust but does not raise it. Elastic sections in skirt at sides and back. A beautiful silk Broche material adds the final touch of luxury to this corset.......... $25.00

CHICAGO WOMAN SEEKS FOR KIN LOST IN BELGIUM

Foreign Born Resident Wants to Find Girls Whose Father Is in the Army.

BY EDITH BROWN KIRKWOOD.

Two conflicting problems confront the mothers of America in regard to the war orphans of Europe. One concerns the separation of families—ever a question which tugs at the heart strings when it is brought home. The other has to do with the immediate suffering of children in the war devastated areas—something no mother can face unflinchingly if she puts her own child in the place of the sufferer. The two problems are difficult to reconcile, but the fact remains that both exist at the present time in Europe.

War already has done what the average human being of every nationality would seek to avoid. It has divided families, swept away homes, and made impossible in almost numberless instances the reorganization of family life. The undoing of this devastation is a problem for the years to solve, if the solving remains possible, but the babies of today need food and clothes and shelter and kindly care. The needs of the war orphans of Europe are not wholly a discussion of next year. They are an appeal of this minute.

Seek Close of Kin.

To the office of THE TRIBUNE since the war began there have come men and women seeking the close of kin who have been made homeless wanderers or rudderless families through the explosion of a single shell.

In the hearts of these foreign born American citizens of today another civil war is being waged and to them THE TRIBUNE's plan of helping the war orphans has made a direct appeal.

One of the first of the foreign born women of Chicago to respond has been Mrs. M. H. Fowler of 3827 Grand boulevard. Mrs. Fowler spent the early summer with her relatives in Belgium. When she left an aunt, Mme. Stanlius Emsens, was at her comfortable country home just a mile and a half out of Antwerp. At Brussels she had visited another aunt, Mme. Ferdinand de Pauw, at 172 Boulevard Landermont. Both were in the path of the war which followed. With Mme. de Pauw lived her son and his four small daughters, their mother having died a year ago. This was early in August. Mrs. Fowler has not been able to receive word of them since.

Her Sympathy Is Deep.

"I am so deeply in sympathy with THE TRIBUNE's plan," said Mrs. Fowler yesterday, "that I feel I must do something to help. How I would love to be the means of bringing some of the war orphans into good homes! Naturally, I think of Belgium first because I am Belgian born, but the Belgian children are not the only ones to suffer. I have not heard from my relatives for three months, although I have tried in every way to reach them. Their homes may be gone and they may be in need.

"My aunt, Mme. de Pauw, is old. I am doubtful whether she has been able to withstand the shock of the war. Undoubtedly her son was among those who went to the front. In that case his four little motherless girls must have been left in her care. Suppose the father has been one to fall? My friends tell me I am foolish to conjure up all these pictures, but are they impossible? Have not all these things happened to the families of others? Why not to mine? It is when I think of the possibility of the four little girls in need that THE TRIBUNE plan grows in bigness. It takes the close personal touch to give ideas proper value, doesn't it? I hope all the needy children may find good homes."

A Lovely Quartet.

The four little relatives over whom Mrs. Fowler is so concerned are Alice, Henrietta, Maria, and Augusta de Pauw. She says they form as lovely a quartet of daughters as any one could possess.

Mrs. Fowler, who lost her only little girl a few years ago, is waiting to take them into her home if they are found to be in need. Her chief desire at present is to get in touch with them. She has lived in Chicago for two years, but she has been in America since she was a child of 5, although she has returned to her native home in Belgium at frequent intervals. As her father was English and her mother Belgian, she is deeply concerned in the future of two nationalities of war orphans.

There are thousands of Alices and Henriettas, Marias and Augustas in the war country today. Does their call reach you?

Attacks Municipal Court Act.

The constitutionality of the Municipal court act is attacked in the declaration of a $25,000 damage suit filed by Anna Fogel against former Judge Frederick L. Fake of the Municipal court, and Frank Foster in the Circuit court. She charges she was imprisoned falsely.

BARS AMERICAN AID IN BELGIUM?

Germans' Edict at Brussels Said to Preclude Distribution of Food.

SAY IDLE MUST WORK.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—A proclamation issued by the Germans at Brussels specifically threatens, according to a dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from Amsterdam, to stop the distribution of food by the American relief committee among the unemployed until the Belgians go to work.

A member of the Belgian organization for the distribution of food from the United States was in London tonight, and was quick to voice a protest against the reported proclamation by the Germans at Brussels which would nullify American philanthropy.

"I am much surprised to hear the Germans' proclamation," he said. "With the best will in the world, it is practically impossible for the citizens of Belgium to work as usual. It is utterly inconceivable that after giving to the commission for relief official authority to bring food from America to the devastated country, the German authorities could, on the pretext mentioned, stop supplies necessary to our very existence."

Belgians Anxious to Work.

The Belgian pointed out that the principal sources of occupation are the railways, the coal industry, and metallurgy. The railway service for commerce policies is stopped; coal could not be moved even if mined, while the metallurgic industry is dead because there is no importation of ores.

"We are only too anxious for work," he said. "Give us transport, and, despite our desperate situation, Belgium will be busy again."

New York, Nov. 10.—When informed of the reported threat by Germans in Brussels to stop the distribution of food by the American relief committee Jerome D. Greene, secretary of the Rockefeller Foundation, said today that the shipment of food and supplies from New York to the distressed Belgians would be continued until Ambassador Page at London advised to the contrary.

Puts It Up to Commission.

"We shall be guided," Mr. Greene added, "entirely by the advice of the international commission in London and Belgium, of which Ambassador Page is an honorary chairman, as it was upon their representations that we have begun shipments to Belgium. The American ambassador to Belgium, Brand Whitlock, is one of the officers of this commission. As yet we have received no information from the commission as to this matter."

FOOD COMMITTEE FORMED.

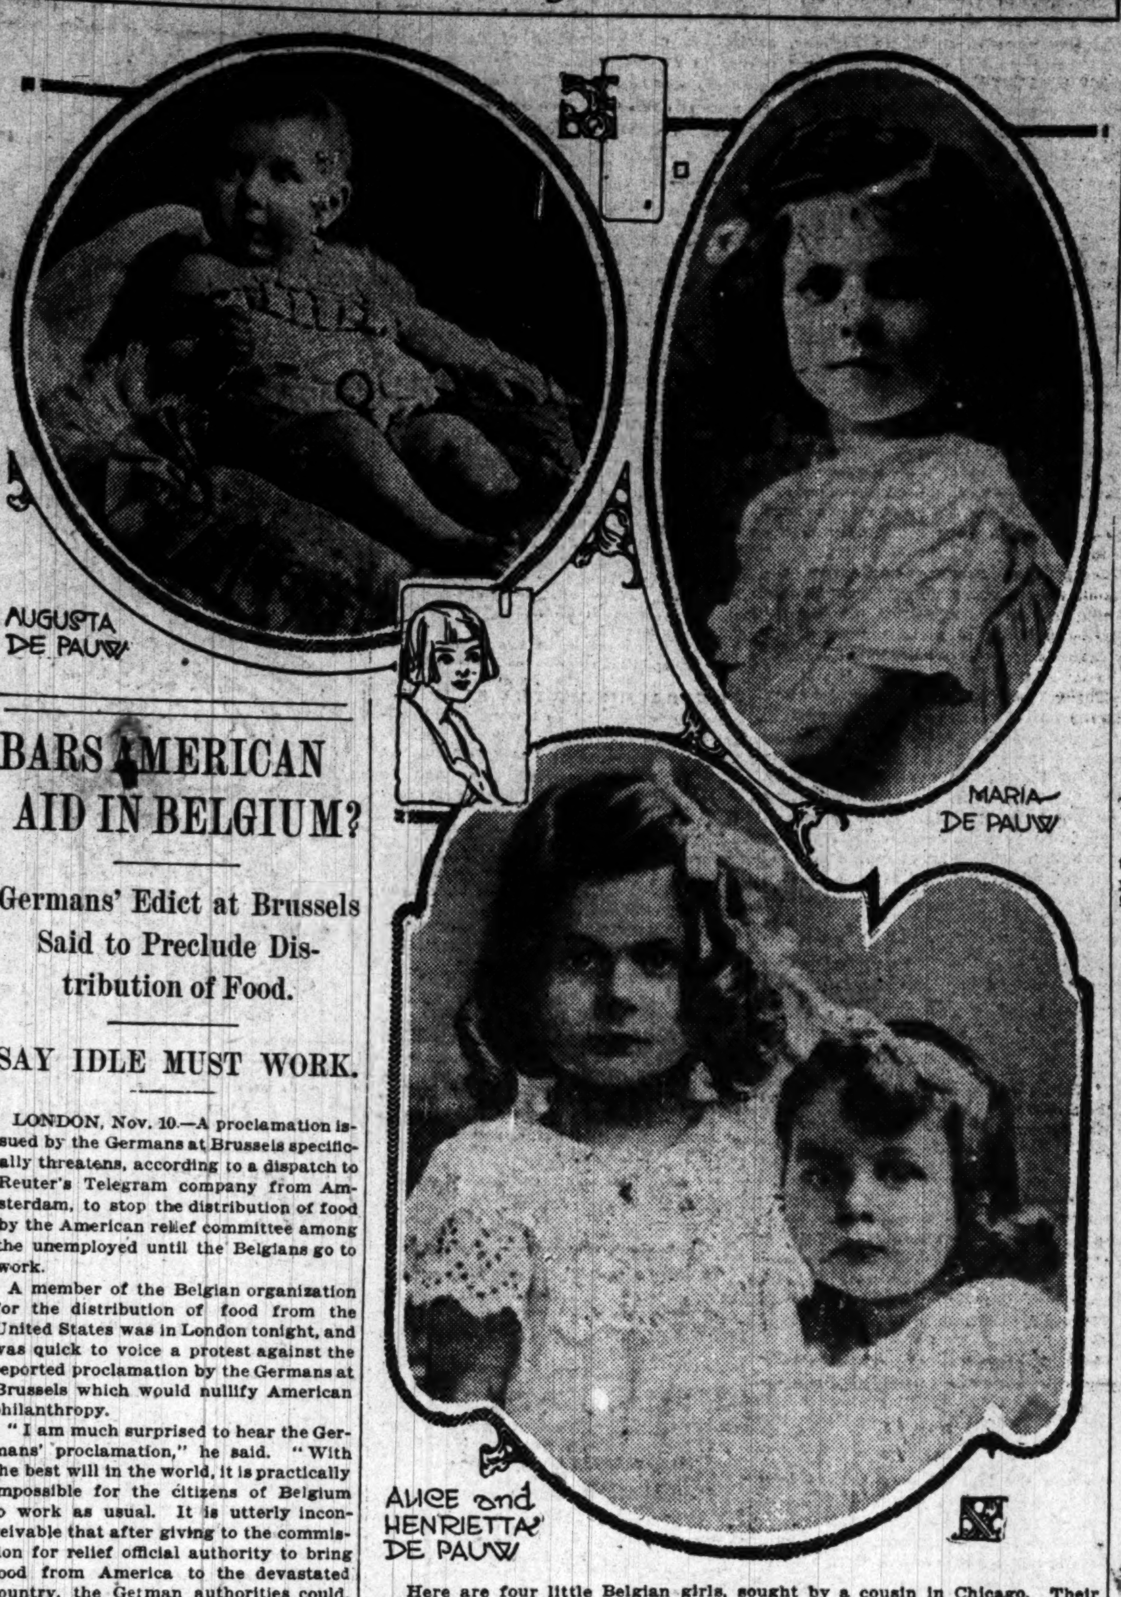
The Belgian Food Relief committee of Chicago was the title chosen yesterday by representatives of a half dozen Chicago organizations for the body which will supervise the collection of money and supplies for the Belgians. The committee is to be permanent.

The chairman of the committee is Arthur Aldis, 247 Monadnock block; W. J. Chalmers, 72 West Adams street, will serve as treasurer, and Everett L. Millard, 69 West Washington street, as secretary.

The organizations which have representation on the committee are the Commercial club, the Industrial club, the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the Union league club, the City club, and the original Belgian relief committee. The committee will meet at the Union League club tomorrow afternoon.

Approximately $40,000 has been raised to purchase food

Would These Little Belgians Cheer Your Home?



Here are four little Belgian girls, sought by a cousin in Chicago. Their father is in the army and may be among the fallen. These girls represent the type of orphans to be brought to this country by THE TRIBUNE. Would one of them cheer your home?

ORPHANS' CRY STIRS AMERICA

United States for all war orphans whom it is not possible to properly provide for at home. And in a good many letters people have suggested their willingness to go even further. More than a score of readers say they will be glad to make at least a temporary home for a war widow and her children.

The legal and administrative difficulties are being rapidly cleared out of the way. Negotiations with the Belgian government and others in authority are being carried on. Dr. Evans is progressing with the organization of a staff of skilled social workers. Many generous offers of volunteer service have been received from physicians and nurses. Several groups of women have asked if an outfit of clothing and bedding will not be required for the long journey to be taken by the little ones.

Before long it is hoped a definite announcement can be made as to all of these details.

TEN ORPHANED BELGIANS WANTED AT KALAMAZOO.

Officers of Lake Farm Association Ordered to Communicate with "Tribune" to Get Home for Boys.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Ten Belgian boys will be given homes at Lake Farm Home for Boys, according to a decision reached at an executive board meeting. President J. B. Balch and William S. Dewing, treasurer, also will get in touch with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Belgian consul in the effort to get the boys.

Lake Farm association takes boys, homeless, or from poor and undesirable homes, and places them on its farm home three miles from the city, where they are carefully educated and trained to be useful, right minded men.

This charity has been financed by Kalamazoo citizens. A new dormitory gives accommodation for fifteen additional boys, ten of whom will be the little Belgians. Additional funds will be needed to finance this move. A charity ball will be given Nov. 20 for this purpose.

Discarded Film Starts Blaze.

Discarded motion picture film, believed to have been ignited through spontaneous combustion, set fire to a rubbish pile in the basement of a four story office building at 168-72 West Washington street early last evening. The loss was small.

WAR ORPHANS ARE NEUTRAL

British and German Societies Join in Work with "Tribune."

JOY FOR LITTLE ONES.

THE TRIBUNE's plan for the adoption of war orphans by Americans has met a ready response from leading Chicagoans of both German and English birth. Representative societies of both nationalities in the city expect to present the plan in full to their members at coming meetings.

Former Judge Michael F. Girten, president of the German Aid society, the oldest of the local German societies, expressed himself as in hearty accord with the plan, "provided the details could be worked out, as he believed they can be."

Plan Appeals to All.

"It is a plan which appeals to every one," he said. "Of course, there are going to be many obstacles in the way, as there always are in performing a big work.

"I believe that the relatives of the orphaned children will insist, for instance, on having the little ones reared in the religious faith into which they were born. There will be many such details which must be cared for.

"I shall present the subject in full at the next meeting of our organization, and you may feel assured it will receive all the support which our organization is in a position to offer. Other German societies, no doubt, would be willing to take similar steps."

Speaks for the Germans.

Julius Goldzier, who is acting as treasurer of the German-Austro-Hungarian relief society, doubted whether many Germans would adopt Belgian orphans, but thought homes among the Teutons in Chicago might be found for the little ones in Germany who have been left without support by the ravages of the war.

"The German government is very proud of its power to act as a father to all its subjects," he explained. "Still, it is doubtful if they would object to having some of the little ones who are homeless brought over here. I believe there are many, more perhaps than we suppose, of German people in Chicago who would be glad to adopt the little strangers."

View of an Englishman.

On the other side of the shield is W. K. Pattison, president of the British Empire association, who intends to present the matter for open discussion at a meeting of his organization tomorrow night.

"Your idea is a British one in the finest sense of the term," he explained. "It shows proper consideration for the weak and the oppressed. It will give many of the men and women of British birth in Chicago an opportunity to put their beliefs into practice. Incidentally, I have no doubt that there will be many of them who will be only too glad to take one, or perhaps two, children. We will try to get into immediate touch with all those childless couples who are anxious to adopt healthy little ones."

Judges Hear Help Petitions.

At a meeting of the Circuit court judges yesterday Chief Justice McGoorty and Judges Honore and Pinckney were selected as a committee to hear the petitions for help in the various offices of the county for the ensuing year.

ONE ELECTION CLERK DOES ALL WORK IN HIS PRECINCT.

"Knew All About It and So He Took Charge and Gave Us Orders," Says Woman Judge.

Leroy Schloss, a clerk of election in the Forty-first precinct of the Third ward ran the election last week in that precinct, because the other clerk and judges of election did not understand the work. As a result all were called before the board of election commissioners last night to explain why the tally sheets were not completed.

The trouble in this precinct, as well as several others where clerks and judges were called before the election board, was found to have been due chiefly to the use of "dummy" tally sheets. The trouble was increased by the failure to record the vote given to J. H. Helwig, Republican, for representative in the general assembly.

Mrs. Mary E. Hayes, one of the judges, admitted that Schloss, who appeared to know all about the work, took charge and gave orders to her and the other judges and clerks.

As punishment the judges and clerks were ordered to transfer all the returns to the proper sheets. This required more than two hours of steady work.

CORRECT THE SYSTEM FIRST.

The weakness of the appeal for more salaries for Municipal court judges lies in the fact that under the conditions now governing the election of our judiciary an increase of pay means an increase of public expense without an advance of judicial character or efficiency. It is not the salary that determines the quality of our judges, but the political complications in which their choice is involved. When these are removed salaries should be raised.

The present situation is unfortunate for the public and for the high grade judges who are underpaid. It is fortunate for those members of the Municipal bench who are decidedly overpaid at $6,000 a year. Some of these judges could not earn half the sum annually in practice and do not earn half of it on the bench. Their presence in the Municipal court is a criticism of the system under which we select our judiciary and this appeal for more pay is at least welcome as a reminder.

THE RED FLAG.

When the Harvard students at the game with Princeton in Cambridge wanted to make their emotions visible as well as audible, they drew red handkerchiefs from their pockets and, with a great flourish and pretense of putting these handkerchiefs to the purpose for which handkerchiefs are intended, flashed a wave of crimson over the stands.

In the wisdom of the Massachusetts legislature it is unwise to permit the carrying of a red banner. It indicates a dangerous departure from orthodoxy and reveals the malign disposition of enemies of the people, disturbers who would kick down the props of a secured society and, if they had their wicked will, make the gutters run red with the blood of comfortable burghers who much would prefer to be in bed.

The Massachusetts legislature, having committed itself to a nursery belief in goblins, in signs, and malignant portents, passed a law prohibiting the carrying of red flags and some inspired person unknown to proper fame, conceived that this wise enactment prevailed against the display of banners by Harvard, the crimson falling under the ban.

Therefore the most fortunate and delightful result of legislation by scrambled eggs instead of brains was that when several thousand young gentlemen wished to salute their football players they had to blow their noses. Thus neatly and with full effect was the ridiculous reduced to its absurdity.

CONVERT CANNON.

The Hon. Meyer London, Socialist and congressman elect from the state of New York, modestly says that his mission in Washington cannot reasonably be and therefore is not the enactment of laws which would carry out a socialistic program. Mr. London recognizes himself as an irreducible minority of one which will be tractable and submissive to its own leadership, needing no caucus action, but apt to be outvoted persistently on all the major issues of the day.

Therefore Mr. London desires merely to acquit himself well in the rôle of evangelist and if possible to leave congress more amenable to reason than he found it. An evangelist loves a bright and shining convert, one whose repentance will fill the eye and move the admiration, offering a conspicuous example of the worth of the cause to which the convert has succumbed.

We call to Mr. London's attention the fact that Mr. Joseph Gurney Cannon, mellow with experience and ripe in years, has been sent back by an Illinois district on a sentimental errand—to round out his career. Let Mr. London ingratiate himself with Mr. Cannon and teach our favored son of Anak the better way. As we have said, Mr. Cannon is mellow and ripe. He has been cultivated and mulched and the stubborn clay of his soil may be rich enough now for good planting.

If the tender young sprouts of socialistic thought ever were seen coming up with innocent greenness out of Mr. Cannon's nature our idle rich would choose Belgium's as a more secure and hospitable soil and depart from these parts.

Here is Mr. London's great opportunity.

UNDERMINING THE SALOON.

The saloon is in straits in certain sections of New York where it once held undisputed sway. The enemy of the saloon is the moving picture theater. In Brooklyn alone, according to dispatches, fifty-nine saloons have gone out of business since the first of the year because of competition from the moving picture theaters in the neighborhood. The movies, it is claimed by temperance workers and admitted by saloonkeepers, have broken up the habit of "all night loafing" in barrooms. A new habit imperceptibly fitted into the gap—the habit of going to the movies. Men have learned to treat not the first stranger that comes along, but their wives and children, to treat them not to drink but to the moving pictures. A corresponding falling off in the number of saloons was noted in other sections of the metropolis.

Many will read lessons in these statements. There will be those who will see in it a confirmation of the view that drink is largely foisted upon people by conditions about them, that as soon as there is an improvement in these conditions, as soon as decenter, pleasanter amusement comes their way men forsake the coarser joy of the barroom for the decenter and pleasanter recreations.

The most gratifying thing about this influence of the nickel theater on the saloons is, however, the fact that from itself being a "problem"—which was what the movies were considered by many only a short time ago, especially in their influence upon children—it has evolved into being an antidote if not a solution of what undeniably is a grave social issue.

THE EMDEN.

The Emden's little play with fate is ended, with as much gallantry as it was played. To sail on hostile seas, to work like a maritime weasel with skill and courage, stealth and speed, to cut out prizes, fat hens out of a hen house, from under the nose of the watch dogs, to escape traps and continue depredations, conscious of the waxing wrath of the plundered watchers—this on the sea is to go back to the days of the English raiders against Spanish wealth, back to Hawkins and Drake and Frobisher.

That is why the British, who suffered from the inroads of the German cruiser, demanding its destruction, nevertheless were most admiring of its achievements. This is the kernel of what the British inherit from their sea traditions and the kernel of what they respect in seamen.

In the muck of destruction where masses of men fight so numerously that a census alone can reveal the dead, the individual is a gnat in a whirlwind. The Emden and its men, while they lasted, were conspicuous and tasted that glorification of existence which comes sublimated out of risk. They were without a friendly port, without a means of victualing and coaling, except as they seized ships and took from them what they needed. They could, with the best of luck, endure only so long. Their fate was written. They merely did not know the size of the volume.

A MEASURE OF SAFETY.

The letter printed in THE TRIBUNE the other day telling what the motorman on surface cars has to endure should compel attention. The man operating a dangerous machine in a shop or factory is not generally placed in a position where he can be harassed with questions or otherwise. The motorman operates a delicate and dangerous machine. To steer a car through Chicago's streets, especially during the hours when traffic is at its height, requires undivided energies and attention. Yet the motorman on street cars is in most cases a sort of second conductor. He has to attend to outgoing passengers. In addition to having his attention divided he has his brain befogged by smoke, for the front platform is the smokers' own territory. He is harassed, distracted, annoyed.

The elevated roads have an inclosure for the motorman. He is shut off from the passengers. He is not jostled by them. No one interferes with his work. The need for such an inclosure is greater on surface cars, where the motorman must look out for a thousand obstacles, including children who play in the streets.

Deaths from accidents in the United States are multiplying enormously. We are seeking ways of reducing these deaths, of reducing the number of maimed and injured. An effective measure for reducing the number of those killed and maimed by street cars is to give the motorman the privacy and freedom from annoyance which his exacting job requires.

"SHOP EARLY" ARGUMENTS.

The usual argument for early shopping—a strong one—is that it lessens the strain on the store help by doing away with the frightful rush which generally takes place a week or two before Christmas. There is an added reason this year why people should shop early.

There are many girls in Chicago out of work just now. The European war has affected numerous trade arteries. Girls who held well paying positions with importing concerns, for example, are now having a difficult time making ends meet. As soon as the Christmas trade becomes brisk many of these girls will find work in department stores, for at least some time. The employment for even a few weeks will mean much to them. The earnings may not compare favorably beside what they got in the expert work they were doing, but will be sufficient to keep the wolf from the door.

The best way to help these girls in need of work is to create a demand for their services by starting in on one's Christmas shopping at once.

LESSON OF THE FRENCH LOAN.

[From the Memphis Commercial-Appeal.]

It is generally admitted that banking accommodations have and always will control trade.

The announcement that one banking concern in New York will finance a loan of $10,000,000 for France is accompanied by the further statement that this same bank has increased its banking facilities in Brazil and Argentina.

There is no question that the foundations of a sure growth of American commerce must be laid to a large extent by the establishment of better banking opportunities in South America.

We have much to look for in this section of the world, little in European countries, beyond the supply of foodstuffs, until after the tragedy of war has abated.

To those who have followed the Pan-American reports issued in Washington it can be understood how difficult it is for an American concern to enter the fields of commercial activity in any South American country, especially in Brazil and Argentina, and induce a merchant who is furnished with British and German banking support to buy American goods.

Banking accommodations control trade.

The French loan referred to above, while not one of such great amount, its influence upon American trade is shown. The money will be held in the United States. It is only to finance France's credit to this amount and to be expended for goods of various sorts grown and manufactured in this country.

The money is on deposit, held subject to the check of the French government, but it cannot be withdrawn and expended in other countries.

The lesson of this one loan shows how potential the influence of the bank is in controlling trade. The loan will be reciprocal in its effect. France will obtain what the nation most needs, American merchants and exporters will profit by trades and the bank is indemnified by the government and will receive a legitimate business profit on its loan.

Here the three ends of the triangle will be greatly benefited and should be mutually satisfied.

Banking accommodations assuredly control trade. This fact is nothing new. We can clearly see the close connection between banks and the benefit to the country it is to establish banks. In this particular instance we glimpse the great value of banks as promoters of foreign commerce.

THE best things that have been written about the war were written years ago. Collier's quotes a few lines from Walt Whitman. All that needs to be added is the adjective "military" to qualify the noun "caste":

I see Freedom, completely arm'd, and victorious, and very haughty, with Law on one side and Peace on the other,
A stupendous Trio, all issuing forth against the idea of caste;
—What historic denouements are these we so rapidly approach!

I see frontiers and boundaries of the old aristocracies broken;
I see the landmarks of European kings removed;
I see this day the People beginning their landmarks (all others give way).

LETTER FROM A. (PART I.)

IN an effort to obtain a proper humidity in my home I have been greatly assisted by your valuable articles on the subject. Now, having had considerable experience, I feel that I can contribute something on the subject in return for the benefit I have enjoyed.

It would appear to me that most people who have adopted means for humidification fail to obtain a sufficient quantity of moisture. Water pans may be hung on the radiators, or placed in the hot air furnace, and it is felt that, as a natural consequence, a proper humidity is obtained.

In most instances this is not true, because the moisture supply is not nearly sufficient. It is, therefore, always desirable actually to make a few tests to determine the relative humidity.

The wet and dry bulb thermometer hung on the wall is the usual means for testing. The readings are referred to tables accompanying these instruments. The indication of the wet bulb thermometer may be, and usually is, too high, indicating greater humidity than actually exists. This is because the evaporation from the wet bulb in still air is not sufficient.

In taking a reading I always direct a strong current of air from an electric fan on the thermometer, and this results in proper evaporation, although the same effect may be had from an ordinary palm leaf fan or its equivalent.

While the test with the wet and dry bulb thermometer is the best, it is not the only one. The indication of the ordinary dry bulb thermometer is an excellent guide. In fact, it may be all that is usually necessary to employ. For example, if the temperature is 65 degrees, and if under this condition the persons in the apartment are warm, it necessarily follows that a fair humidity is present. If the temperature is 60 degrees, with the same warm feeling, the humidity is high. If it were not, the persons would be cold. Or if the temperature is 78 degrees with no greater feeling of warmth, it shows a condition of great dryness of air.

Accordingly one may be guided entirely by the temperature reading of the ordinary thermometer plus personal feeling. This is the way I do, and I find it is sufficient for every-day needs.

During the last winter we have kept the temperature of our apartment at from 60 to 65 degrees. We have found 67 degrees to be the maximum upper limit. Seventy degrees proved entirely too warm for personal comfort, while at 60 degrees a condition of balmy and delightful warmth prevailed.

ALBOLENE IS LIQUID VASELINE.

M. writes: "I mentioned albolene to our druggist and he said it is "oil of albolene." [1] Is it? [2] Is the ordinary baking soda a remedy for rheumatism? Sort of a preventive? [3] What would you advise for one beginning to be troubled with sciatica? Soda has been prescribed for me."

REPLY.

1. Albolene is a liquid vaseline.
2. No. Baking soda soon neutralizes the acidity of the stomach juice, and is absorbed into the blood, where it temporarily increases the alkalinity. The system quickly reacts to overcome this alkalinity. It does this by an increased production of acid and by excreting the soda into the urine. The urine is made alkaline thereby. A soda habit can be established. All in all, the frequent use of soda does harm. It leaves the cause of rheumatism untouched.
3. What you call sciatica is merely a pain in your leg. Find out what causes the pain.

HEADACHE REMEDY SAMPLE.

Belden writes: "Is the inclosed headache remedy a safe one for indiscriminate use? What is 'acetphenetidine' U. S. P.? Is there any law to prevent the distribution of samples of dangerous medical preparations?"

REPLY.

1. The remedy is not a safe one for indiscriminate use. Its long continued use causes headache. The dose indicated is dangerous, especially for children.
2. It is ordinarily known as phenacetin.
3. There is a city ordinance against it.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1914: By the Brentwood Co.]

AMONG the great nobles of the British empire there are no peers who by reason of their lineage, of their wealth, or their rôle in history, and of their great territorial possessions occupy a higher place than the Dukes of Buccleuch, who are also Dukes of Queensberry, especially in Scotland, where medieval feudalism has survived by the will of the people to a greater degree than anywhere else in Europe.

It is therefore of interest to note the succession of Lord Dalkeith to the dukedoms of Buccleuch and of Queensberry and to a score of other Scottish and English peerages, as well as to the chieftainship of the great clan of Scott, through the death of his octogenarian father.

There are some who hold that Lord Dalkeith is entitled to the inheritance of even still higher honors—namely: those now held by King George.

He is descended from the first and only Duke of Monmouth, who was the son of Charles II. by his union with Lucy Walters, who, according to a number of historians, was lawfully married to the Merrie Monarch.

The Duke of Monmouth was brought up as a Protestant, and when his uncle, James II., succeeded to the crown and attempted to reëstablish the Roman Catholic religion, Monmouth, who was likewise Duke of Buccleuch, having married Anne Scott, Countess of Buccleuch in her own right, raised the standard of revolt and gathered around him the Protestant malcontents with the object of ousting his uncle from the throne.

His insurrection was crushed and he himself met with his death on the scaffold as guilty of high treason and rebellion, his dukedom of Monmouth being forfeited.

His widow, however, was left in possession of the dukedom of Buccleuch and the earldom of the same ilk, which she had inherited. Being predeceased by her eldest son, she was succeeded by his son as second Duke of Buccleuch. From the second duke the new and seventh duke is descended in a direct male line.

Now, if the Duke of Monmouth was the legitimate instead of the natural son of Charles II., that is to say, if his parents were lawfully married, he undoubtedly possessed rights to the crown prior and superior to those of his uncle, James II., since at the time there were no statutes in existence preventing a marriage of the sovereign or of the princes of the blood with people of nonroyal rank.

Indeed, James II.'s own first wife (mother of Queen Mary and of Queen Anne, who followed him on the throne) was Lady Anne Hyde, whose mother had graduated, it is said, from the washtub.

It is asserted that until sixty or seventy years ago a document was preserved in the archives of the Dukes of Buccleuch affirming, under the hand and seal of Charles II., that he had been lawfully married to Lucy Walters, and that Monmouth was therefore his legitimate son.

The grandfather of the present duke, as a loyal subject of Queen Victoria, is said to have decided that this document ought to be turned over to her, and it is added that this was done, and that the prince consort, in her presence and in that of the duke, consigned the paper to the flames.

Of course, even if the document had remained in existence it would not really have affected the rights of Queen Victoria or of King George to the throne of Great Britain. Their successive possession thereof is based upon the so-called act of settlement, passed by parliament over two centuries ago, which by a narrow majority of one vote, cast by Sir Hugh Owen, vested the throne of Great Britain and Ireland in the Hanoverian descendants of James I., barring therefrom the less remote descendants of his son, King Charles I., now represented by Queen Marie Therese of Bavaria and by her son, the crown prince of that South German kingdom.

At the same time it was a highly loyal thing of the fifth Duke of Buccleuch to do to surrender this document, testifying under the hand and seal of Charles II. that he was descended in a straight line from a legitimate instead of from an illegitimate son of a British monarch and that the bar sinister by which his armorial bearings—namely: those of Charles II.—are "debruised" had been unjustly placed there.

There is no doubt that enemies of the present dynasty might have taken advantage of its existence to create doubts in the minds of ignorant persons as to the rights to the throne of Queen Victoria, of Edward VII., and of King George.

The new Duke of Buccleuch, who is also eighth Duke of Queensberry, was formerly in the royal navy and was serving as a lieutenant on a man of war on the Australian station as Lord John Scott, when summoned home through the death of his elder brother, the Earl of Dalkeith, who, while out deer stalking, fatally wounded himself through the accidental discharge of his gun and passed away before the gillie, a mere boy, who was accompanying him, could obtain assistance.

The duke married some years later Lady Margaret Bridgeman, daughter of Lord and Lady Bradford, and one of the prettiest debutantes of her season, by whom he has seven children, his two boys, respectively 20 and 19 years of age, being now at the front in France.

Burke's "Peerage" and similar works of reference describe the new duke as descended from Sir Richard le Scot, a personage of great distinction in the reign of Alexander III. of Scotland, and of Edward I. of England.

However, according to old Scottish tradition, the Dukes of Buccleuch are descended from an outlaw and poacher who lived much earlier in the reign of Kenneth MacAlpine.

It seems that the outlaw, John, was following the king and the royal huntsmen through a forest. The stag which the king was stalking stood at bay in a narrow chasm, or "cleuch," in border parlance, "and no man durst follow but the outlaw John, who, seizing the buck by the antlers, threw it on its back, and exhibiting a pretty enough feat of strength, threw it at the king's feet."

There was nothing left for the monarch to do but revoke the decree of outlawry against John and to christen him "Buck-cleuch"—Buccleuch.

This John the Outlaw therefore was the founder of the great ducal house of Buccleuch in Scotland.

One of its members, Sir Walter Scott of Buccleuch, figures in "The Lay of the Last Minstrel," as the laird who made the gallant but unsuccessful attempt to rescue the Scottish king, James I., from the control of the Earl of Angus.

It was his great-grandson who was the first Lord Scott of Buccleuch and warden of the West Marches, while his son, Walter, in turn was created first Earl of Buccleuch, with remainder of his heirs, both male and female.

This earl's granddaughter, Lady Anne, the wealthiest woman of her day, inherited all his vast estates and peerages and became the daughter-in-law of Charles II. through her marriage with his favorite son, the Duke of Monmouth, King Charles converting her earldom of Buccleuch into a dukedom on the occasion of the wedding.

CAN'T HAVE "FRESH AIR" CAR.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Until we get enough and sufficiently ventilated cars on the South Side and Northwestern elevated lines, may I suggest a means of relief for the large percentage of people who want fresh air and are compelled to breathe the almost intolerably foul air of the cars during the long express runs? A "fresh air car" would eliminate the objections of those people who insist on posting themselves near the door and then want it shut at the slightest current of air. I have questioned about fifty people, and from observations I feel certain that the "fresh air car" would be well patronized. People at first, through curiosity, would be led to think about pure air and the innovation would be a good advertisement and would exert a good influence. The attention attracted to the subject of "fresh air" might influence people to be more careful of ventilation in their homes also.

NEED NOT TAKE OUT PAPERS.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is it necessary for a woman who was born in the United States and lived here since to take out citizenship papers because of having married a Canadian who had taken out his papers before he died? SUBSCRIBER.

Section 3 of the act of congress, approved March 2, 1907, entitled "An act in reference to the expatriation of citizens and their protection abroad," provides as follows: "That any American woman who marries a foreigner shall take the nationality of her husband. At the termination of the marital relation she may resume her American citizenship, if abroad, by registering as an American citizen within one year with a consul of the United States, or by returning to reside in the United States, or, if residing in the United States at the termination of the marital relation, by continuing to reside therein."

In the case of the woman referred to in the inquiry, it appears that the marital relation was terminated by the death of her husband and, therefore, she is an American citizen.

CALLED "UNWATCHED LIGHTS."

Chicago, Nov. 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please tell me if there are signal lights at the various life saving stations which work automatically at the rising of a fog, the approach of a cloud or at sundown. EDNA KERN, 133 East Ohio street.

You are advised that there are no special lights exhibited from life saving stations. At a great many of these stations, however, storm warning lights are displayed, which are fixed lights and colored to indicate the direction from whence the storm is expected. The lighthouse service however has lights corresponding to the description given and are what is known as "unwatched lights." The flow of acetylene gas to these lights is automatically regulated by a sun valve, which turns on the gas leading to the burner in lamp, which, in turn, is ignited by a pilot light. The sun valve is so delicately constructed that it will open up on a cloudy day and shut off on a bright day. In fact, these valves are adjusted to open at sundown and close at sunrise.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

NECESSITY FOR MILITARY TRAINING.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—With the awful example of Belgium relying on a worthless treaty, should we not begin to train our youth, to teach them that never would this country give another country just cause for an attack, but that, likewise, never would we suffer an attack without resenting it and doing our best to defend our country and our rights?

This training should be begun and carried on in our public schools. The boys in the early grades could be taught how to march and certain drills suitable to their ages could easily be taught. As the boy grew older and progressed in his studies he could likewise be given higher instruction and taught the manual of arms.

In the large cities, especially, it would really be surprising to know the value such training would be to the child, and to the country. Squads, companies, regiments, brigades, etc., could be formed and officered and still a very little of the time of the child taken from his usual work.

During the vacation period grand maneuvers could be held, where the boys could be taught the value of various formations, etc., and by the time the boy had finished the grammar grades he would be possessed of knowledge that would stand him in good stead if his country should need him. By the time he had finished high school he would be equipped to take command as an officer in case of the outbreak of hostilities.

Nor should we stop here. The value of a military training should so impress our young men that every Y. M. C. A. would have a rifle range, as well as facilities for indoor rifle practice. Under present laws this feature could be taken up now, to good advantage to all concerned. R. R. HILLARD, 5454 Ingleside avenue.

JUSTICE TO A NEGRO.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—We, the undersigned officers and members of Lake Michigan lodge No. 5610, Grand United Order of Oddfellows, wish to extend you our heartfelt thanks in appreciation of your fair and impartial article in Sunday's edition on the negro Gatewood's case. Too often innocent negroes are convicted on the sentiment created by prejudiced newspapers.

Again thanking you and hoping you may continue your good work of honest and fair dealing with all,

WILLIAM RANDOLPH, N. G.
WILLIAM PINCKNEY, Secretary.

MILITARY SERVICE AND FARM LABOR.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Mr. Arthur von Gwinner, the leading banker of Germany, contributed an article to the Nord und Sud in 1912 entitled "English and German Economics," in which the following very significant statements appear:

"Germany, as a matter of fact, has not sufficient people for her land, in spite of her increasing population. Over [illegible] agricultural laborers have to be brought yearly from outside our frontiers to till the land and reap the harvest. It is therefore, as much out of the question to talk of Germany's overpopulation as of her necessity for exporting men, as long as the world's markets remain open to her for exporting goods, in order to pay for the indispensable imports of foodstuffs by exports of products of German industrial energy."

Several years ago, when in Leipzig, the writer was told by a landed proprietor whose estate is on the famous battlefield, that he had to import laborers from Russia to do work on his farm. He said that the forced military service of the Germans created habits and tastes which made them disinclined to return to farm work.

Herr von Gwinner is one of the "men around the kaiser," whose statements carry great weight. It was he who obtained the Bagdad railway concession from Sultan Abdul Hamid in the German march to the Persian gulf. He is a member of the Prussian upper house.

OKLAHOMA IS ALL DRY.

UNION MARK ON GOODS.

Gary, Ind., Nov. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In connection with the campaign now being waged to increase the demand for "Made in the United States" brands on articles, I believe it would be of interest to state that the person who in the past has always called for union made goods has lived up to that creed.

All foreign countries have strong labor unions in every craft, but not a single thing with a foreign trade mark ever bears a union label or is otherwise marked to show its quality as compared with our own known products. Those of us who know our United States made goods know they cannot be surpassed by foreign manufacturers.

CARRANZA BOWS TO U. S. DEMANDS OVER VERA CRUZ

Mexican Chieftain Accepts Conditions for Evacuation of Seaport.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Nov. 10.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza has acceded to all the demands of the United States government in connection with the evacuation of Vera Cruz by the American forces, according to private advices received here.

Carranza Deposes Army Leaders.

Mexico City, Nov. 10.—Generals commanding 50,000 men in this vicinity were relieved of their commands today by Gen. Carranza because they refused to nullify their action in signing an agreement to abide by the decisions of the Aguas Calientes convention. Among these soldiers are Gen. Benavides, commanding 10,000 men, Gen. Antonio Villareal, Gen. Juvenci Robles, and many others.

It is reported here that Gen. Villa's advance guard, consisting of 15,000 men of all arms, is marching south of Encarnacion de Diaz on its way to the capital, which it is said to have been ordered to take in the name of Eulalio Gutierrez. Between these troops and their goal is Gen. Pablo Gonzales, who is loyal to Carranza, with 40,000 troops disposed about Queretaro City. It is expected a clash of arms will occur there.

Attacks on Capital Continue.

In the capital there are 27,000 men, according to official figures, under Gens. Blanco and Alvarado. Gen. Blanco remains in Aguas Callientes.

Fighting of a severe character continues in the suburbs of the capital. Persistent attacks are being made on Xochimilco and San Angel by the followers of Emiliano Zapata. During the fighting last Sunday it is reported there were 300 casualties.

Shells rushed to the front from the citadel here are said to have been loaded with sawdust instead of powder. It is reported, however, that the Carranza forces have been victorious everywhere.

ULTIMATUM EXPIRES.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The ultimatum of the Mexican convention at Aguas Calientes ordering Gen. Carranza to deliver the executive power in Mexico to Eulalio Gutierrez expired at 6 o'clock tonight.

Neither the state department nor the Mexican embassy here in charge of Carranza agents had any definite advices as to what had occurred. Early in the day Rafael Zubaran Capmany, Washington representative of Carranza, received a telegram from Luis Cabrera, who was at Cordoba with Gen. Carranza yesterday, stating that the latter had decided to recognize the acts of the convention with certain reservations.

Carranza, according to Mr. Cabrera, told the commission which came to notify him of the selection of Gutierrez by the convention, that he was willing to yield the executive power to a provisional president who would exercise no theoretical but actual control of the division of the north, now commanded by Gen. Villa.

In some quarters this was interpreted as a wavering in Carranza's hitherto firm refusal to accept the acts of the convention unless Villa and Zapata were deprived of their military commands and relegated to private life. In other words, it was construed merely as another way of expressing Carranza's determination to eliminate Villa if he himself retired.

MISS PHYLLIS FAY and Miss Iris Spohn, two seniors at the University of Chicago, are in charge of a delegation of co-eds to secure contributions of money, clothes, and other Red Cross necessities from the students at the university. The girls in the movement have placed coin boxes in the corridors of the university buildings. Yesterday forty-five of the co-eds got together at the home of Miss Marian Brelsford, 4454 Drexel boulevard, and spent the afternoon in a sewing bee for clothes for the Belgian children. The volunteer seamstresses used up 150 yards of goods. Miss Margaret Fenton, Miss Grace Hotchkiss, and Miss Elsie Johns were instrumental in organizing the relief movement. Dean Elizabeth Wallace is an enthusiastic member of the students' Red Cross society. She attended the sewing party.

KNIGHT RESIGNS AS CHIEF OF PROGRESSIVE CLUB.

Says He Will Remain a Moose, but Cannot Work in Harmony with Ickes Faction.

Factional warfare in the Cook county Progressive party broke out anew yesterday when Thomas D. Knight resigned as president of the Progressive club.

Mr. Knight was defeated in the battle Monday for chairman of the county committee by the Ickes faction, who succeeded in electing Ald. M. J. Dempsey of the Twenty-eighth ward.

COMMISSION MEN ESCAPE LICENSE

Judiciary Committee Rejects Bonding Plan by 10 to 3 Vote.

HEAR DEALERS DEBATE

The proposed ordinance providing for the bonding and licensing of commission men was shelved yesterday. The judiciary committee of the city council voted, 10 to 3, to place the measure on file.

The action was taken after the aldermen had argued the subject with South Water street men for almost two hours. The advocates of the ordinance, the members of the municipal markets commission, were not on hand to argue its merits, and that burden fell on a minority of the committee. They debated with John B. Mitchell, president of the butter and egg board, and others with some bitterness at times, but just as the detailed consideration of the proposed law was begun the majority kicked over the traces.

Why Ordinance Is Opposed.

As spokesman for the opposition, Mr. Mitchell said he and his associates opposed the ordinance in its entirety.

"All of us, every dealer, the business as a whole," he said, "are opposed to all of it. We are opposed, first of all, because it is a reflection on an honest class of men. There is no reason for questioning our honesty.

"This ordinance would place our business at the mercy of one man, the health commissioner, but I say this without any reflection on the present commissioner of health.

"The bonding and licensing provision would give every Tom, Dick, and Harry the right to go out and solicit business and say he was a licensed and bonded broker, a broker licensed and bonded by the city of Chicago. It would place dishonest men on the same plane with men who have spent their lives establishing reputations for honesty and fair dealing. There is no more reason for licensing us than the State street stores."

Similar Laws Elsewhere.

Ald. John Kjellander pressed Mr. Mitchell on the results of similar legislation in New York, Oregon, Michigan, Minnesota, and other states, but Mr. Mitchell contended none of these was to be compared with Chicago as a produce market.

Ald. Dempsey asked some of the speakers about a rumor that one man had grown rich on the sale of condemned foodstuffs. An explanation was given that the word "condemned" sometimes had been applied erroneously to goods rejected by the buyer after inspection and Mr. Geweke explained that many unreliable men were engaged in buying such produce after it had been turned down by South Water street.

Doyle, Nance, and Kjellander voted against the motion and it was supported by Coughlin, Nash, McNichols, Ahern, Szymkowski, Powers, Bauler, Dempsey, Latchford, and Hazen.

Dempsey Backs Saloons.

There was no letter of explanation accompanying Mayor Harrison's ordinance to prohibit the issuance of return checks at public dances and when some one suggested it was intended to prevent visits to adjoining barrooms, Ald. Dempsey protested.

"You are going to nail the lid on so a man won't be free to do anything," he said. "If I want a glass of beer while I am at a dance, it is my right and privilege to go out and get it. This is a deliberate attempt to reduce the liberties of saloonkeepers. If these things continue to come in, I am going to introduce an ordinance lowering saloon licenses from $1,000 to $500 a year."

He sought to have the ordinance filed, but action was postponed so that an explanation of the mayor's reason for presenting it might be had.

On motion of Ald. Kjellander, who said a number of women's organizations had asked him to act, a subcommittee was appointed to consider the ordinance to permit café and restaurant dancing by the patrons of such places. He, Rea, McNichols, Nash, and Doyle were appointed as the subcommittee.

After a communication from Chief Gleason on the subject had been read the committee directed the corporation counsel to draft an ordinance setting aside specified portions of moving picture theaters for unescorted women and other portions for men unaccompanied by women. This plan is in operation in Pittsburgh.

The draft of a bill authorizing municipalities to conduct ice plants was approved for presentation to the legislature. Action on a number of important ordinances was deferred one week.

Little Mary Vlastnik displayed such a marked preference for her mother in Judge Walker's court yesterday that her father's nine points of the law counted not even as a single one.

GOVERNORS TAKE UP FARM NEEDS

Incorporating Land Mortgage Banks Under U. S. and State Laws Urged.

GUESTS OF M'GOVERN.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 10.—Incorporation of land mortgage banks under both state and federal laws was favored today by the committee on rural credits of the governors' conference. The committee's report, presented by Gov. Emmet O'Neal of Alabama, recommended uniform legislation regarding registration of land titles foreclosures and taxation of mortgages, around which much confusion now centers. The Torrens land title system was indorsed.

Uniformity along these lines, said Gov. O'Neal, would give the farmer access to funds of savings banks, trust funds under the control of courts, and reserves of large insurance companies. In this outcome he saw the one great opportunity for farmers of America to obtain adequate funds for agricultural development.

Urges New Federal Act.

He recommended the conference appoint a subcommittee to prepare a new federal bill to meet the conditions and defects as he outlined them.

The state should extend adequate credit to settlers, declared Gov. A. O. Eberhart of Minnesota, just as in his commonwealth public funds are loaned to municipalities and schools.

He saw grave difficulties in the way of a uniform system of rural credits, owing to the varying rates of interest in different sections of a state.

Gov. C. L. Blease of South Carolina and Gov. David Walsh of Massachusetts were among the arrivals tonight.

The governors and their wives were given a reception at the capitol tonight by Gov. McGovern and the citizens of Madison.

Cites Duties of a Governor.

In the course of his welcoming address at the forenoon session Gov. McGovern said:

"Whether fitted for leadership or not, whether he likes it or not, the governor of each state must for the time being be the political leader of his people. In all matters affecting the state they look to him. They cannot very well do otherwise, for they have neither the time nor the opportunity to find out what others are doing. The short and simple course is to deal with the others through him.

"Thus the governor may be held responsible for many matters with which he personally had nothing to do. He may even be criticised for things he himself opposed. He may receive credit for achievements he neither planned nor executed. It matters not, he is the visible head of the state and the people are accustomed to look no further. Clothed as he is with vast official and political power, he is expected to get results."

Corporation Regulation Up.

Problems connected with the regulation of corporations so that while complying with the laws of one state they are not discouraged by different laws from doing business in another state were brought up for solution before the conference.

Three important discussions are to be opened at the conference. Gov. Charles R. Miller of Delaware will discuss uniformity of conditions imposed by the states upon outside corporations, Gov. Edward F. Dunne of Illinois will discuss uniformity of laws for safety and sanitation, and Gov. William Spry of Utah will consider state control of natural resources.

STORY OF 'MIKE,' A TYPICAL CASE OF CHICAGO NEED

In a Strange Land, Jobless, Savings Gone, and Family in Want, He Struggles On.

Life in America has proven curiously eventful for Mike, merely a laborer, who came to Chicago as the industrial capital of this "land of opportunity."

Mike came equipped principally with strong muscles, a desire for accomplishment, and a wife. In South Chicago he found a job with a big industrial plant and proceeded to assume that he was on the way to independence and fortune.

Two babies came and the cost of keeping up the home increased. But despite that they managed to put a few dollars in the bank.

Then it happened one day a few months ago there was a bulletin posted in the big mill and Mike, along with several hundred of his fellow workmen, found himself in the line at the paymaster's window for the last time on that job.

Then Grocer Stops Credit.

For days he tramped the streets looking for work. The days grew into weeks and the savings were all spent for the wife and two babies at home. Then finally the grocer said there couldn't be any more credit—"until work opens up at the mills again."

Things were going badly enough at Mike's house when the police came one day and took him off to the county jail with no explanations. In the jail Mike found he was accused of something he had never heard about.

"Something like old country after all," he told an interviewer there.

The plight of the wondering, grief-stricken wife at home was brought to the attention of the United Charities South Chicago office. Nursery care for the two babies was provided and Mrs. Mike was given employment at which she also received instruction, and thus was enabled to earn her own living.

At last the United Charities, in cooperation with a number of other agencies, succeeded in establishing the innocence of the prisoner at the county jail.

Spends Six Weeks in a Cell.

Mike was released—after he had spent six weeks in a cell with a murderer.

Now Mike is home again—less than 30 years old, well, strong, and willing, but with no job.

The United Charities says his family must be moved out of the wretched quarters, given a month's rent, and a temporary supply of food. Most important of all, Mike just has to have a job.

"Unless we are enabled to do something for this family right away, Mike's experiences and his present extremity may force him into the desperation of some of his jail associates, among whom he was wrongfully held," a charity worker observed.

"If some Good Fellow can give $20, or just a part of that much, it will go far toward saving Mike's family and keeping him a fit citizen. His record so far is clean."

There is a chance for a Good Fellow.

UNITED CHARITIES SEEKS FUNDS TO INCREASE STAFF.

More Workers Needed to Meet the Growing Number of Appeals for Aid—Present Force Tired Out.

In view of reports made at the annual meeting of the United Charities Monday afternoon, indicating that the organization is overwhelmed with work even now, before the cold season has begun, an appeal is made for funds to employ extra field workers.

At least one person for each of the nine districts is absolutely necessary, according to Charles R. Henderson, president of the organization, to make it possible to visit cases of need within twenty-four hours.

According to Mrs. Katharine M. Briggs, general district secretary, in charge of field service, the present force approaches the heaviest winter in its experience already tired. The employés of the United Charities have been working short handed since last March, and the increase of applications for aid have made it necessary for them to work early and late to prevent suffering.

Contributions for the enlargement of the field service may be sent directly to David R. Forgan, treasurer United Charities, 168 North Michigan avenue.

At the reception and tea of the Women's auxiliary to the Hungarian Charity society of Chicago, held in the Hotel La Salle yesterday, plans were considered for the annual charity ball to be held by the society at the Hotel La Salle on Dec. 5.

Bite of Rat Fatal?

Abraham Carlson of 661 Madison street, Herbert Cameron of 2300 North Cicero avenue, and Richard Geary of 3305 Chicago avenue, who have been in custody in connection with the death of Mrs. Anna Pullen, were exonerated yesterday at the coroner's inquest. Mrs. Pullen of 445 North Western avenue died in the county hospital on Nov. 4 of lockjaw, but the jury was unable to determine whether the wound in her arm was due to a stab wound or the bite of a rat.

WINTER TOURS—
THE BEST OF EVERYTHING.

While the foreign travel resorts are closed to Americans this winter there will never be a better opportunity to visit Golden California. For the convenience of the winter tourist, First Class, All Expense Tours, have been arranged that will leave Chicago under Personal Escort in January and February, 1915. The length of time for these tours differs, and although a detailed carefully planned schedule is outlined for each party, passengers have the freedom to spend the time according to their wishes at various points in California through the "Optional Arrangement" plan of the tours. Only the best hotels are patronized and nothing has been left undone to provide for the comfort and enjoyment of members. Parties go directly to Southern California by the shortest route, the first stop being Riverside. If you are contemplating a trip to California this winter, it will pay you to investigate these First Class Parties and to learn of the advantages and benefits to be secured with no added cost outside of regular fares and rates. The tours are being operated under the auspices of the Department of Tours of the Chicago, Union Pacific & North Western Line, and a Complete Winter Tours Book will be sent to any address on request. The W. family of husband, wife, and five little girls, living out on the northwest side, will have to have $36.68 a month, or the equivalent of that sum in food, clothes, and rent, if it is to survive. A Good Fellow or group of Good Fellows can save this home.

About your neigbors

Around the corner and a few blocks down the street from anywhere you happen to live there are some folks who need your help. Some of the cases put before you here may be the stories of neighbors of yours. If you want to do anything for them, send your name and address to the Good Fellow Department, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

B.—Woman an Austro-Hungarian. Man insane. Three children, ranging in age from 13 to 5. Woman earns $3.50 a week washing. Keeps a good home. The United Charities must furnish $2.50 a week for food and $4 a month for rent. Mrs. B. in the first stage of tuberculosis, and therefore cannot work regularly. The children are anemic and need nourishing food. [Stockyards district.]

M.—Man went west to live with relatives about two years ago, as he is paralyzed and unable to work. Woman has managed to keep her little family together by doing day work and placing her two children, aged 5 and 3, in a day nursery, where they are having extra care free of charge. The family is living in wretched basement rooms which are dark and damp and for which the mother does a little cleaning in lieu of rent. A little regular help, $7 or $8 a month, would enable her to rent two rooms in a more suitable place where the health of the whole family would be benefited. [Lower north district.]

T.—Man has tuberculosis. Woman is an epileptic. Five children under 10. Man unable to work. Family is facing eviction. Food, rent, and clothing are needed. About $20 a month would care for them. [Lower north district.]

R.—Several years ago man lost his right hand and a finger from his left hand. Before the accident he had always been self-supporting, but now wherever he applies for a job the same answer is given: "We cannot employ a cripple." He has just put in civil service application for a watchman's job, but has been unsuccessful in securing it. He and his wife and two babies are being threatened with eviction. Man is 45 years old, strong, and willing to work. Help is needed for rent, clothing, and food until a job can be secured for the man. [Lower north district.]

Cash Comes Fast, but Needs Faster.

YESTERDAY'S cash contributions to the Good Fellow cause through THE TRIBUNE office put the total over the $3,000 mark. Besides a veritable regiment of Good Fellows is giving relief in person—but still the demand upon the charities increases. There's more work for Good Fellow today than ever before.

A calendar of contested divorces, annulment of marriage, and separate maintenance cases assigned to Judge Charles M. Walker in the Circuit court has just been issued. "SAFETY FIRST" REDUCES ACCIDENTAL DEATHS.

Coroner Hoffman's Report Shows Rail Fatalities Are 108 Less than 1913.

The number of lives lost in railway accidents in Cook county during the year is 108 less than in 1913, according to a report issued by Coroner Peter M. Hoffman yesterday. The crusade of his office and the safety commission for "safety first" among railway employés is responsible, Coroner Hoffman asserts, for this big reduction.

According to the coroner's figures, the number of fatal accidents on Chicago street cars has been cut from 209 in 1913 to 141 in 1914. This is a decrease of almost one-third, in the face of a big increase in the number of passengers.

The tables show that out of 253 persons accidentally killed on railways and railway highways during the eleven months from Dec. 1, 1913, but twelve were passengers and only nineteen employés

BRANDS SIEGEL GUILEFUL THIEF

State Stakes All on Larceny Charge Against Head of Store Chain.

TRIAL ON AT GENESEO.

Geneseo, N. Y., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Henry Siegel, the many times indicted head of a chain of department stores, who is on trial here for alleged grand larceny, was pictured as the "gold brick of high finance" by Assistant District Attorney Arthur Train in outlining the prosecution's case to the jury late this afternoon.

Siegel was stigmatized as a thief who had robbed not by force, but by guile. His alleged crime was denounced as "dangerous and insidious."

"You may have a chance with a highwayman who takes your watch," declared the assistant district attorney, "because you may be able to hit him on the head.

Blames Siegel's Smile.

"You may have a chance with a burglar who breaks into your home and steals the money out of your pants pocket, because you may seize a revolver and blow his head off, but when a man comes to you with a smile on his face and a silk hat on his head and says I am worth a million when he has lost a million you have no chance against him."

That the prosecution is staking its all, so far as Siegel is concerned, on this trial was announced in the opening address. Mr. Train asserted that if Siegel is acquitted "he will be acquitted for good."

Pick Out Chief Charge.

This remark was interpreted as meaning that the state has picked out what was considered the strongest charge among the fourteen pending against the merchant and private banker, and if it should fail the remaining indictments will not be pushed to trial.

In his address to the jury, which was completed at 3:30 p. m., Mr. Train said:

"We shall endeavor to prove everything stated in the indictment, which covers 125 printed pages, and possibly we shall prove more. You are to become as familiar with the dry goods business as you are with your own trade.

"The indictment can be boiled down to its essence, and in plain English that indictment charges Siegel with being a thief. That is what grand larceny is."

CHARGES HUSBAND THREW THE PIANO STOOL AT HER.

Mrs. Jens M. Pederson Also Names Another Woman in Separate Maintenance Suit.

Jens M. Pederson, proprietor of the Rogers Park garage at 7070 Glenwood avenue, is sued for separate maintenance in a bill filed in the Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Martha Pederson. The wife charges that Pederson threw a piano stool at her.

Sadie Samollow is named in the suit. The wife declares that Pederson has an income of $300 a month. She asks custody of their two children, Marguerite, 10 years old, and Edith, 6 years old.

Henry J. Seilheimer, an engraver of 3786 Maple square, is defendant in separate maintenance proceedings brought by his wife, Frances, in the Superior court. Among other charges the bill alleges that on Sept. 15 Seilheimer threw a plate at his wife. The wife also asks for the custody of their five children.

STOP FIGHTING IN G.O.P. RANKS, SHERMAN PLEA

Senator Confers with Deneen and Brundage and Urges All to Get Together.

Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman came up to Chicago yesterday to urge a settlement of the factional differences among the Republicans as the first step in the general get together movement for the campaign of 1916.

In conferences with several of the party leaders Mr. Sherman expressed the opinion that not only Illinois but Chicago would land in the Republican column with an old time majority, if the leaders would get their feet under the one table and stop their fighting.

He had a long talk with former Corporation Counsel E. J. Brundage and later discussed the situation with former Gov. Deneen. While the mayoralty of Chicago was not discussed, Senator Sherman expressed the belief that a Republican mayor could be elected next spring if the Republicans would get together.

Stop Fighting in Ranks, His Plea.

"If we will stop our fighting among ourselves," he said last night, "we can put Illinois in the Republican column by the normal majority, and the Republicans of Chicago can win their mayoralty election next time.

"It seems to me that these party differences can be adjusted in such a manner that most of the rank and file of the Progressive party voters of Chicago can be brought back into the fold."

Senator Sherman said he had no candidates in view for any office, and that he did not discuss candidates in his talk with Mr. Brundage, who has been named as a possible candidate for mayor in the Republican primaries.

Brundage Ready to Bury Hatchet.

Mr. Brundage led the insurgent Republican fight in Chicago in the recent primaries and by so doing widened the breach between him and former Gov. Deneen. It is the understanding now, however, that Mr. Brundage is ready to bury the hatchet if Mr. Deneen will.

"I should like to see the Republican get together," said Mr. Brundage after his conference with Senator Sherman. "I have no sore spots. All I am interested in is the success of the party and I would like to see the Republicans get together for the fight next spring. I am confident a Republican can be elected mayor if we can have a united party."

Wants Differences Settled.

Mr. Deneen is reported to have told Senator Sherman that he would like to see the factional differences adjusted and would be glad to aid in that consummation.

Senator Sherman said he did not have any candidate for governor in 1916 and would not have.

Senator Sherman will try to get away from his friends for a few days of rest. He plans to go to southern Illinois and "grub around on the farm" for a week. He left last night for Springfield.

Roger C. Sullivan yesterday lost 174 of the 364 votes he had gained over Senator Sherman in the first three days of the canvass of the Cook county vote by the election board.

Part of the loot recovered has been identified by five persons whose homes were broken into in the last seven weeks. Those who identified the property yesterday and the values are:

DEMOCRATS ENTER RACE FOR ILLINOIS SPEAKERSHIP

J. J. O'Rourke and John P. Devine Seek Honor in Legislature—Shurtleff's Friends Push Claims.

Jeremiah J. O'Rourke of Harvey and John P. Devine of Dixon are the first two Democratic candidates in the field for speaker of the house of representatives in the next legislature. Representative O'Rourke's candidacy was announced yesterday. Representative Devine told his friends he was going after the speakership as the downstate candidate. Democrats are planning on a caucus to name their candidate. Unless the Republican majority can be broken up the caucus nominee will simply be minority floor leader. Reports are that Lee O'Neil Browne of Ottawa will be a candidate again.

Republican members of the house who were reëlected have begun lining up new Republican members for Edward D. Shurtleff for speaker. Although Shurtleff saved the woman suffrage bill in the last session and is now counted among the "uplift" the wet Republicans are reported to be willing to support him with the understanding that they be given a roll call on all wet and dry bills that may be considered.

Kersten's Daughter Asks Divorce.

Mrs. Lillian Runde, daughter of Judge George Kersten, has filed suit for divorce in the Superior court against Otto Runde, who was arrested recently for passing bad checks. Runde, who is facing ten separate charges of operating a confidence game, is accused in his wife's bill of having at various times thrown dishes at her. On Oct. 1, 1913, it is charged he routed Mrs. Runde and her 3 year old son from bed at midnight and drove them into the street. The Rundes were married June 22, 1910. Mrs. Runde says her husband deserted her in June, 1914.

SCHMIDT WILL RUN FOR MAYOR

Defeated Republican Candidate for Sheriff Eager to Make the Race.

CONSIDER JUDGE OLSON.

George K. Schmidt, defeated candidate for sheriff in the recent election, was announced yesterday as candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor in the spring.

Adolph Burmeister of the Twenty-seventh ward, one of Schmidt's campaign managers, made the announcement.

"Mr. Schmidt has gone for a few days' rest, but will be ready for the mayoralty campaign on his return," said Mr. Burmeister. "We are going out to organize our forces at once and with the approval of Mr. Schmidt."

Brundage Wants Party United.

Former Corporation Counsel E. J. Brundage stated he would not consider the mayoralty proposition at all unless he could be assured of the support of the whole party.

"Some of my friends have been talking this mayoralty business without consulting me," said Mr. Brundage. "I am not a candidate. Whoever the candidate is must have the support of a united party if he is to win, and until that is assured and our factional differences are adjusted I think it is a little too early to be picking any one."

Judge Olson Considered.

Organization Republicans affiliated with the Deneen faction are reported to be lining up for Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court for mayor.

It is their notion that some "big" man should be agreed on and be given the support of all factions in the primary if they hope to win the election. Justice Olson, it is understood, measures up to the "big" specifications, but it is not certain as yet that he could be induced to quit the bench for the mayoralty race.

For William Hale Thompson.

More than 700 persons attended a meeting of the William Hale Thompson For Mayor club held last night in the Hotel Sherman. It was announced that 110,000 persons had pledged their support for Mr. Thompson.

Speeches were made by Mr. Thompson and eight men who have worked in having the pledges signed. Resolutions asking that a massmeeting be held at the Coliseum or some other big hall on Dec. 19 were adopted. It was also suggested that a banquet be held at which the candidacy of Mr. Thompson should be formally begun, between Nov. 24 and 28.

Mayor Harrison, before departing for the east during the day, stated that he would not be interviewed on the mayoralty at this time. He told the newspaper men to put no credence whatever in any purported statement that might be attributed to him while away. Any such statement, he said, bearing on the mayoralty, could be put down as a fake.

TWO interesting weddings have been announced for Thanksgiving week and the invitations issued this week. Invitations were received yesterday for the wedding of Miss Martha Marie Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Harris of 4530 Ellis avenue, to Norman Langley MacLeod on Nov. 21. The service will be read at 8:30 at St. James' Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. and Mrs. Harris recently closed their summer home at Williams Bay, where they spent the summer.

Another wedding is that of Miss Marcia Brakenridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crosbie Brakenridge, to Frederick Hampdon Winston, son of Mrs. Frederick Seymour Winston of North State street, at Richmond Hill, Long Island, on Wednesday, Nov. 25, at 4:30. Mr. Winston has taken an apartment on East Superior street for his bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blair MacDonald of New York City, formerly of Chicago, will arrive in the city today to be the guest of James Deering on Lake Shore drive, until Monday.

Among the Chicagoans to close their country homes this week and move into town are Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson and Mr. and Mrs. George Higginson Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott Hunt, Miss Marie Rozet, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elting, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mascarene Hubbart, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schwartz are giving informal dinner parties this evening at the Midway Gardens.

Mrs. Thomas Edwards of Peoria, Ill., announces the engagement of her niece, Grace M. Josylin, to Fredericks M. Dering, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Dering of 450 West Sixtieth place, Chicago. The wedding will take place in December.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Zeisler of 3246 Lake Park avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Anita Lucille, to Edwin B. Mayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel A. Mayer. Miss Zeisler made her debut last winter at a large reception given by her aunt, Mrs. Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler.

The marriage of Miss Lillian Lanquist, daughter of Andrew Lanquist, to Ralph Gilmore Shirey of Cleveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Shirey of Los Angeles, Cal., was solemnized last evening at the family residence, 4636 Beacon street. Owing to the recent death of the bride's mother only immediate relatives witnessed the service. Mrs. John Louis Forch Jr. was her sister's only attendant and Dr. A. Merla Shirey of Cleveland served his brother as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Shirey will be at home after Jan. 1 at 4636 Beacon street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Rourke of 5046 West End avenue, Austin, announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Margaret Elizabeth, to Burrell C. Owing to the great European need, an exception will be made and the net proceeds of the Chicago performances will be given to the Chicago Red Cross war relief fund. The Triangle club, as usual, gives a musical comedy, written and produced by the undergraduates. A matinée and evening performance will be given on Dec. 29. The committee in charge will again be Harold C. Smith, Alfred T. Carton, and Donald Scott.

Bright Sayings of Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The stories may be sent in either by children or their parents. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

A friend of mine had been receiving the attentions of a young man named Thomas. One morning, being much fatigued, she instructed her 6 year old sister to ask the maid to tell any callers that she was engaged. To the little miss this could mean but one thing. Running to the staircase, she called, "O, Minnie! Please tell all the visitors that Helen's going to marry Tom."

MISS FRANCES BALMES,
Box 73, Shermerville, Ill.

One day Wilda, aged 3, was standing near her mother watching her sew. She kept asking her questions about what she was doing and finally her mother said: "O, Wilda, you ask so many questions." The next day when Wilda came home from her grandmother's her mother began asking her about grandma, and Wilda said: "O, mamma, you just ast me so many twestions I don't feel like answing them today."

RENAR OGOW,
Box 157, Grove City, Ill.

A little boy was out playing in a field where a young man was plowing. He found a nest of little rabbits and jumped up and down and called to the man: "I have found a whole nest full of little mules."

MRS. NETT STRAIN,
Crawfordsville, Ia.

The other day my little brother and his playmate, who is about the same age, came into our house dripping wet. Mother exclaimed:

"Why, my dear children, where have you been and what made you so wet?"

Glen replied: "It's been waining."

"Been waining?" echoed mother.

"Yes, it's been waining out of the hose."

Throat Troubles Are Dangerous

because the swollen glands and inflamed membranes often affect other tissues and impair their healthy action.

Scott's Emulsion stands alone as Nature's greatest corrector of throat troubles; its pure cod liver oil is speedily converted into germ-resisting tissue; its tested glycerine is curative and healing, while the combined emulsion not only relieves the throat troubles but also upbuilds the forces to resist tubercular germs and avert the weakening influence which always follows throat troubles.

For forty years physicians have prescribed Scott's Emulsion for these important reasons: it relieves the trouble; strengthens the lungs; prevents a relapse; and is free from alcohol or stupefying drugs.

Refuse alcoholic substitutes—insist on the purity of Scott's. At any drug store.

Monkey Fur Liked as Trimming.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—Monkey fur is being used here more for trimming than for anything else. It is seldom that one sees it in a fur piece of any pretention. I remember—how long ago was it?—when fashion recommended capes of monkey fur and tiny muffs to match. Dolmans were fashioned of the fur and they were rather attractive if the illustrations of long ago styles may be taken for fact. But somehow one can't imagine monkey fur made up into coats. It is an essentially unbecoming fur, I think. The furriers, of course, are making small sets of it when their customers desire, but they aren't recommending its use, except, as I said before, for trimming. There it seems to have found a warm welcome.

I saw a really attractive frock the other day trimmed with monkey fur in an essentially novel manner. A full tunic formed the overskirt. A band of fur fell from the deep girdle with a somewhat savage effect. The effects became truly barbarian when one saw the underskirt of the fur. Aside from these touches of fur the frock was metropolitan looking enough. A surplice waist of the same material which formed the overskirt—a soft pearl white crêpe meteor—ended in a wrapped girdle which tied in a huge bow at the back. The sleeves were adroitly slashed from the shoulder half way to the elbow. A large collar flared at the back and fell across the shoulders in plaits.

I advise the woman who would spend her dollars to the utmost of their efficiency to think twice before she invests in monkey as a fur for general wear. It is a novelty. It is not generally becoming. It is inexpensive, however, and that characteristic may lure women into buying it.

Pea Beans and Celery.

THE little pea bean is, perhaps, the best flavored bean we have. It is the best for stewed beans or a puree [the latter may be made very delicious], and this year, at least, it seems to be the least expensive bean in the market. Probably it is on account of the war that the staple legumes seem to be several cents higher a pound than usual, although green vegetables have been cheaper than for a long time, as have some other things. Fish steaks are certainly 2 cents cheaper this year than at the same date last year. Let us count our mercies.

The pea bean is good baked, but it is, perhaps, better stewed.

Stewed Pea Beans.—Put to soak over night after picking over carefully and washing in several waters. They will double in size with soaking, and no more water than double should be used, as none should be drained off the next morning. Put to cook in four or five times the cold water that there were dried beans, using what is left of the water in which they were soaked and adding what is needed besides. This will be sufficient if they are cooked in a covered kettle and over a very gentle fire, otherwise much more will be required. Add to each cup of beans one onion and one carrot sliced, and some cut up celery if you have it, or other seasoning vegetable. Bring slowly to a boil, cover and cook gently for three hours. Stir into each individual portion when served enough butter to season well.

Beans cooked thus are quite as good cold as hot, if people like cold beans, but remember that no acid of any sort should be eaten with them. This imposes a heavy digestive task on any one, and makes the beans seem indigestible to those of weak digestion.

A finer thing than the stewed beans is the puree, which may be made either when they are hot or when they are cold, by putting them through a sieve, thinning with a vegetable stock or even with a meat stock, and then heating them up to serve as a soup. Without thinning these make a very soft and pleasant vegetable.

A stock to thin and flavor them with may be made as follows:

Celery Stock.—Clean and cut up the coarser outer stalk of the celery and put to cook in two or three times the measure of water, and at least one onion to each cup of the cut up celery. Cook about an hour. The water will all cook away if the kettle is not covered and the fire is not very low, if only the above amount of water is used. If it is nearly cooked away there will be more virtue in the cooked celery, though a very little of the water so cooked away will be good to season the beans, with some butter.

The slight flavor there is on cooked celery, a good deal of it having cooked out into the water, is too frequently masqued in white sauce, but instead of treating it in this way, it may be served when cold by sprinkling over it a few drops of vinegar and then adding mayonaise dressing. This makes a homely salad, but an appetizing one, if the celery is thoroughly soft. It is good with the vinegar omitted, but this adds piquancy.

Doris Blake Says

"The reason men don't kiss men is because they have something better to kiss."

Incompatibility.

"MY husband and I are incompatible," writes Mrs. G. "He has irritating habits that I simply cannot get used to and never will. They are little things—but the kind of little things that magnify horribly with repetition. I never think of the long years ahead of me without a shudder."

The complaint in the above extract is one repeated so often in letters to me that I am inclined to think incompatibility must head the list of contributions to married unhappiness.

When you think of it, doesn't it seem the oddest thing in the world that it is so hard for us to get used to the fact that certain things are going to persist in continually happening, whether we like them or not?

We don't get over our own peculiar or insistent habits. Nor do we make any effort to remove them. Nevertheless, we do expect our life partners to make the effort, and on our own account. If the "other half" doesn't reform, it is a matter of continual surprise.

I suppose there is nothing more irritating in a commonplace way than for one person to be usually cold while the other is warm. The husband, perhaps, will say: "Dear, it's so close in here. I simply have to have the window open." "O, very well," the wife responds. "Of course, if you want to give me pneumonia." The rest you know by heart.

People may love each other. But they may sleep, eat, live, and move and have their being differently. Unless they can agree to live harmoniously, love goes. There is but one remedy for incompatability. Somebody has to learn to give up, or give up minding that there is a difference.

I know any number of married couples who differ on almost every known subject, and yet are not the least bit incompatible, simply because they agree to differ. Neither tries to mold the other after his or her own standard. They simply learn to give up minding that there is a difference.

If you can't stop the trivial differences, there is no occasion to despair of happiness. The remedy lies in your making up your mind that they are too unimportant to wreck your marital happiness.

It is surprising how many things are not of importance if you make up your mind that they are not.

Studying Algebra at Home.

"I SHOULD be thankful to you if you could tell me how I could visit some moving picture studio. I have heard that one cannot visit them without a permit. I should like to ask the Corner if members have old algebra text books or any books with crocheting designs in them, which they are willing to give away. I was unable to finish my high school course because of reduced circumstances. I should like to take up algebra at home. I do love crocheting. I usually do it in the evenings. S. P."

Your first question is passed on to visitors who are conversant with the rules of the aforesaid studios. The request for text books and patterns is referred to readers of kindred tastes and ambitions. I look to our junior members to take up the matter. It is hard that the student should be crippled in securing the right equipment for the work of life.

Has Clothing to Give.

"Could you give me the address and name of some one in this city who would like some clothes? I wrote to you once before and received a name. I called upon her two or three times and took her things for which she was grateful. In going to see her the last time I found she had left the city just an hour before I arrived and I couldn't locate her. ELIZABETH S."

The address went to you by post. May I ask that you inform us if you have not disposed of the clothing? Every spare garment is doubly desirable in these trying times. The injunction "let nothing be wasted" was never more binding upon the Christian conscience than in this year of our Lord. Families know want who never felt it before.

To Prevent Boys Smoking.

"In a boys' court they use a certain chemical powder to break boys and young men from smoking. Would you kindly obtain the name of the article for me, if possible, and, kindly, do not throw this into the waste basket. A. J. F."

I have never heard mentioned the "cure" of which you speak. Why not write to the court?

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets

By Lillian Russell

Lillian Russell's Answers.

W. G. L.: Well defined eyebrows give expression to the face and no one should neglect the care of their eyebrows and eyelashes if they wish to look their best. A little bay rum applied to the eyebrows in the morning with a soft brush is most beneficial to both the growth and the color. Scanty eyebrows should be rubbed with the tips of the fingers dipped into yellow vaseline, stroking the hair in an arched direction. For the eyelashes a little yellow vaseline applied gently along the roots will keep them soft and silky, darken the color, and increase the growth. Do not allow the vaseline to get into the eyes.

B. C.: Deep breathing will help to fill out the hollows in your neck. Eat fat making foods, drink a glass of cream daily and rub the following cream into your face: Two ounces cocoa butter, two ounces lanolin, and two ounces olive oil. Rub well into the hollows. This is also good for fattening the arms. Massage with a wringing, twisting motion. Any exercise that involves the muscles of the arms will develop them.

FRED: Indeed I do receive many letters from men, and I am just as glad to help them all I can as I am my women readers. If your complexion is dark I would advise a bleach. Here is a good one, and I am sure it will help you: One-quarter ounce lactic acid, one-quarter ounce peroxide of hydrogen, and three ounces witch hazel. Mix ingredients together and apply to face and neck daily. Allow it to dry on, then apply a good cold cream. In a short time you will see a great improvement in your skin.

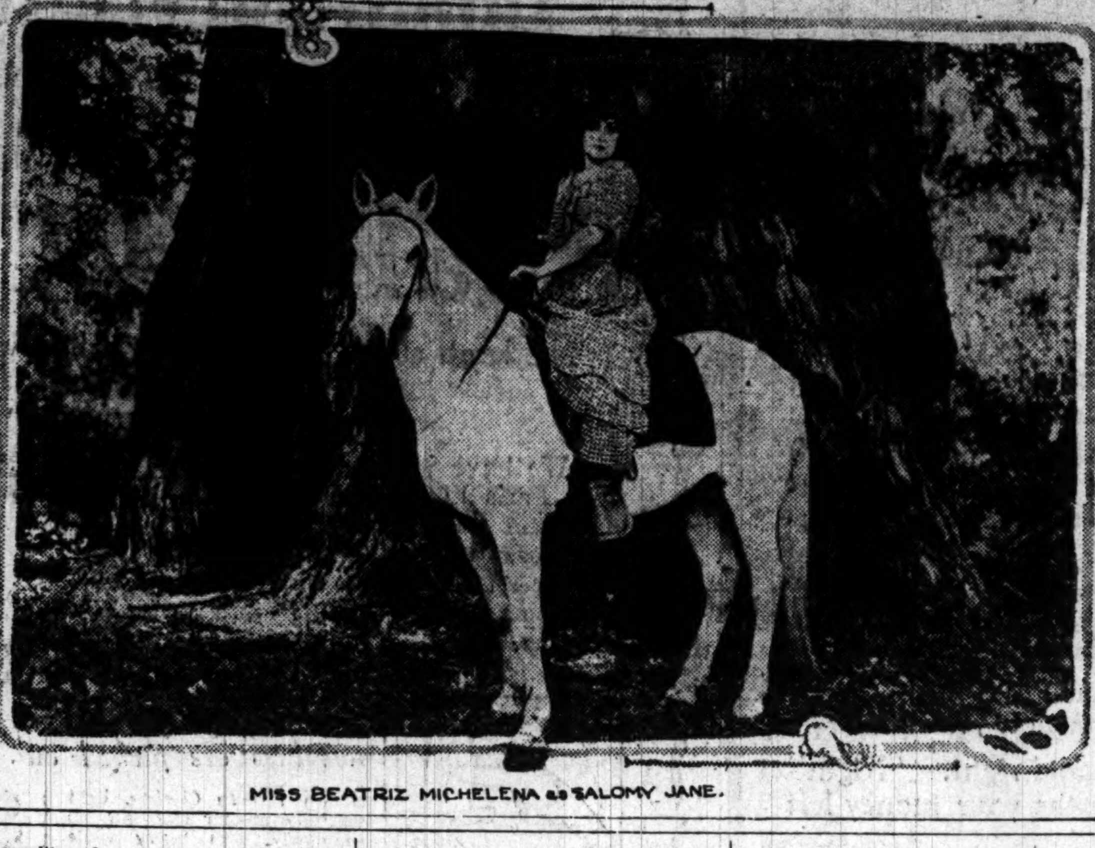
Salomy Jane	Beatriz Michelena



MISS BEATRIZ MICHELENA as SALOMY JANE.

THOUGH he is dead, yet he liveth. By the grace of the film this is true of Bret Harte, whose tale, "Salomy Jane's Kiss," in the surroundings in which the master placed it, has been wrought into life anew through the instrumentality of the California Motion Picture company.

It is a picture of fire and beauty, full of Bret Harte's spirit of adventure and glorious with the wondrous country which he loved. Nowhere have I seen such pictures of California. In themselves they are sufficient reason for the production. An artist chose the sites and foresaw their pictorial promise, and an expert camera man realized the prophecy.

Besides the readers of books, playgoers have grown familiar with the story which, dramatized by Paul Armstrong, was produced by the Liebler company, with Eleanor Robson in the title rôle. Now it reaches the still greater public of screen gazers, with Beatriz Michelena portraying the part of the bewitching but peppery little Kentucky girl, emigrated to California during the gilded rush of '49.

Miss Michelena is a pretty girl, definite and daring, and she succeeds quite well in conveying the character she has—but she chews gum! Maybe the rôle seems to demand gum chewing, but even so, for the sake of æsthetic enjoyment I think such realism might be omitted. Though it may be the greatest of indoor sports, yet it is scarcely to be encouraged by the screen that aims at elevation. Of course she doesn't chew gum all the time—just a very little while at first, in fact—but the impression lingers disastrously.

Most of the time she is very busy getting settled in the new home, eluding her numerous admirers, and participating in village affairs which involve the typical early west, mining camp distractions of murder, stage coach robbery, and direct administration of justice by means of the rope.

The central thread of these events is "The Man," whom she meets without the formality of an introduction, and loves at once. The unfortunate thing about "The Man" is that every one seems to have a pick upon him, which perhaps sets her love to burning higher, and he is the most accused person in all the country round. In the hour of darkest suspicion her kiss, given freely and before the world, puts new life into him and enables him to escape the very grewsome punishment hanging over him about as dangerously as Damocles' sword.

He escapes only into more difficulties, however, during which there are some of the most hairbreadth rides and leaps ever caught by the camera eye. That statement holds in the face of much press matter in regard to other leaps and rides. These arouse more thrills than anything I have seen outside of "Cabiria," which is matter of another consideration.

Through it all, however, as befits a hero and heroine, "The Man" and Salomy escape to united happiness, carrying with them, though unconscious of it, the good wishes of the thousands of observers.

This picture is a most agreeable introduction to the standards governing the California company of which it is the initial output. In itself in places it seems a bit hard emotionally; a bit crude, bordering on slapstick, in action. In places the action is confused, due to its rapidity and the numbers of players concerned, but on the whole it is a pleasant thing to witness, in addition to its scenic wonders, and leads one to look forward happily to coming offerings.

"Salomy Jane" is showing now at the Ziegfeld, succeeding "Manon Lescaut."

Unveil Memorial to Milton S. Terry.

A MEMORIAL tablet to the Rev. Milton Spenser Terry, D. D., LL. D., for thirty years professor in the Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, will be unveiled today in Memorial hall at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Terry died in California on July 23. His body was brought to Chicago for burial, but the memorial services were postponed to the present time to enable the faculty and the students of the institute to participate.

The tablet is the gift of a friend. Dr. Terry was professor of Old Testament exegesis from 1884 to 1895 and of Christian doctrine from 1895 to 1914.

The speakers at the unveiling from a distance will be the Rev. William Arnold Shanklin, president of Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., president of the alumni association, and Prof. Andrew C. Champaign Church Calls Athletic Pastor.

The McKinley Memorial Presbyterian church, located near the campus of the University of Illinois at Champaign, extended a call yesterday to the Rev. Robert R. Rood, chaplain of the Pennsylvania state college, to become its pastor.

The news was brought to Chicago by the Rev. W. S. Plumer Bryan, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, Chicago, who was at the church meeting which extended the call.

"The Rev. Mr. Reed," Dr. Bryan said, "was graduated from Princeton university in the class of 1904. He was the greatest tackle the Princeton football team ever had. He was graduated from the Western Theological seminary in 1910 and has been in his present position ever since.

"The University of Illinois students are enthusiastic over the announcement of his coming, for he is a remarkably fine preacher as well as a more than six footer athlete.

"A house has just been purchased for the residence of the new minister. This makes a property held by the church of $125,000."

The Rev. Mr. Reed succeeds as pastor the Rev. Martin E. Anderson, who resigned from the college church to become pastor of the Rogers Park Presbyterian church, Chicago.

Forty Club at Hunters' Dinner.

"A hunters' dinner" was held at the Auditorium hotel last night by the Forty lub.

The members wore red hunting coats and caps and gathered around rough deal tables that had been placed in a scene representing a hunting lodge, entrance to which was through a large iron gate of an early period.

A master of the hounds led two coach dogs, one hound, and a bull pup around the circle of tables while the orchestra played "A Hunting We Go."

Dr. C. Pruyn Stringfield, George Ade, William Sutherland, and others were toasted and roasted during the passing of the loving cup, in verse, rhyme, and song.

Wilbur D. Nesbit, president of the club, presided and Attorney Charles Burras read the "verses."

News of the Theaters

Miss VALESKA SURATT AT PALACE MUSIC HALL

MISS SURATT recurs at the Palace where she and a seraphic baritone, Mr. Melvin Stoles, repeat the fleshly allegory entitled "Black Crêpe and Diamonds." As may be recalled Miss Suratt in this spirited homily impersonates Womanhood distressed by Woe and rescued by True Love—light-footed and in purple tights. The tango is danced with much abandon by the hero and the heroine, and other similar diversions dot the pathway from despair to ecstasy. Incidental to the lesson Honey and Honey, two vigorous gymnasts dance industriously and the male Honey sings "It's a Long Way to Tipperary." Miss Suratt's exhibition is active and spectacular.

Also appearing at the Palace this week are Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGreevey in "The Village Fiddle, and the Country Maid"; Miss Belle Baker, announced as "the Bernhardt of Songs," and so regarded by the audiences, and John Higgins, who is good at jumping. P. H.

Notes.

"One Girl in a Million" will leave the La Salle a fortnight hence to begin a tour of neighboring cities. Negotiations are in progress for the appearance at the La Salle of "My Best Girl," by Rennold Wolf and Channing Pollock, with Victor Morley in one of the leading rôles.

The war having interfered with their plans, Miss Marie Doro and William Gillette will not play in London this season. Instead they will continue to appear in "Diplomacy" with Miss Blanche Bates, coming to Chicago later in the season.

William Faversham receives information that his country home in Chiddingfold, Surrey, has been taken over by the British government as a barracks for the troops now in training there.

Miss Marjorie Gateson takes the place of Miss Texas Guinan in "The Little Café" at the Illinois. Miss Gateson sang the rôle during a part of the New York run of the play.

N. C. Goodwin has signed a contract to star in Jack Lait's new comedy, "The Bohemian," beginning Jan. 4 in Los Angeles. The play is a dramatization of one of Robert Louis Stevenson's short stories called "The Story of a Lie." Miss Grace Valentine and Miss Marjorie Moreland (Mrs. Goodwin) will be in the cast.

William Morris is negotiating for the transfer of "While the City Sleeps" from the Auditorium to the New York theater, New York, planning to present it there for the benefit of the police force.

Harry Lauder, during his engagement at the Auditorium, will permit each audience to select its own program—that is, he will follow no schedule of songs, but will sing those called for by those present. He comes with six songs which have not yet been heard in Chicago.

Aiding Miss Maude Adams in the performance of Barrie's "The Legend of Leonora" and "The Ladies' Shakspeare" will be Charles Hammond, Grant Stewart, Arthur Lewis, Morton Selten, R. Peyton Carter, Lionel Hogarth, Wallace Jackson, Miss Elise Clarens, and Miss Leonore Chippendale.

Donald Brian is to become a dancing master and will give instruction in the art when not performing with Miss Julia Sanderson in "The Girl from Utah."

Children Plead for New School.

Fifty students of the eighth grade of the Albany avenue school visited Supt. Ella Flagg Young yesterday and asked for a new school.

The children crowded into Mrs. Young's office and told her of the needs of the school.

"We have only rented quarters," said one small girl.

"We haven't any 'gym' or any playground," said a small boy.

"I am glad you children came," said Mrs. Young. "I shall recommend that you get a new twenty-four room school at West Nineteenth street and South Kedzie avenue. It will be ready by a year from February. I am especially pleased to see the eighth grade children come here in the interests of the other children in the school. You yourselves will have graduated before the new school can be ready."

The children were in charge of Miss Annette Chapin, principal of the school, and Miss Louise Crowley, head assistant.

The board of education has rented space in the Marks Nathan Jewish Orphan home for the school.

Insurance Men Organize.

Vice presidents—
E. B. Case, Chicago.

Wade Fetzer, Chicago.
M. G. Naghten, Chicago.
L. C Blanding, Moline.

A secretary and manager will be chosen by the executive committee, composed of the officers, who will travel over the state and organize branches in each senatorial district.

"Young Men in Politics."

Roy O. West, president of the board of review, will speak on "Young Men in Politics" before the Chicago alumni association of the Delta Tau Delta college fraternity at the Chicago Automobile club tomorrow night.

Suffrage Convention Opens Tomorrow.

BETWEEN 50 and 100 suffragists left Chicago last night over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad for Nashville. The women were delegates, alternates, or interested spectators at the annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association, which opens tomorrow.

Although the list of the delegates has not been given out, and will not be until after the credentials committee of the national association passes upon it, news has leaked out of a number of the delegates.

Among them will be Mrs. Robert Kohlhammer, Mrs. John Taylor Cowles, Mrs. Joanna E. Downes, Mrs. William Severin, Mrs. Laura G. Fixen, Mrs. H. C. Newton, Mrs. Edward Stillman, Mrs. Paul Gerhardt, Miss Alice Henry, Miss Margaret Dobyne, Mrs. E. L. Stewart, Mrs. Judith Loewenthal, Mrs. Charles Nagely, Mrs. J. W. McGraw, Mrs. Laura G. Fixen, and Mrs. G. A. Soden.

Some of the delegates from downstate are Mrs. Mary Codding Bourland, Mrs. H. M. Brown of Peoria, Mrs. Carrie A. Bahrenburg of Belleville, and Mrs. Mary Busey of Urbana. Mrs. George Bass will lead another delegation from the convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs at Springfield.

From the delegates not appointed by the state board are the following Chicago women connected with the national organization directly: Miss Jane Addams, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Mrs. Medill McCormick, Mrs. Antoinette Funk, and Mrs. Sherman M. Booth.

Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout and Mrs. McCormick have preceded the rest of the delegation to Nashville.

Miss Marion Drake issued a statement yesterday in connection with the differences between herself and members of the Illinois Woman's Progressive league.

"There have been a number of interviews given out by Mrs. Dora Earle, Mrs. Marion Biel, Mrs. Mary Mills, and Mrs. Marc Rolfe," reads the statement, "without my being asked to state my side of the question and without knowing that I was doing anything but pursuing the ordinary humdrum way of a Chicago business woman.

"The report that I lined up with the Ickes faction at the last moment is untrue. The charge that I 'pledged my support to Thomas Knight as late as last Saturday' is untrue, and that I 'switched to Ickes over Sunday' is untrue. That 'the Knights helped liberally to finance my aldermanic campaign' has nothing to do with my vote for Progressive county central committeeman.

"None of the above women lives in the First ward. I do not pretend to represent them. I have the confidence of the First ward Progressive organization. The members have my respect. We are harmonious, and if we have differences we adjust them before they get to be sore spots."

Sees Equal Suffrage Near.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 10.—Predictions that the women of the United States will have the ballot within a comparatively few years, and that there will be no quarrel among leaders over the methods by which it is to be obtained, were voiced by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York and other women prominent in the suffrage movement before the southern states suffrage conference here tonight.

"We have progressed so far," said Mrs. Belmont, "that we are disagreeing about the terms on which we shall accept the vote—the inevitable premonition of victory. I have sworn allegiance to a national amendment, while the southern conference seems to hold to the principles of state rights. If the latter method proves effective, I shall gratefully accept the results."

This sentiment was indorsed by the half dozen other speakers, including Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch of New York and Miss Laura Clay of Kentucky.

One feature of the program was a symposium dealing with a resolution adopted in 1848 by the woman's rights convention at Seneca Falls, N. Y., declared to be the first public demand by an organized body in this country for "votes for women."

"It fell like a bomb," said Mrs. Blatch. "The press poured out ridicule on the demand. But blessed be ridicule. It made known the birth of the women's movement."

Mrs. Blatch characterized the anti-suffragist as the "isolated woman unit," and declared women were the first class to fight their battle entirely alone.

South Chicago Women Want City Market.

REPRESENTATIVES of a number of Women's clubs of South Chicago were present at a meeting of the municipal markets commission yesterday and voiced their sentiments in the move for a municipal market in South Chicago.

Mrs. William Brady, president of the South End Woman's club, showed plans for the city market building which the clubwomen hope to erect at Ninety-second street and the Calumet river.

Chairman James Lawley gave the committee statistics for the new market, showing that it was proposed to erect it on a plot of ground to be donated by the city. At the point it will be easily reached by the river, the Chicago Belt railway, and will be but a few blocks from the lake. It will cost $20,000.

There will be twenty-seven stalls, which will rent at $25 per month.

The clubs represented were as follows: South End Women's club, the Chicago-Calumet club, Windsor Park Women's club, Bessemer Park Women's club, Eighth Ward Civic league, Catholic Ladies' Aid society, Eighth Ward Women's Republican club, and the Eighth Ward Woman's Democratic club.

Here's New Job for Unemployed.

James W. Calley, superintendent of the municipal bureau of employment, announced yesterday that a plan had been formed for giving employment to many of the unemployed in the city of Chicago this winter by the destruction of a large number of condemned freight cars. Many of these freight cars have been pronounced worthless by the railroads and the companies have offered them to the city for firewood for the poor during the winter months.

"A plan has been devised," said Mr. Calley, "whereby the man in search of work may earn a ticket good for meals and a night's lodging at the municipal lodging house by cutting up a certain amount of the old box cars into firewood. This wood will be distributed to the poor people of the city this winter who are unable to buy fuel."

Prayer Meeting Movement Starts.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

GO to prayer meeting night is to be observed this evening in all the Methodist Episcopal churches within the bounds of Rock River conference.

The plan was proposed by Henry Date, president of the Chicago Methodist Social union, and is being promoted by the social union under the leadership of a committee of which G. H. Stineback of Oak Park is chairman.

Appeals have been sent out by Bishop W. F. McDowell, the district superintendents and by Mr. Date. The Northwestern Christian Advocate, the organ of the denomination, issued a special edition and 25,000 copies of the paper were distributed.

Every church has a large placard invitation in it and twenty thousand postal cards making personal appeals have been sent to individuals.

There are 395 churches in Rock River conferences. Some of them are in the country and may not be reached, but in most of the churches a rally will be held which will seek to arouse an interest in midweek service of the church.

DR. H. G. JACKSON DEAD IN SUBURB

Minister Long in Service of Methodist Church Here and Abroad Succumbs.

IN SOUTH AMERICA.

The Rev. Henry G. Jackson, D. D., of the Methodist Episcopal church died at his residence in River Forest yesterday.

Dr. Jackson was twelve years district superintendent, six years on each of two Chicago districts. He was born Jan. 1, 1838, in Manchester, Ind., and would have been 77 years of age at the close of this year.

He came to Chicago in 1885 and became pastor of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal church, West Monroe and South Morgan streets, at a time when Centenary church was one of the leading churches of the city.

In 1868 he was appointed superintendent of missions of his church in South America, with headquarters in Buenos Aires, where he remained ten years. He erected the first Methodist Episcopal church in South America.

He was the author of a Spanish hymn book which is still the standard work among the Spanish speaking people in the evangelical churches.

Funeral services will be held in the River Forest Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow at 2 o'clock. Burial at Rosehill. His widow, five sons, and two daughters survive him.

Cecil Raleigh—a name assumed on joining the theatrical profession in 1880—was the son of Dr. J. F. Rowlands, and was born in 1856. For a time he was dramatic critic of Vanity Fair and Sporting Times.

He was a prolific playwright and collaborated with the late Sir A. Harris and Henry Hamilton in Drury Lane melodramas, beginning with "The Derby Winner." One of his best known plays is "The Whip," which he wrote in 1909.

"JONES," THE FLIRT, MAY FACE COURT ACTION AGAIN.

Judge Graham Tells Miss McKinney He Will Entertain Motion to Reopen Case Within Thirty Days.

The case of Miss Mary McKinney of 8009 East Eightieth place against "John Jones," flirt, may be reopened by the city prosecutor, according to Municipal Judge Graham, before whom "Jones" was brought when the case was dismissed. Miss McKinney visited Chief Justice Olson yesterday, but he told her that he had no jurisdiction in the case and referred her to Judge Graham again. "Jones" was charged with annoying Miss McKinney on an Illinois Central train.

"This is a civil case," Judge Olson said, "and the way to reopen it is to confer with Walter Rooney, the city prosecutor in the case."

"I will entertain any motion to reopen the case within thirty days," Judge Graham said.

"I don't believe that any further action in the case is possible," Prosecutor Rooney said. "The bond of 'John Jones' was released as soon as he was discharged, and I do not think that he can be brought in. I will be glad to take up any new complaints against 'Jones' that are brought in."

BALLOU AND M. D. FREED; GIRL REFUSES TO TESTIFY.

Miss Laona Johnson Refuses to Take Stand and Swear Dr. L. W. Rowell Performed Operation.

Dr. L. W. Rowell of 159 North State street and Laurence Ballou, a capitalist living at the Hamilton club, charged with having been parties to an attempted criminal operation, were discharged yesterday by Judge Jarecki in the Municipal court.

Miss Laona Johnson, 16 years old, of Laona, Wis., whose uncle, H. B. Waterman of 605 West Sixty-third street, caused the arrest of the two defendants, refused to testify that the operation had been performed. Letters which she had written to her father in Wisconsin were ruled out by the court as irrelevant.

When he was arrested Dr. Rowell denied a criminal operation had been performed. He said the girl had been brought to him for treatment and the measures he had taken were necessary to save her life.

ELECTION PLAN HOTLY REJECTED BY CLUB WOMEN

Springfield Convention Defeats Proposed Nominating Method as "Boss Rule."

SEX HYGIENE IS APPROVED.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Delegates to the annual meeting of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs clashed today over a proposal to form a nominating committee of the twenty-five district vice presidents. Opponents of the measure charged it savored of "boss rule," and protested so effectively that it was defeated. Mrs. George Bass of Chicago led the opposition.

"It is much more democratic to nominate candidates as we have in the past than to have a 'slate' presented by the vice presidents, who are members of the executive board," she said. "It is more in harmony with the wishes of the state at large, and I strongly oppose the creation of such a committee."

"Why should we take a step backward for a small group of persons?" asked Mrs. George Watkins, former president of the federation. "The proposed rule would cause no end of embarrassment."

Championed by Chicagoan.

"But it seems to be the fairest method of nominating that has been suggested," interposed Mrs. John F. Thompson of the Chicago Woman's club. Mrs. John C. Bley of Chicago and Mrs. Robert Bruce Farson of St. Charles protested.

The proposed rule was presented by Mrs. George W. Plummer, chairman of the revision committee. It had already been approved by the executive board of the federation. A viva voce vote showed the opponents of the measure to be in the majority. Consequently there will be no "organization ticket" presented when the nomination of officers takes place tomorrow.

Names of half a dozen candidates for the presidency were mentioned tonight and the political features of the convention afforded subjects for many animated conferences in the Leland hotel and the capitol building.

A movement was started today in behalf of Mrs. George T. Palmer of this city. Other downstate candidates who are being talked of are Mrs. Howard T. Willson of Virden and Mrs. Albert Watson of Mount Vernon. It was intimated that Mrs. Minnie Starr Grainger, Mrs. E. J. Murphy, and Mrs. George Bass may be put forward as Chicago candidates.

Resolutions Body Busy.

The resolutions committee, of which Mrs. Grainger is chairman, held a secret session late this evening and considered some of the most important subjects which are to come before the convention. Two or three of them may disturb the harmony of the assembly when they are presented tomorrow. One subject is fashions. Serious minded members of the federation speak slightingly of the "fuss" that has been started by the Fashion Art league, composed of Chicago dressmakers.

The resolution in question, if adopted, will place the federation on record as being in sympathy with the suggestion of the league that the prevailing colors for 1915 be white, black, and American beauty rose. These colors are advanced as being emblematic of the compassion of American womanhood for the war stricken people of Europe.

Advocates of the measure insist that the federation should express approval of the plan to make Chicago a fashion headquarters in order to overthrow the influence of Paris. Striking gowns in evidence at the convention are taken to mean there will be decided opposition.

Suffrage Resolution Planned.

Complete suffrage for women in Illinois is contemplated in a resolution supported by Mrs. Alice Bradford Wiles and Mrs. A. E. Walker of Hinsdale. It is a petition to the legislature for a constitutional convention in order that Illinois obtain a constitution "in harmony with the wisest thought of the day," as one woman expressed it.

Mrs. Grainger's committee, it is said, also will present a peace resolution, which originated with the Illinois Equal Suffrage association. This declares that women's protest against the sword will be unheeded as long as the decision for war or peace rests with men.

More stringent regulation of disorderly houses and saloons and civic measures are urged in other resolutions.

Dunne Opens Convention.

The convention was opened this morning by an address of welcome delivered by Gov. Dunne, who suggested that the inspiration of Abraham Lincoln led to the "emancipation of 3,000,000 women in Illinois last summer." Mrs. C. C. Brown, president of the Springfield Woman's club, responded in verse.

Mrs. Frederick A. Dow, president of the Illinois federation, praised the work of the governor and added:

"May he know that we club women stand with him shoulder to shoulder. This hall of representatives is a sacred abode. Legislation is education. We need not only better men but the purest and cleanest elections."

In her report for the year Mrs. Dow spoke of "an extraordinary interest in the club spirit." She said that during the last twelve months eighty-one clubs have been added to the federation, making the total 497, with a membership of approximately 50,000. Only fifteen counties in the state do not have organizations affiliated with the federation.

Sex Hygiene Approved.

The report of Mrs. E. C. Page of De Kalb, advocating the teaching of sex hygiene, especially in normal schools, was adopted without dissent.

The reception tonight at the executive mansion given by Gov. and Mrs. Dunne to the delegates was a brilliant affair.

DR. ROBERT EMMETT FLANNERY

He was just a little street arab, but he bit his lips hard and managed to keep back the tears when the doctor and nurse unwound the bandage that wrapped his mangled arm. A speeding automobile had crushed him at play and he was carried unconscious into St. Mary's of Nazareth hospital. That was more than two years ago.

"I'll help, Miss Nurse," volunteered the physician, an interne in the institution, and the bandage was partly rolled off. Tears, however, started in the eyes of the little patient.

"O, please let Miss Black finish it, doctor," sobbed the boy. "She's kinder nor you, sir, and don't hurt a bit."

It happened that way, and for weeks after Dr. Robert E. Flannery and Miss Mary K. Black met at the bedside of their patient. Today wedding bells are to ring for the doctor and nurse at St. Mark's church. Miss Black will be attended by Miss Mida G. Irving and Dr. M. F. Hough will act as best man. After a honeymoon in the east they will live at 2887 Logan boulevard.

It took four policemen to carry Charles Mackay, 50 years old, of Glencoe, from North State and Washington streets to the central station last night. Policemen Mangan and Pape of the traffic division were on crossing duty when they saw Mackay fall to the sidewalk. When they went to aid him he resented it.

FREIGHT HIS SUBJECT.

Municipal ownership of the Illinois tunnel system was advocated at a City club luncheon yesterday. Henry A. Goetz, a consulting engineer whose specialty is the handling of freight, made the recommendation.

"The tunnel now under our streets," he said, "is a valuable auxiliary and even with its present limited use is doing much to take the freight traffic off the streets. Its use should be extended and I feel justified in recommending that the city should purchase same and pay for it out of a fixed rental charge which will amortize its cost after an extended number of years, the city to place its operations in the hands of a board of control, who shall endeavor to extend its use solely for the purpose of reducing team traffic upon the surface."

Urges Package Clearing House.

Mr. Goetz's theme was the establishment of a union package freight clearing house as a solution to the street congestion problem in Chicago. Such a house would handle the interchange of freight in less than carload lots between railroads just as the new yard at Clearing will handle the interchange of cars from one company to another.

In emphasizing the necessity for such an institution Mr. Goetz described the difficulties of package freight under present conditions, which demand that it be teamed through the downtown district. He said that the very goods the railroads are handling at a loss are the goods that block the central thoroughfares of the city.

Cost to Roads 80 Cents a Ton.

Taking $2.40 as a fair average wage paid such employés we find it is costing the railroads about 80 cents per ton for accounting and handling freight upon their various platforms.

"Chicago is a terminal city. No passenger trains go through. Freight, likewise, destined for points beyond is consigned to, transferred, and rebilled at Chicago, requiring an army of laborers and clerks. Fifty-eight per cent of it or 5,000 tons is transferred each day at Chicago. Wagons alone carry not less than 1,740 tons, requiring 2,000 trips across the city by teams from which neither city nor railroad receives any benefit.

"A removal of this through traffic in package freight to some point outside the city is the logical solution for relieving the congestion in the downtown district."

Pharmacist Held as Cocaine Seller.

Max Robbins, a druggist of 821 Wells street, was arrested yesterday on a charge of selling carbolic acid without an order and also selling cocaine without a physician's prescription.

WANT TO HEAL? GROW A BEARD

Witness at Freeport Trial Tells How He Raised One to Be a "Divine" Like Schiller.

SURE CURE—ALMOST.

Merely Set Mental Dynamo Going and Patient Gets Relief Immediately—Sometimes.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Freeport, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—For a man to be a successful divine healer it is necessary to grow whiskers, according to testimony presented today at the trial before Judge Landis of John F. Braun, alias the Rev. Dr. Schiller, N. D., and Kate A. Braun, alias "Divine" Hulda Demuth, his wife, the Rockford healers.

The two are charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud sick people.

Roland Stephens, a farmer of Christian county, Ill., who was a witness today, said he was employed seven months by Braun in 1909 at a time the defendant and his wife were operating "healing parlors" in Bloomington. The witness described himself as a "scientific healer."

Beard Chief Requisite.

Stephens then related that at the time he was negotiating with Braun for the position of assistant healer Braun insisted that he raise a beard.

"What did whiskers have to do with healing? Did whiskers on you help Braun's operations?" Judge Landis asked.

"Well, he wrote me he wanted me to raise a Vandyke beard," the witness said.

District Attorney Clyne presented in evidence a letter from Braun to Stephens relating to the question of whiskers. It read:

"Yes, by all means raise that Vandyke, for I would not think of placing you in office without it. It will make you look ten years older. That counts for much in this business. Never mind what your girl says about it, for you must choose between the girl and the job.

"The more you force the beard the sooner the position will be open to you.

"Mizo wants to come back, but I will stick to the proposition I made to you provided your physiognomy will be in proper shape to look the patients in the eye and see how much money they have in their pockets. Yours, Rev. Dr. Schiller, Himself."

Coax Them Lilacs Along!

A few days later Stephens received another letter from Braun on the subject of whiskers. It read:

"Stephens: Coax them whiskers along and make them grow quickly, for I will not place a kid in my office when I can hire men with whiskers."

Incidentally, Judge Landis ruled that whiskers are not whiskers unless they grow on the chin.

"My understanding of this subject is that whiskers to be real whiskers must be growing on the chin, or at least south of the upper lip," the judge said.

"You say you are a scientific healer. Explain what that means," Attorney Stansbury said.

Ah, Ha! The Mind Is a Dynamo.

"Well, we understand the law of action. The mind is a dynamo and we set it in action. I exert personal magnetism because the will controls each organ. Then all act in harmony and the patient gets relief immediately—sometimes."

"What did Braun say as to his belief in divine healing?" Mr. Stansbury asked.

"He said," the witness replied, "'I wish I could believe in this divine healing, but I don't.'"

"RED HEADED SERGEANT, CHICAGO," FINALLY ARRIVES.

Gleason Has 'Em All Look at Post Card After Uncle Sam Gives Up the Ghost.

A Red-Headed Desk Sergeant,
Chicago.

This post card reached Chicago Saturday and made as much trouble as a carload of parcel post eggs. Finally it was turned over to Chief Gleason. The message on the reverse side announced:

Hello, Red. I arrived in St. Louis O. K. and am doing well.
W. H. D.

Chief Gleason gave orders that every red headed desk sergeant in Chicago should have a look at the card. James Regan, on the desk at Desplaines street, said:

"It's for me. A fellow came into the station last week and asked the way to the Union depot. He promised to write a post card as soon as he got to St. Louis. He didn't ask my name."

THEATER BUILT DESPITE SUIT TO ENFORCE CITY CODE.

Court, However, Orders Ericsson to Carry Out Building Law or Revoke Permit.

The Appellate court yesterday affirmed the action of the Circuit court of Cook county in the issuance of a writ of mandamus commanding Building Inspector Henry Ericsson and his first deputy, Robert Knight, to enforce the building code with reference to the erection of the Ashland theater at 4656 South Ashland avenue or revoke the permit to build.

Regardless of the fact the matter has been resting in court for the last two years, with charges of thirty violations in the construction of the building, Mr. Ericsson said the theater had been open and doing business since April this year and that the builders had conformed with all of the building regulations.

Plans for the theater were drawn by David Saul Klafter, the architect who planned the Home theater on Milwaukee avenue, where the roof caved in, but who was exonerated by the state board of examiners.

RAIL CHIEF SAYS MAYOR OF '50 HAD I. C. USE SHORE

Park Calls Critics of Road's Occupancy of the Lake Front Unfair.

LOWER PRICES OF FOODS.

The attacks of Mayor Harrison and other city officials on the Illinois Central railroad drew fire last night from W. L. Park, vice president of the railroad. In an address before the Railway Development association Mr. Park pointed out that when the Illinois Central railroad entered Chicago it was forced to build its line in the swamps on the lake front.

Mr. Park argued that the railroads had been injured immensely by the attacks of congress, state legislators, and city governments. He characterized the advances of the railroads as the greatest industrial achievement in the world's history.

Mr. Park was the chief speaker at the banquet of the association at the Hotel La Salle.

History of Road's Entry.

"When the Illinois Central railroad was opened into Chicago the managers of the road wanted it to run along the west bank of the south branch of the river to connect with the Northwestern line," Mr. Park said. "The mayor at that time was Walter Gurnee, whose home lay at Monroe and Michigan avenue. The lake at that time was comparatively near the street, and shortly before the time the franchise was requested his property had been badly damaged by a storm.

"Gurnee went down to New York to have the directors place their tracks along the lake front. When the franchise finally was granted the road was required to lay tracks along the shore, but they had an optional right to lay rails along the south branch. They never took advantage of that right.

"The tracks were laid along the lake at a cost of over $2,000,000 at the specific request of a former mayor of this city. The railroad did not want the east side marsh for its right of way at the time; it is absurd to say that it did. As a matter of fact, the railroad was eager to get into the city, and it had to knuckle down to the wishes of the mayor and the council because railroads were not well thought of in those days.

Object of Unfair Criticism.

"The financial methods necessary at the time to carry on these stupendous undertakings are the subject of unfair criticism today. The people were most willing to vote bonds and offer strong inducements to secure transportation, knowing they would get it back many times over in the enhancement of property and increased business. The roads of Great Britain and continental Europe found a country already made. Those of America were built in advance of its development, as they stretched across the plains, compelling a creation of business by developing the resources of the country.

"James J. Hill introduced better grades of cereals and distributed blooded bulls along his road to improve grain and stock, and E. H. Harriman came to the rescue of the farmers of California. Other railroads have done a similar work of development, among them the Illinois Central in its southern and South American trade.

"Greater Part Buncombe."

"Since the commencement in 1907 of acute political attacks on railroad credit and efficiency, the greater part of which is pure buncombe, there must naturally follow caution on the part of those engaged in this and kindred industries until the agitators have lost their influence. There can be brought about another era of prosperity similar to that of the decade previous to the present era of 'progressiveness' by the thinking public deprecating any attempt to make political capital out of investigations of business methods.

"While we cannot ship our raw material to Europe, let us learn to manufacture at home, push our railroads into South America and Alaska, and foster a merchant marine."

Invites War Refugees.

The suggestion was made by F. H. La Baume, president of the association, in his address earlier in the day, that the railroads might be able to provide farms and homes for many of the families of Europe. The association is composed of the heads of industrial departments of railroads comprising 300,000 miles in the United States. These representatives suggested that colonies of the families left destitute by the war might be established along the lines of the railroads.

"The railroads own good farming lands," Mr. La Baume said, "and are interested in getting good immigrants to settle on farms of five to ten acres each."

"Farm to Table" Economy.

Two hundred exponents of the "back-to-the-farm," "from-farm-to-table," and "diversified farming" slogans were on hand. Two days have been set aside for the various agents to tell what they are doing to knock "the props from under the high cost of living."

They wasted no time on theories. The chief speaker of the day was H. B. Fullerton of the Long Island railroad, who told what he had done for the housewives of New York City.

Hampers for $1.50.

"We started out in 1905," he explained, "and now the housewives of New York are getting our 'Farm-to-Family-Fresh' hampers at $1.50, delivered at their doors every morning with all express charges paid. The consumer saves from 75 cents to $3 on each hamper, and the producer realizes 98 cents net for the contents for which before he used to get 8 cents from the food speculators. The hampers are filled with all sorts of fruits and vegetables."

Get's Her Dog by Court's Order and That's the End of Roxanna.

"MISS" EDNA SCHUSTER with CORINNE

Corinne, lately called Roxanna III., skipped up three flights of stairs in the apartment house at 6719 Sheridan road last night, emitted a resonant growl to notify the neighbor's cat of the return home after many days, and scratched on the door of Attorney John L. Rodgers' flat.

Mrs. Rodgers, who hadn't made the ascent quite so rapidly, opened the door and closed it carefully behind herself and the impatient brindle bull. And that was the last of Roxanna.

Even after Judge Prindiville in the Municipal court had decided the ownership and identity of the dog, William T. Wright, with whom it had been living at 6652 Glenwood avenue since spring, professed to have his doubts.

Wright bought Roxanna from one William Farmer, he says. When later he advertised the dog for sale Mrs. Rodgers called as a prospective purchaser, recognized her long lost Corinne, and carried the animal away with the assistance of a squad of police. The hearing before Judge Prindiville was on a writ of replevin sued out by Wright.

Mrs. Rodgers says she is going to give Corinne to her niece, Miss Edna Schuster of 4848 Sheridan road.

MAYOR TO TELL COLISEUM PLAN

Will Explain to U. S. Officials Project for Structure Near Pier.

LEAVES FOR NEW YORK.

Mayor Harrison went to New York City yesterday. He will leave there in time to reach Philadelphia Friday in order to preside at one session of the mayors' conference to be held there Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

At some point during his journey he will be intercepted by United States Senator Lewis, Corporation Counsel Beckwith, and Assistant Corporation Counsel Skinner, who left Washington last night for that purpose. They propose to get from the mayor his own statement of what he meant when he said at the Association of Commerce municipal dinner last Thursday that the city was planning to build a convention hall on made land adjoining the new outer harbor.

It is necessary that they obtain this statement. The war department insists on having it before it will grant the permit requested for filling in land north of the big pier now under construction.

Several Acres Set Aside.

In his address at the municipal dinner Mayor Harrison said several acres of made land south of the pier had been set aside as a possible site for a convention hall.

The trouble came when the war department thought he was referring to the land to be filled in under the permit now applied for. As a matter of fact he was referring to land made several months ago south of the pier. The permit now requested would permit the making of land north of the pier so that the Lake shore drive may be extended to the pier.

Others Leave Tonight.

The rest of the Chicago delegation going to the Philadelphia conference will leave tonight. It includes Ray Palmer, commissioner of gas and electricity; Montague Ferry, commissioner of public service, and several aldermen. Mr. Palmer, Mr. Ferry, and Ald. Charles E. Merriam will read papers at the conference. Mayor Harrison is expected to preside Friday afternoon.

PAUL IS 2 FEET 2, BUT, O MY!

Ex-Sheriff of 210 Pounds Spends Two Hours Ejecting a Near-Midget.

TELLS COURT ABOUT IT.

Paul Paulus is little—but, as the saying is, O, my!

When Paul was arraigned before (or more properly beneath) Judge Torrison yesterday he was completely concealed from the judge's eye by the left leg of a fat bailiff.

"Paul Paulus!" called the court, impatiently. "Paul Paulus! Where is the defendant?"

"Here, sir," said Paul.

Paul Stands Revealed.

The fat bailiff chose that moment to shift his position and Paul, drawn down to his full height of two feet eleven, stood revealed. Judge Torrison blinked. At his side towered Charles H. Merzer, a 210 pounder, who used to be sheriff in Salt Lake City. Merzer now has a restaurant at 2150 North Clark street.

"This man, your honor," said Merzer, "came into my restaurant last night and started a disturbance. He smashed my watch, scared my customers, and threatened to clean out the place."

"Why didn't you pick him up and set him outside?" asked the court.

"I did that," answered the restaurant man. "I was trying it when he broke my watch. It took me nearly two hours to do it. He's strong and as tough a customer as I ever met."

Gives His Side of It.

Judge Torrison called on the defendant.

"I guess it's just about the way this man says," said Paul sheepishly. "When I'm not drinking I'm as peaceful as anybody else, but I guess I get a little rough when I have a few."

Paul, after paying a $1 fine and promising to have Merzer's watch repaired reached up and grasped the hand of his late adversary.

"No hard feelings on my part, old chap," he said. "I hope you won't think it's my habit to play the bully."

Face Murder Trial Again.

Mrs. Pasqualina Forte, her daughter, Anna, and son, Pasquale, were placed on trial in Judge McDonald's court yesterday for a second time for the murder of Antonio Morasco. A few weeks ago the jury disagreed.

U. S. LIVE STOCK BUREAU FACES PLAGUE INQUIRY

Congress May Be Asked to Sift Cause of Epidemic's Rapid Spread.

PRIZE STOCK MAY BE SAVED.

Strong intimations that cattle owners throughout the country will attempt to get a congressional investigation of the bureau of animal industry because of its failure to prevent the epidemic of foot and mouth disease were received in Chicago last night.

Iowa and Texas cattle men are said to be supporting the plan.

Congressman-elect Steele of Iowa called at the department of agriculture in Washington during the day and insisted that the quarantine on Iowa, at least that part of Iowa in his congressional district, be raised immediately. Mr. Steele said there were absolutely no traces of foot and mouth disease in the Sioux City stockyards, and the quarantine was working a severe handicap on them, as well as the packers and farmers in that vicinity.

Doubts Further Outbreaks.

He insisted that the Iowa farmers have taken every precaution and that there would be no further outbreaks in that state. The only cases so far, he said, came from cattle shipped into the state. None originated within Iowa.

Col. Sam Cowan, legislative representative of the Texas cattlemen, has declared he will be on hand with the opening of congress next month to cause trouble for the bureau of animal industry.

It is his belief, as well as Texas cattlemen's, that the present epidemic could have been checked had the departmental experts been on the job. Cowan probably will persuade some congressman or senator to introduce a resolution to investigate the bureau, it is said. Then he will make a strong effort to have it passed.

Delays Opening Yards.

The Chicago stockyards will not be opened until next Monday. This announcement was made during the day by the state live stock commission.

The decision not to give the Chicago "yards" a clean bill of health upon the completion today of disinfecting was reached after reports had been received from state and federal veterinarians sent out to trace several hundred shipments of supposedly infected anti-hog cholera serum and virus. These shipments have been made since Oct. 1.

Early reports indicated a number of outbreaks of the foot and mouth disease in Illinois and other central western states are traceable to the use of the hog cholera virus that had been taken from hogs at the stockyards plant of the Great Western Serum company.

Foolish to Open Yards.

"It would be foolish to open the Chicago yards," said Dr. O. E. Dyson, state veterinarian, "until we have located all of this infected virus and have spotted the herds of cattle and hogs infected from it. More than a hundred state and federal assistant veterinarians are out now inspecting the virus shipped by the Chicago plant. It will be two days before we have checked up on all of the sales. Wherever we find infection from the virus among hogs and cattle we are putting out close quarantine orders to prevent diseased stock being shipped to the Chicago market."

Contagion among the 800 dairy show cattle continues to spread. Forty new cases were reported during the day. This makes a total of ninety-two.

The owners of the dairy cattle rested easier under the announcement by Dr. Dyson that their blooded cattle would not be killed.

East St. Louis Yards to Open.

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 10.—The National stockyards at East St. Louis, closed last Saturday by federal quarantine orders, will be reopened at 6 o'clock next Thursday morning for the receipt of native cattle and hogs for immediate slaughter only.

Lid Down in Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 10.—Kentucky was placed under federal foot and mouth disease quarantine today. Infection was found among cattle shipped from the Chicago yards. At midnight tonight the Bourbon stockyards will be closed.

SEIZED IN $640,000 CASE WHEN ABOUT TO SAIL AWAY.

Gotham Ticket Broker Accused by Widow of Diverting Her Property to His Own Use.

New York, Nov. 10.—Charged with the larceny of $133,000, Richard J. Hartman, former president of the ticket brokerage firm of Tyson & Co., was arrested tonight on the eve of his departure for Europe. Three indictments against him were handed down today.

Mrs. Charlotte R. Mackenzie, widow of a former official of the Singer Sewing Machine company, who was left $640,000 by her husband, is said to be almost penniless. Her story is that she met Hartman in London and that he obtained her signature to papers which she did not understand, but which gave him full power of attorney over her property.

She alleges that he sold her stocks and invested the proceeds in his own enterprises, which failed.

CHAMPION WILL FIGHT AGAIN AFTER A SHORT REST

WELSH TO REST ONLY 10 DAYS AFTER BATTLE

Champion Accepts Offer to Box Jimmy Duffy at Buffalo on Nov. 19.

NO MARKS ON WHITE.

BY RAY C. PEARSON.

Charley White, Chicago's best lightweight, who managed to hold World's Champion Freddie Welsh to an even break in their ten round battle at Milwaukee on Monday night, returned to the city yesterday, showing no marks of the contest. Welsh also came to Chicago, for he opened a five days' engagement at a west side theater yesterday afternoon.

The champion of them all carried a mark on his forehead, the result of a collision of heads, but otherwise was feeling "fine and dandy," as he expressed it. Freddie doesn't intend to let any chance to garner the coin get away from him for yesterday he accepted an offer from a Buffalo club to box ten rounds with Jimmy Duffy at Buffalo on Nov. 19. Duffy is a pretty fair sort of scrapper, but Welsh figures that with his stage work here and a bit of training he will be in good shape for the battle with Duffy.

Finds Welsh Hard to Hit.

Although White failed to connect with Welsh's jaw hard enough to score a knockout, Charley wasn't the least bit disappointed. He admitted yesterday that he found Welsh the hardest fellow to hit that he ever met, but he feels sure that in a bout over a route longer than ten rounds he would stop Welsh and win the title.

It is a fact that the Chicago boy was stronger than Welsh when the final gong sounded. White's stamina asserted itself in the ninth and tenth rounds when he succeeded in landing several times with his famous left, which enabled him to get an even break. There was no doubt in the minds of the ringsiders that Charley possessed strength that would eventually bring him the victory.

White Waits Too Long.

The Chicago followers of White, and there was a goodly gathering of them at the ringside, were unanimous in the belief that the local battler waited too long before taking the aggressive. This opinion, however, was not shared by the "wise birds." White allowed the champion to do all the leading, but he could not well do otherwise because Welsh set a pace which forced Charley to appear as a "waiter."

It was only in the final two sessions that White showed to advantage. It was necessary for him to score points or finish on the losing end of the popular decision, and White realized it, so he cut loose and managed to connect with Welsh's jaw often enough to bring him a draw verdict.

Gate Receipts $24,577.

The bout drew $24,577 into the Milwaukee auditorium. Of this amount Welsh received $9,339.26, which represented 40 per cent of the gate after 5 per cent had been taken by the Wisconsin state boxing commission. White got $6,420.74, or 27½ per cent, and the Cream City Athletic club pulled down $7,588.18 for promoting the contest. The boxing commission received $1,228.85.

If the McMahon brothers, New York promoters, meet the terms demanded by White, the local boy will meet Leach Cross in Gotham on Nov. 30. Nate Lewis, manager of White, yesterday received a telegram from the eastern promoters offering a guarantee of $8,000 to meet the dentist-fighter. Lewis wired back that he would accept if they raised the guarantee to $5,000 or offered a good percentage of the gate.

Gilmore Gets Match.

Fred Gilmore, who has been more prominent as a manager than as fighter in recent years, is going to make his debut as a boxer on Nov. 16 at Memphis when he hooks up with "Young" Denny in an eight round tilt. Denny is a New Orleans battler who has been fairly successful in his ring engagements, and the bout will be a good tryout for the local boy.

Frankie White and Ruby Hirsch, who were matched a few days ago, will settle the matter of supremacy in private. White's manager, "Roughhouse" Burns, yesterday announced that they would battle on Nov. 15. The weight agreed upon is 118 rounds at 3 o'clock.

SAM LANGFORD STOPS TOM M'MAHON IN SIXTH

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Sam Langford, the "Boston Tar Baby," tonight stopped Tom McMahon, a white heavyweight, in the sixth round at the Vernon arena. The bout was slated to go twenty rounds.

The referee stopped the fight in the sixth to save McMahon, who was hopelessly beaten, from additional punishment.

It is probable that the bout will be the final battle in the Vernon arena. It is not likely that another match can be pulled off before the anti-prize fight law goes into effect.

BOXER GETS 2 KNOCKOUTS IN BOUT AT HOT SPRINGS.

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Art Magirl, the Oklahoma whirlwind, scored two knockouts tonight. He put out Joe Gorman, an old war horse of California, in the seventh and then turned and observing Frankie Manilla, his second, in the ring before Gorman was counted out, swung a right and sent Manilla spinning through the ropes, thus preventing himself getting disqualified.

JEANETTE HELD TO A DRAW.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Jim Johnson of Virginia and Joe Jeanette of New York, both negroes, fought twelve rounds to a draw at the Atlas A. A. tonight. Johnson had about thirty pounds advantage in weight. Neither man showed any willingness to mix at any time and both were repeatedly cautioned by Refree Haley for holding. Johnson's most effective blows were struck in the clinches, hard right swings to Jeanette's kidneys. Jeanette fought the cleaner fight throughout, breaking quicker, and appearing more willing to stand toe to toe and swap wallops.

BARTFIELD SHADES M'COY.

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Al McCoy, who claims the middleweight title, was badly battered by a welterweight, "Soldier" Bartfield, ex-champion of the army, in a hard rough and tumble bout of ten rounds at the Broadway A. C. of Brooklyn tonight. Bartfield had a clear advantage in the last six rounds. The first two sessions were even, the third was McCoy's, and after that the honors were all in favor of Bartfield. McCoy weighed 158¾ pounds and Bartfield 146 pounds.

Newspaper Decisions on Welsh-White Bout.

BECAUSE decisions are not allowed by the referee under the Wisconsin law which governs boxing contests, the verdict given by pugilistic writers for newspapers are accepted in their stead. Wagers usually are decided by the favorite paper of the bettors. On account of the variance of opinion among boxing experts, the decisions of all newspapers—So far as known—which sent staff men to report the Welsh-White bout at Milwaukee Monday night are appended:

DRAW.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Ray C. Pearson, Ring W. Lardner, and Sam Weller.
Associated Press.
Chicago American, Ed W. Smith.
Chicago Evening Post, F. A. McInerny.
Milwaukee Sentinel, Manning Vaughan.
Milwaukee Leader, T. S. Andrews.
Milwaukee E. Wisconsin, B. F. Steinel.

Seven New York papers called the bout a draw, four gave the decision to Welsh, and three to White.

GAMBLER OFFERS TO "CINCH" BETS

Approaches Newspaper Writer with "Proposition" on the Decision.

BY HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

An effort to influence the decision to be given in THE TRIBUNE on the result of the Welsh-White bout at Milwaukee Monday night was made in the lobby of the New Wisconsin hotel of Milwaukee Monday afternoon.

A gambler, whose identity is unknown and who disappeared hurriedly when his suspicions were aroused, approached one of THE TRIBUNE reporters and with a roll of bills in his fist stated that a decision in favor of White was worth $200 because it would decide a $1,500 bet in his favor.

The reporter asked those who had seen the stranger if they knew who he was. They did not. Another TRIBUNE reporter was summoned, given a description of the man, and spent the remainder of the afternoon and evening in an effort to locate and establish the identity of the crooked bettor. He met with no success.

"Fixer" May Be Located.

At the request of the reporter, who is chagrined that even an unknown "surething man" would think that a newspaper man might be "reached," his name is withheld. It will be revealed if the name of the attempted briber can be learned. He has been described to other TRIBUNE reporters and to several persons who frequent the places where money changes hands in boxing bouts.

Here is the story as related by the reporter upon the return of THE TRIBUNE staff from Milwaukee:

I was standing alone in the lobby of the New Wisconsin hotel when a short, thickset man of dark complexion stepped up to me and this conversation ensued:

"You're THE TRIBUNE man, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"Do you think White will win?"

"No. I think Welsh is clever enough to win on points."

"It's worth $200 to me to win a $1,500 bet on White."

"What do you mean, you get a commission for placing the bet?"

Bet on "Tribune" Decision.

"O, cut it out. I bet $1,500 on White. We first left the decision to the ——. Then we switched to THE TRIBUNE decision. It's worth $200 to win that bet."

Here the gambler nudged the reporter and exposed a roll of bills in his hand.

"Who are you? I don't know you," said the reporter, looking around and sparring for time.

"O, you know who I am all right. If you're one of these —— square guys, I'm off you."

Then the fellow turned on his heel and hurried away.

Not Member of White Camp.

Absolutely no suspicion attaches to Charley White or any of his immediate following as the result of the above incident. Neither Manager Nate Lewis nor White himself made any wagers of importance on the result of the bout. They expressed regret last night that such an attempt should have been made in their behalf.

YACHTSMEN PICK LAWTON AS HEAD

Elected President of Jackson Park Club in Close Race with Tarrant.

BY KEENE GARDNER.

In an election so spirited that it resembled the climax of a regular political campaign, William M. Lawton, owner and skipper of the sloop Flora, last night defeated Robert Tarrant for the office of commodore of the Jackson Park Yacht club. Lawton, who headed the regular ticket, defeated Tarrant, head of the members' ticket, 85 to 63.

The members managed to save two officials from the wreck of their craft, John C. Irwin defeating C. H. J. Thorby for the office of vice commodore, and O. R. Larson being chosen a director. Irwin received 78 votes as against 60 for Thorby.

New Officers Chosen.

The full ticket chosen was as follows:

Commodore—William M. Lawton.
Vice commodore—John C. Irwin.
Rear commodore—Charles Roorvaart.
Secretary—Fred S. Young.
Treasurer—John Kohlmann.
Directors, three years—Robert Williamson, Warren D. Howe, O. R. Larson.

The election brought out the largest number of voters in the history of the organization, a total of 140 votes being cast.

Rosing C. Y. C. Chairman.

Edward Rosing, owner of the thirty foot sloop La Rita, was elected chairman for the ensuing year at a meeting of the Yacht Owners' association of the Chicago Yacht club last night at the Hotel La Salle. Adam F. Weckler, owner of the steam yacht Kwasind, was chosen vice chairman, while Meade Dawson, part owner of the yawl Neoga, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Twenty-four members of the association attended the dinner and meeting, which was the first of several to be held during the winter months. A movement was started to amalgamate the interests of all local sailing organizations. In order to bring this about the commodores and chairmen of the regatta committees of the Jackson Park, Lincoln Park, and Evanston Yacht clubs will be invited to attend future meetings of the owners' association and give their views on the competitive sailing situation on Lake Michigan.

Congressman James R. Mann will attend the January meeting and address the yachtsmen on the proposed plans for the new outer harbor and the effect they will have on the lake front clubs. It was officially announced that the international series of races which were to have been held off Toronto last summer between the local sloop Valiant and the Canadian defender Ahmeek, and which were called off on account of the European war, will be held in Chicago next summer.

GIBBONS DECLINES BOUT WITH CLABBY ON COAST.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 10.—It appears to be definitely settled that no more championship prize fights will be staged in California. After the Clabby-Chip battle here last week a hurried effort was made by promoters to put Clabby before the San Francisco public in one more engagement before the new anti-prize fight law could go into effect.

With that end in view negotiations were opened with Mike Gibbons. Last night, however, Gibbons wired the promoter here that he would not go over the twenty round route and Clabby said he would not undertake any other California date.

Clabby added that terms were practically closed for a ten route bout with Gibbons in New York near the end of the year.

BOUT TO MICKEY SHERIDAN.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 10.—Fighting the best fight of his career, Mickey Sheridan of Chicago tonight easily defeated "Red" Robinson of Pittsburgh in ten rounds. George Adams of Chicago shaded Bobby Armstrong in the eight round windup.

Kelly Victor Over Sherman.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Leo Kelly gained a shade over Joe Sherman in their eight round fight tonight.

"FED" STAR IN AUTO CRASH.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Bennie Kauff, the sensational Indianapolis Federal league player, had a narrow escape this afternoon when his automobile was wrecked at New Winchester, Ind., six miles west of Danville. Kauff's face was badly lacerated. Two companions, Jack Page and Owen Holmes, both of this city, were slightly bruised. Kauff was going at such a terrific rate of speed that the machine swerved off the road and broke off a telephone pole a few feet above the ground. After striking the telephone pole the car hit a cement post and, glancing off, bounded high in the air.

BARNEY OLDFIELD LEADS IN PHŒNIX ROAD RACE.

Prescott, Ariz., Nov. 10.—Barney Oldfield, winner of the first leg yesterday, plunged through mud, beat out a cloudburst, and won the second leg of the seventh annual Phoenix road race today. Forty-seven minutes and twenty-one seconds to the good, he will start from here at 10 o'clock and battle his way against time and the elements 134 miles down to Phoenix, the finish line.

Olin Davis, fourth into control at Needles yesterday, winner of last year's "Cactus Derby," as the race is called, checked in here second at 2:00:01 mountain time, followed by Louis Nikrent, third at 2:13:35.

Oldfield came in like a catapulted mud cannon ball at 1:50:45. Allowing for the difference in Pacific and mountain time, his elapsed time was 8:18:45, fourteen minutes better than the runner-up. Yesterday Oldfield had a clear lead of six minutes over Durant, who has now dropped back from second place.

The addition of Oldfield's elapsed time on the two legs gives 17:01:40, with Davis next.

In the Wake of the News

By RING W. LARDNER

HERE'S OUR WESTERN TEAM.

PRESIDENT JAMES of the University of Illinois thought it would be a great scheme if the western conference champions played the champion team of the east a post-season game, the proceeds to go to the Belgian relief fund. The scheme was telegraphed to eastern authorities for their opinion.

"Great idea!" they cried.

"Who thought of it?" asked one of them.

"A western man," another replied.

"It's a rotten idea!" they shouted. "Let's get up a good one."

So they countered with the all-star proposition, which is a lot better because it originated in the east, like the lateral pass; also because a game in which nobody knew the signals would certainly be more exciting.

President James of Illinois didn't care a whoop for the credit. He wanted to see the European sufferers get theirs. So he accepted the counter proposition without a murmur. In fact, he'd probably admit, to keep peace in the family, that he never would have thought of his plan first if the easterners hadn't thought of theirs afterwards.

Anyway, it came out yesterday that the east favored the appointment of Walter Camp as a committee of one to pick the eastern all-star team. The man suggested for a similar job in the west was, according to the papers, Walter Eckersall. But the west doesn't think it is obliged to appoint a man named Walter just because the east does. Therefore, a committee of western football authorities, whose names I can't spell, has asked me to select a team to represent this section of the country. I have accepted the honor.

Before naming my team, I may say that I have given this matter a great deal of thought and have taken into consideration a good many things that less experienced persons might have overlooked. One of these things is the impossibility of a team's memorizing an entire new set of signals in less than a week. Another is the enormous expense that would attend the mobilizing of a large squad of first string men and substitutes. If the game were played in New York it would cost a small fortune to send fifteen or sixteen men to the battle ground. Even if it were played here, the railroad fares of that many men would amount to a ridiculously big sum, for, as you know, none of the members of our two local university teams could participate, the Maroons being barred by faculty objection and the Northwestern players by unanimous vote.

I have obviated these two difficulties by selecting the following team:

Guards, tackles, and ends—Mucks, Wisconsin.
Quarter back—Bellows, Wisconsin.
Full back and half backs—Maulbetsch, Michigan.

You'll notice that there are only four men, and transporation for four men is not nearly as expensive as for fifteen or sixteen, though of course there would be excess on Mucks. But Mucks could make mince meat of any set of linemen the east might select by sitting on them one at a time or in bunches. His chief concern would be to remove himself from Maulbetsch's path after suffocating his adversaries.

I have chosen Welland of Indiana for center because he faces the man he is passing to and turns his back to his opponents. Such rudeness would so shock the mannerly easterners as to upset them completely if Mucks had not already done so. Moreover, a center should and must pass more accurately where he is looking at than where he is looking in the other direction away from.

With only Maulbetsch to play half backs and full back, but one signal would be needed and it would require a quarter back to give the signal. Signals should be given loudly, so as not to be lost in the roar of the crowd. I have picked Bellows because he bellows the signals.

Bellows also can kick. He wouldn't have to punt or drop-kick with Maulbetsch in the backfield, but could add points by booting goals from the touchdowns.

I won't attempt to explain why I have chosen Maulbetsch over all other backfield aspirants. Wait till you see him!

The east undoubtedly will demand four eastern officials, as is its modest custom. We won't kick on that, but will insist on selecting two of them ourselves—namely: Heneage of Dartmouth and Patterson of Amherst.

Bring on your eastern stars!

H. HAHLBOHM CHESS LEADER

At the annual election held by the Northwest Chess club, the following officers were chosen: President H. Hahlbohm; vice president, G. P. Jensen; secretary treasurer, L. Bark; tournament committee, L. W. Felt, A. Buhl, and H. A. Hanson. A simultaneous exhibition by B. A. Czalkowski, retiring president, will be given tomorrow night at the clubrooms.

Notre Dame Boys Start Walk Today for Carlisle Game

Four Students, Because of Losing Wagers, Ready for 102 Mile Hike.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Would you walk 102 miles to see a game of football? No? Well, then you are not a real football fan.

Five upper classmen from the University of Notre Dame are going to prove that they are. Russell Downey, Emmett Lenihan, Edward Marcus, Gerald Clements, and Elmer Finch will leave Notre Dame tomorrow morning to walk to Chicago via the Lincoln highway. They expect to arrive in time to see the Notre Dame-Carlisle game, which will be played at White Sox park on Saturday afternoon.

It is not a walk "for the fun of the thing," either, for who can see any fun in tramping 102 miles?

Reasons for Long Walk.

Here is the reason the boys are hiking: Three weeks ago Notre Dame played Yale. As loyal supporters of their team these boys placed their monthly allowances on the game. Yale won. The boys had planned to go to Chicago to see the Carlisle game with the money they were going to win. It looked impossible to carry out their plans until the idea of walking struck them.

When they sought permission from the Notre Dame authorities, the prefect of discipline said: "You can go, but I doubt if you will ever make it. I gave some fellows permission to walk to Chicago four years ago, and when they reached Gary one of the fellows took a bath. He got so stiff that he couldn't get out of the tub."

Walk to Wakeville.

The last two weeks have been utilized in walking practice by the boys. They have taken several hikes to Niles, a distance of twenty-one miles. After they returned from one of these walks one of the "peds" was asked how they intended to live without money while on the trip. He replied:

"We are depending upon the great American farmer. If it comes to the worst we can wield an ax like the rest of our fellow hobos. Our sleeping quarters will be anything from a bed at the Salvation army to a haystack. We expect to have some great experiences, but no matter what happens, we'll be in Chi by Saturday and will be in the bleachers when the whistle blows for the kickoff."

The boys are carrying a letter from Coach Harper of the Notre Dame football team to Harry G. Grabiner, secretary to Charles Comiskey.

DE PAUL "PREPS" MAKE CLAIM TO STATE TITLE.

De Paul academy came to the front yesterday with a state wide challenge that it can tie or beat any of the other half dozen claimants to the Illinois prep honors. And any time any other school says that De Paul isn't as strong as any of the six or more contenders for the championship Coach Paupau's youngsters will be ready to show their prowess.

De Paul has even gone a bit further by sending challenges to several schools, among them East and West Aurora, Champaign, Moline, Clinton, Ia.; Grand Rapids, and Central High of Detroit. In the meantime Paupau will complete preparations this afternoon for the annual Catholic league battle with St. Ignatius tomorrow afternoon at De Paul field.

The north side team is one of the two major Chicago teams which have not been defeated this year. De Paul has beaten Crane, Schurz, Englewood, Northwestern academy, and has tied with Lane. Lane in turn has been defeated by Englewood and Englewood has lost to Oak Park, which was beaten by Lane. University High, which battles Oak Park on Saturday for the Suburban league title, is the other school with as clean a record as De Paul.

PIN ENTRIES UP TOMORROW.

Entries to the eleventh annual tournament of the Chicago Bowling association will close at midnight tomorrow and Secretary Jake Mueller is buried to the ears in the late rush. Additional dates assigned yesterday were Dec. 8, 8, 9, and 10, on which dates the Colonna, Concordia, Randolph, and Schuenemann squads will appear.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 10.—Harry Cline defeated Walker Cochran, 300 to 150, in a Billiard Players' league match tonight. Averages and high runs: Cline, 18¾, 80; Cochran, 12, 57.

INTERSTATE CUE LEAGUE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 10.—Charles McCourt, Pittsburgh, defeated August Kieckhefer, Milwaukee, 50 to 37, in an interstate three cushion billiard league match tonight in seventy-seven innings. Each had a high run of 5.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Albert Cutler defeated Jake Schaefer, 300 to 266, in a Billiard Players' league match here tonight. Averages and high runs: Cutler, 11 3-27; 68. Schaefer, 10 6-26; 90.

FRESHMEN SPILL MAROON VARSITY

Youngsters, Using Illinois Plays, Upset Regulars in Scrimmage.

BY MAROON.

The University of Chicago freshman team, using nothing but a carefully selected list of Coach Zuppke's Illinois open plays, sprinted through the varsity eleven in a drill yesterday. The practice started as a regulation "dummy drill," with the first year men carrying the oval in demonstrations against the regular team, but the Illinois adaptations proved so efficacious in the hands of the players that several passes and spread plays enabled the freshmen to advance the ball frequently.

As a result of the drill the coaches and athletes wore even longer faces than before. All the varsity men, with the exception of Des Jardien and Russell, who are expected to start the Illinois game, were in the encounter.

Gray and Flood Missing.

Gray and Flood were missing from the lineup yesterday. According to all indications Acker will start the game at full and Schafer and Berger will play the half back positions with a royal squad of other halves waiting to enter the fray. The Maroons will be well fortified with back field players for the game downstate, as Gordon will be able to step into a position at quarter back or at half. Coutchie, Lee, Agar and several others have been working out as understudies at half.

Signal drill and work in forward passes filled the earlier part of the afternoon's program. The men seemed to be getting off better to the passes than before, many of the low variety which failed in the Madison game finding safe berths in the arms of players who were pitted against an aggregation to break up the plays. Defensive and offensive tactics in the pass plays were combined in the one exercise. The linemen spent some time on blocking and checking work.

Students Watch for Spies.

Frequent alarms of spies at the camp at Stagg field have kept both athletes and students in a furor. Three times this year watchers were detected inspecting the Maroon formations from the tops of near by apartment houses, or in the university buildings which overlook the practice field. On Monday a strong arm squad of former athletes was assigned to watch the entrances to the field, as strangers had been ejected from secret drill several times the week before.

Johnnie Johnson, the trainer, is in charge of the posse. He spends most of the time watching the horizon for a glint of an observer's opera glass, as several unwelcome spectators were chased away from the windows of neighborhood buildings after they had been seen following up the intricate movements of some of the new plays.

Yesterday's issue of the Daily Maroon contains an article by a student charging that Chicago plays were analyzed by Wisconsin before the Madison game, and stating that observers have been spying on Chicago's practice.

The student writes: "I have understood from reliable authority that the Wisconsin team knew as much about the Chicago plays as the Maroons themselves. Plays that had never been run off except in secret practice were passed in Madison before they passed the line of scrimmage."

ILLINI PRACTICE OFFENSE; WORK PLEASING TO ZUPPKE

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Zuppke's Illini scrimmaged tonight while carpenters banged away on new stands. "It was the best practice of the year," said Zup. The little coach devoted his time to offensive drilling and used a great deal of straight football, in which Gene Schobinger starred. Zuppke said he never saw the big full back play so well.

"Do that Saturday and you'll be an All Western," said the coach after "Schobe" had plowed his way for a big gain.

One more scrimmage and Zuppke will content himself. Squier got in tonight after a rest and the Illini continue to show no scars. They are trying to live up to Zuppke's axiom: "We don't get hurt."

PURPLE DRILL FOR PURDUE.

Coach Fred J. Murphy put the Northwestern university football players through a severe scrimmage practice yesterday. Punting and falling on the ball also were practiced. Eight games have been played between the Northwestern university and Purdue university teams, which play at Evanston on Saturday. Five were won by Northwestern and three by Purdue.

NOTES OF BILLIARD ROOMS.

Lundgren defeated Dahl, 50 to 32, in the three cushion tournament at Roberts' room.

Klauber [30] defeated Cockey [25], 30 to 22, in the three cushion tournament at Ellison's. Norman and Atkins play tonight.

Kandul defeated Klatcher, 50 to 47, in the three cushion tournament at Weeghman's last night, going out in 106 innings. Morin and Hyatt will play tonight.

Thomas won the rapid fire three cushion tournament at Bensinger's Monroe street rooms, Woodward being second, Luby third, and Welch fourth.

Calvin Demarest and George Sutton, both former national champions, will play the first of their two games in the Champion Billiard Players' league at Leffingwell's Wilson avenue room tonight. The Chicagoans are leading in the race for the big prize and, as there is strong rivalry between them, a hard fought match is looked for.

Ward and Falk, the two scratchmen in the three cushion tournament at Mussey's, put up the best battle of the series last night, the former winning, 50 to 49, in eighty-four innings. Falk led, 20 to 8, at the end of the twentieth inning, but they were tied at 29 at the fiftieth. Falk had 44 points and made 3 and 2, but Ward made 2 and won. Leonard and Thomas tonight.

Reinberg's Men Take Games from Mohawks

REINBERG'S bowlers cleaned up in the North Avenue league last night, showing 1,054 in the opening game and averaging 1,012 for a triple victory over the Mohawks. Lellinger led with 231 flat, Al Sallander getting 204 1-3. The team produced two new records for the north side organization.

Another fast series cropped up in the Colonna, where the Rubinis won three games from the Edelweiss with an average of 971. Peter Peth chalked up 218, while Ted Penfold showed 202 for the losers. George Rost picked up 207 2-3 in the same league. The scores:

Football Suggestions for the Belgian Fund.

CHICAGO VS. MICHIGAN.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—[To the Editor.]—The suggestion of President James of the University of Illinois regarding a post-season game between the winner of the conference title and the strongest of either Yale, Harvard, or Princeton, is excellent.

But this fund would be raised all in the east. Why not give western college men a similar opportunity to aid in this good cause. Should the easterners not look favorably on the proposal why not have a game between Michigan and the conference champion, here in Chicago, where the greatest crowds could be accommodated.

Or if the eastern game is arranged and Chicago is not the western representative, a game between Michigan and Chicago would tax the capacity of Stagg field. The proceeds of the two games would be a huge gift to the unfortunate Belgians from American college athletes. A MICHIGAN GRAD.

MICHIGAN BEST IN WEST.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—[To the Editor.]—There is a strong feeling that the suggestion of a football game, to be played between east and west, the proceeds to go to the Belgian sufferers, is a most timely one.

The team of the University of Michigan has shown itself to be the strongest in the west and I would suggest that the game be played between Michigan and the winner of the game between Harvard and Yale.

This game, played in New York or Chicago, would not only settle the minds of the football enthusiasts, but would bring in a very large sum of money for a most praiseworthy charity. GRANVILLE W. BROWNING.

CHICAGO O. K. HELPS PLAN FOR FOOTBALL BENEFIT.

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Statements by Chicago and Iowa that they will not interpose a veto on the desire of the conference colleges to have a post-season football battle between the east and west have encouraged the Illinois proponents of the plan.

While Chicago's refusal to be considered as a possible western representative itself was regretted, the courtesy of the Maroons in declining to be a stumbling block was appreciated. Should Wisconsin, the third undefeated team in the conference race, take a similar stand there still would be a big chance for the game in the event that Illinois won the championship.

Northwestern, Purdue, and Minnesota have sent no opinion yet, but it is not believed that any of the trio would care to impose a veto on the proposition. It is estimated that $250,000 for the Belgians can be raised, not taking into account the moving picture rights and other concessions that would produce revenue.

The disposition of Harvard or Yale, it is pointed out, cannot be fairly told until the matter is formally presented. It is believed that if the western conference sanctioned a challenge public opinion in the east would do much to bring about the combat.

PROVISO DOWNS OAK PARK.

Proviso High school footballers defeated a mixed light and heavy weight team from Oak Park High yesterday, 29 to 0. After a scoreless first quarter Proviso scored a touchdown and a field goal in the second, one touchdown in the third, and two more in the fourth. Wright featured with three touchdowns, one being made after an eighty yard run.

Slosson Beats French Cueist.

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Slosson defeated Cassignol, the French billiardist, in a match at the Elks' club tonight, 400 to 334.

LEADING TEAMS OF CONFERENCE MEET SATURDAY

"Big Nine" Title Hinges on Maroon-Illini and Badger-Gopher Games.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Although Michigan is slated to meet Cornell at Ann Arbor and Notre Dame will clash with the Carlisle Indians at the Sox ball park on Saturday, the struggle between Chicago and Illinois at Urbana and the annual match between Wisconsin and Minnesota at Minneapolis will take precedence over the intersectional contests.

Chicago, Illinois, and Wisconsin are the three undefeated "Big Nine" elevens. Although Minnesota was beaten by Illinois on Oct. 31, the Gophers can be depended upon to give the Badgers a great fight, as a victory over the Wisconsin eleven would again put the Minnesota aggregation in the running if the Maroons or Badgers win from the strong Illinois eleven.

Yale Meets Princeton.

While the west will command the interest of fans hereabouts, the Yale-Princeton game at Princeton and Harvard's annual clash with Brown at Cambridge are important. After suffering a decisive defeat by Michigan, Pennsylvania will attempt to retrieve some of its lost laurels against Dartmouth at Philadelphia.

Meeting Chicago on their own gridiron and with their team in better shape than the Maroons, the Illini should have the edge when the initial whistle is blown at Urbana. This year's Orange and Blue aggregation is one of the best developed at Urbana in the last decade, and unless the team takes a decided slump, Illinois should journey to Madison on Nov. 21 to meet the Badgers with a clean slate.

Illinois Attack Strong.

Illinois possesses a combination of attack which is hard to check. Coach Zuppke has evolved an offense which embodies the best plays of the old game and some intricate formations made possible by the changes in the rules. The team has been coached to use certain forms of attack in different parts of the field and it has the necessary punch to drive the ball over the goal line when the team is close to an opponent's registering mark.

Besides being well versed in both old and new football, Illinois has three open field runners who will cause the Maroons a lot of trouble. Pogue, Clark, and Macomber are a trio of backs superior to any in the conference. These players are sure handlers of the ball and they take advantage of openings with surprising quickness.

Badgers Face Crisis.

With a strong line, undoubtedly the strongest forward wall in the conference from tackle to tackle, a mediocre pair of ends, a good quarter back, and an average trio of backs, Wisconsin will make a great effort to win from Minnesota in a game which either means a chance for the conference title or the elimination of the Badgers from the race.

Wisconsin's scoreless tie with Chicago showed the Badgers will be a hard team to beat if a back field can be developed which will make ground when distance is needed. The present Wisconsin backs, with the exception of Bellows, are of only average ability. They do not take advantage of opportunities with the quickness and drive so essential to success. They are easily stopped because they lack the aggressiveness to gain even a few yards when opposition is met.

Despite their defeats, Notre Dame and the Carlisle Indians should play an interesting game at Comiskey park. Notre Dame came through its clash with the Army in good shape, and Coach Harper should place his strongest eleven on the field.

CENTRAL A. A. U. AWARDS INDOOR TITLE CONTESTS.

Awards of the indoor championship meetings of the Central Amateur Athletic union were made at the meeting of the board of managers last night at the Hotel Sherman. The track and field meet and the wrestling bouts were given to the Illinois Athletic club, which also secured the swimming events with the exception of the 220 and 440 yard championships, which were awarded the Hamilton club.

The boxing championships went to the Cleveland A. C. and the tug of war to the First Regiment Athletic association. The basketball championships will be divided between the Cincinnati Gymnastic and Athletic club and the First Regiment Athletic association. No bids were received for the gymnastic championships. Dates for all the events will be selected later.

Twenty-eight delegates were present. The only representative from outside Chicago was Walter H. Liginger of Milwaukee.

Christian Christensen of the Danish Athletic club announced that a five mile individual and team race would be staged by the club on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 26, at Grant park.

ANOTHER HIKER IN CHICAGO.

Oscar Lockau, former wrestler and physical instructor at the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A., who is walking from Cincinnati to San Francisco, reached Chicago yesterday after being ten days on the road. He called on Mayor Harrison, who O. K.'d his papers. At Danville he was the guest of Uncle Joe Cannon. Lockau will travel along the Lincoln highway and make reports to the Cole Automobile company.

Marksmen to Meet Tonight.

MINORS TAKE FIRM STAND WITH MAJORS

Affirm Their Allegiance by Unanimous Vote at Omaha.

O. B. LEADERS ON HAND

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—A formal and unanimous declaration of allegiance to organized baseball featured the doings of the minor league ball magnates at the opening of their annual meeting here today.

As soon as President Mike Sexton of the National Association of Minor Leagues could assemble his men the resolution was offered. Some one moved to adopt it by a roll call vote. Twenty-four of the thirty-nine minor league presidents responded to the roll call and every one voted in favor of the resolution. Only twenty-six of the leagues had representatives in the city, and the two who didn't respond to roll call were not in the assembly room.

No Discussion on Motion.

The whole thing went off as if it had been rehearsed, and typewritten copies of the resolution were handed to the press immediately. If there was any discussion it had taken place previously to the meeting, which was open to the public.

The formal resolution knocked in the head all rumors that certain minor leagues would cause an upheaval at the meeting and demand concessions from the major leagues. It was so strong that it seemed all were determined to fight the Federal league to the finish regardless of cost.

Chairman Herrmann of the national commission and his co-worker, President Johnson of the American league, arrived on an early morning train and mingled with the "small fry" previous to the session. Herrmann attended the meeting, but took no part in it.

Clean Up Routine Business.

As soon as the resolution was adopted the magnates formally went into the business before them. There was only time for the reading of Secretary John H. Farrell's report before a recess was taken for lunch. Another session took place in the afternoon at which committees were appointed for various duties. The meeting was adjourned until 2 o'clock tomorrow, when the report of the committees will be heard and acted upon.

In appointing the committee on revision of the constitution there was considerable discussion indicating that several of the magnates had loads of complaint to make and many changes to suggest. It was apparent that these complaints were on the working agreement between the minors and major leagues so there may be some changes made in the constitution tomorrow which will strain the relations between the two organizations in spite of the strong resolution adopted today.

No Peace This Year.

The general impression, however, is that there is no chance for peace in baseball this year, and if there is any meaning in the meeting of Garry Herrmann with some of the Federal league magnates in Chicago recently it is being kept secret. Neither Herrmann nor Johnson would discuss the situation today.

In the afternoon both the commission members were in the café of the hotel where the meeting was being held. Several of the minor league men were with them when members of the press advanced and put this question to Johnson:

"Do you think there is any chance for peace with the Federal league?"

"Mr. Herrmann is spokesman for the national commission. You had better ask him," was Johnson's reply.

The same question was then put to the Cincinnati magnate, and his only reply was as follows: "The beer in this town is very bad. I'll have to switch."

Johnson left on the evening train for Chicago, but Herrmann stayed over and promised to address the minor magnates at the meeting tomorrow afternoon.

GEORGE STONE WANTS JOB AS UMPIRE NEXT SEASON.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Organized ball received an application today from a bank president who wants a job as an umpire. The applicant was George Stone, former batting star of the American league, who led that organization in 1906 with an average of .358. At the time he was with the St. Louis Browns.

Stone came today from his home in Coleridge, Neb., where he is head of the town bank as well as the owner of some of Nebraska's best corn land.

"I'd like to get back in the old game," said Stone, "and although I have played some with our town boys, I know I couldn't make good as a player any more."

ORIOLE STAR KILLED BY AUTO

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 10.—Henry Reitz, at one time a member of the famous Baltimore Orioles' infield, was killed here last night by an automobile. Reitz began playing professional ball in Sacramento in 1890 and a few years later went to the big league, with the Baltimore Orioles. He was a member of the Brouthers-Reitz-Jennings-McGraw infield in 1896-1897.

Federals and O. B. Meet Tomorrow in Peace Session

Factions Expect to Settle Differences at Conference Here.

BY SAM WELLER.

Whether or not there is to be peace in the baseball world will be definitely decided tomorrow when the leading powers of the Federal league and of organized baseball will gather for a conference in this city. When the big talkfest is over it is expected that at least an official outline of the general plans for the revamping of the baseball map will be ready for the anxious public.

President Gilmore of the Federal league is authority for the statement that the peace advocates will come to a final decision tomorrow.

"We always have been willing to meet organized baseball half way," said Gilmore last night. "Our 'peace' committee, Presidents Weeghman, Ward, and Robertson, told Chairman Herrmann of the national commission just how far we would go and what concessions we would make to effect a compromise. Mr. Herrmann in turn told them just what organized baseball is willing to do to end the present unpleasantness, and, as neither side seemed dissatisfied with the demands of the other, it looks as if a working agreement may be reached.

Federal League to Stick.

"There is absolutely no truth in the rumor that the Federal league will disappear if a compromise is reached. There will be a Federal league next year, and it will be a major league. Of course we may have to rearrange our circuit if an agreement is entered into with organized baseball. But it also is likely that the circuit of at least one of the rival major leagues will be switched slightly to eliminate the three-clubs-to-a-town tangle. I am not at liberty to state the terms by which we may reach an agreement. That part of it may come out Thursday."

Garry Herrmann is expected to leave the minor league meeting at Omaha today so as to be on hand for the confab with the Federal leaguers here tomorrow. President Johnson of the American league started for Chicago last night. He also will be included in the conference which is expected to bring the baseball war to an abrupt finish.

Changes in Circuits.

Gilmore's statement that there will be a Federal league next year destroys one of the methods by which enthusiastic guessers have solved the problem of the superabundance of alleged major league clubs. But when Gilmore added that there might be some changes in his circuit he verified the peace solutions which have been most credited. A little shifting about would make room for three leagues without invading to any great extent the territory held sacred by the majors.

It is not likely that O. B. will consent to rank the Federal as a real major league under any conditions, but there is another way out of the difficulty. It is understood that the International league and the American association are to be given a new classification which will make them practically equal to the majors. No players are to be drafted from their teams, and with that allowance it is probable that the Federals would not object to being classed with them.

Time to Work Out Details.

Even if a truce is reached at The Hague session here tomorrow, it will take some time to work out the details of whatever pact is entered into. Probably the hardest part of the work will be the assigning of players who jumped to the Federals last season. However, that angle was thrashed out thoroughly at the meeting between Herrmann and the Federal committee on Monday, and that is one of the matters Herrmann was forced to hold off on until he had had further consultation with the powers of organized baseball.

CUBS GET SEVEN BY DRAFT: WHITE SOX DRAW ONLY ONE.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The list of drafted players of 1914 was made public for the first time today when the annual report of the National association was handed out by Secretary John H. Farrell. It showed that the National league had obtained twenty-eight players and the American league fifteen by that means. The Chicago Cubs secured seven players and the White Sox only one.

All but two of this lot have been named before. The one obtained by the south siders was First Baseman Brief of the Kansas City club. The seven procured by the Cubs were: McConnell of Buffalo, Adams of Indianapolis, Fisher of Toronto, Starridge of San Francisco, Robbins of Saginaw, Schorr of South Bend, and Buckles of Medicine Hat.

The two not previously known are Buckles and Robbins. Both are southpaw pitchers.

Day's News in the Local Real Estate Market.

Edgar M. Snow & Co. have closed another important downtown loan, which is of much interest because of the fact the interstate rate is 5½ per cent. The loan is for $95,000, runs five years, and is secured by the property at 520-24 South State street, east front, between Congress and Harrison streets. The lot is 47x101 feet, and is improved with a two story brick building.

An interesting north shore acre transaction has been closed comprising the sale by Albert Silverman to Walter H. Miller of Chicago of eighty acres at Everett, west of Lake Forest. It is part of 120 acres owned by Mr. Silverman and leased to Mr. Miller for ninety-nine years, with option to purchase, which has been exercised by Mr. Miller.

The transaction is of special interest for the reason it is thought to be the first ninety-nine years' lease of farm property every executed, at least in this vicinity. The lease was made seven years ago on the reported basis of $150 an acre. E. B. Woolf & Co. represented Mr. Silverman, and George W. Murry Mr. Miller.

Big South Side Deal.

A big south side apartment house deal has just been closed whereby the twenty-three apartment building at 4031 to 4033 Drexel boulevard has been sold by Bertha Hobscheid to Lewis Horwitz. A nominal consideration is named in the transfer, but the actual price is said to have been in the neighborhood of $75,000, the transfer being subject to an incumbrance of $31,000.

Mr. Horwitz has in turn sold the building to Ruth Anderson of Chicago, subject to incumbrances aggregating $45,000, taking in trade several pieces of clear Gary, Ind., property and a clear 645 acre ranch in Morgan county, Tenn., near the town of Sunbright. K. R. Beak of E. B. Woolf & Co. negotiated the deal.

The high grade six apartment building at 1555 to 1557 East Sixty-first street, being 125 feet west of Jackson park, lot 50x125 feet, has been sold by Edward G. Carter to William Bartholomae, the consideration being nominal, but the property is said to have been valued at $30,000. H. W. Sisson & Co. represented both parties.

Farm Traded for Flat.

The same brokers have also recently traded for Herbert A. Audiss and Isabelle L. Audiss the three story six apartment building at 4445 and 4447 Clifton avenue for a 140 acre improved farm near Paw Paw, Mich., owned by Sadie J. Hill of Los Angeles, Cal.

The property at the northwest corner of Homan avenue and West Sixteenth street, lot 48x125 feet, east front, with apartment house improvements, has been sold by Adolph Cohen to Peter Meyer for a reported consideration of $41,000, subject to an incumbrance of $29,000.

E. G. Elcock appeared as the purchaser in three transfers of Twenty-sixth street property at the southeast corner of La Salle street filed for record. Altogether 123 feet of frontage with a depth of 99 feet was acquired, nominal considerations being given in each instance. He acquired 43 feet at the corner from Annie Hale and others, 40 feet adjoining from Magdalena Kilberry, and the remaining 40 feet from George W. Tracey.

Buys on Buena Avenue.

Michael J. Coffey has purchased from De Forrest A. Matteson and others the property on Buena avenue 130 feet east of Sheridan road, lot 50x160 feet, south front, with flat improvements, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $19,000.

Another Lake View transfer made a matter of record was the sale by Nathan Kern to Charles E. Hendricks of the property on Gary place 250 feet east of Broadway, lot 50x120 feet, south front, the consideration in the deed being $10, subject to an incumbrance of $12,500.

There was filed for record the lease by Herbert J. Corhaim and John Spalo to Frank B. Ray of the property on Grand boulevard 627 feet south of Thirty-seventh street, lot 66 feet, west front, Vernon avenue, and the improvements thereon, for which he secures an option of purchase.

Leases for Ten Years.

The lease is for ten years from April 1, last, the lessee giving $1,500 in cash, for which he secures an option of purchase, in addition to which he is to pay an annual rent of $3,000 for the first year, $3,500 for the second year, and $4,000 for the remaining eight years. He is also to pay water rates, taxes, etc.

The Chicago Title and Trust company is trustee in a loan of $42,500 five years at 6 per cent to Thomas Conran, secured by the property at the northeast corner of Albany and Leland avenues, 89x125 feet, with flat improvements.

Another lease has been made by Goldstine & Co. in the new building at the southwest corner of North and Fortieth avenues. The L-shaped store is rented to Scoofakes Bros., confectionery and ice cream, for a term of ten years, at $32,000 for the term. This is an average of $270 a month and is said to be a record price for inside stores in that district.

COUNTY REALTY BOARD NOW 1,003

Increase in Membership Since First of Year Said to Have Been 400.

LARGEST IN COUNTRY.

The announcement was made at the weekly luncheon of the Cook County Real Estate board at the Hotel Sherman yesterday that its membership had passed the 1,000 mark, the present membership being 1,003. Robert E. L. Brooks, chairman of the membership committee, reported sixty-seven new applications during the last two weeks. The increase in membership since the first of the year is stated to have been about 400 and its present membership makes it the largest real estate body in this country.

It also was stated that 2,500 invitations had been sent out in connection with the annual banquet of the board to be held at the Hotel La Salle on the night of Dec. 8, and that among the list of speakers from whom acceptances have been received are Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa and John T. McCutcheon of THE TRIBUNE. County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer is to act as toastmaster.

Editor Defends Germany.

Dr. Michael Singer, editor of the Illinois Staats Zeitung, who talked on "The Conflict in Europe: Its Reasons and Possible Consequences," declared that whatever was the outcome of the war, it teaches a great lesson to this country, that in order to exist it must provide for an army and navy sufficiently strong to successfully cope with any hostile combination that may be formed against it. This country, he declared, was on the threshold of great events and must prepare itself for any possible eventuality if it is to realize its manifest destiny.

He asserted the war was due to the ambition of Russia and to England's jealousy of the wonderful commercial and industrial growth of Germany. He insisted that the kaiser and the German people desired peace and exhausted every possible effort to maintain it and only resorted to war when it was forced upon them by those nations which sought its downfall.

He asserted the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand was unquestionably inspired by Russia and was brought about by the Servian authorities in response to the Russian wishes.

Says Russia Prepared.

He said there was no doubt the latter country had been actively preparing for the conflict for some time prior to the assassination, proof of which, he said, is found in the fact that when war was declared it was found it had massed troops on the German and Austrian frontiers, which must have taken at least three months to have mobilized and placed there.

He spoke bitterly of England's connection with the war, saying he might have had some respect for that nation if it frankly had stated its desire to crush Germany because of its wonderful prosperity. He declared that for four centuries England had done nothing but despoil other nations of the fruits of their labors.

Arthur C. Lueders was toastmaster and the attendance was over 150.

BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL NEWS

FURTHER BREAK IN GRAIN MARTS

Local Longs Sell Out Lines in Absence of Effective Outside Support.

CORN PRICES DECLINE.

Wheat prices suffered further losses yesterday. The buying demand was slow, and local holders dumped a lot of wheat on the decline. The buying was scattered, while nearly all the leading concerns were sellers at one time or another, Chapin, Wagner, Armour, Lamson, and King-Farnum leading. Logan-Bryan and Bartlett-Frtzier were early buyers. On the late break there was some covering by shorts. Resting prices were 1@1⅛c to 1¼c off.

Liverpool prices showed a gain of ½d since Saturday, and spot wheat prices were quoted ½@2d up, with some pressure to sell American winter wheats and a scarcity of Manitoba offerings. Foreign crop conditions are mixed. In Russia wheat supplies are plentiful, but the impossibility of shipping any big quantity at present has checked business.

Smaller Receipts Predicted.

Many commission men look for a falling off in primary receipts, but so far there are few indications of a decrease in the movement. Yesterday the primary arrivals were 2,815,000 bu, compared to 1,747,000 bu a year ago. The receipts at Chicago are heavy, 440 cars being inspected in yesterday, and northwest arrivals were 727 cars, against 816 cars a year ago. Winter wheat markets generally had free receipts. Minneapolis showed a little falling off in the movement, and country elevator stocks are understood to be much smaller than a year ago.

For three days Minneapolis stocks increased only 65,000 bu, but Duluth stocks gained nearly 900,000 bu for two days. At Winnipeg the tendency to hold wheat continues to be reflected in the receipts, which were 425 cars, or a little less than half as much as a year ago. Clearances were 595,000 bu. Total export sales were 2,000,000 bu in all positions.

Freight Situation Easier.

Larger clearances are expected the next few weeks as there will be a big number of boats available, both at Atlantic and at gulf ports. In fact, the Liverpool market has been affected to some extent by the prospect of an easier freight situation. The reported destruction of a German cruiser in the Indian ocean is expected to relieve apprehension of people in shipping circles.

World's stocks decreased 1,140,000 bu for the week, compared to 9,885,000 bu increase for the corresponding week last year. The European visible decreased 3,000,000 bu. Italian reports said high prices for foodstuffs prevailed and that it had been suggested the government prohibit the exportation of grain until Italy had imported a sufficient quantity for her own needs.

Cash Corn Prices Slump.

A further slump in cash corn prices affected futures and prices for the day were 1c to 1@1⅛c lower. New corn was 1½@3c lower and old corn was 1½c down. The demand was fair and sales were 175,000 bu, including 100,000 bu to exporters. The cash markets at other points were easy, and with a continuance of prevailing weather conditions it is expected the movement will increase materially.

Receipts were 361 cars with 314 cars inspected yesterday. At western points receipts were 743,000 bu, compared to 437,000 bu a year ago. Corn cables were ⅛d lower from Liverpool. Argentine markets were firm, due to the continued big demand for export. Weather conditions were ideal over the belt, and predictions were for fair and colder weather as a rule. Eastern reports say stocks are light.

Oats Suffer Bad Losses.

Oats followed the general trend of other grains, closing ⅝c lower. There was a good deal of changing, longs changing from December to May, while cash houses were fair buyers of the December. The cash market was ¼@1c lower, and sales were 225,000 bu for domestic account.

The export demand has been slow the last few days. Country offerings are reported light, but primary receipts continue large, 1,030,000 bu, compared to 691,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were 31,000 bu. Receipts inspected yesterday were 204 cars.

November Lard Is Firm.

Provisions were lower with the exception of November lard, which closed unchanged. Hog prices at some outside markets were lower, and higher at others. Kansas City reported a fair buying demand from the east. Receipts at western points were 71,800, compared to 107,100 a year ago.

Lard prices at Liverpool were unchanged, but meats were 1s higher. Receipts of products were 14 cars and shipments were 160 cars. Cash offerings were reported light and the demand was moderate.

Rye Market Uneven.

Rye met with a fair demand from millers at steady to ½c higher prices, while exporters bid 2½c lower. Sales were made at $1.03@1.03½ for No. 2 and 98c for No. 4. Receipts, 10 cars.

Barley was steady to 1c lower, with malting at 63@75½c; feed, 60@61c, and screenings, 52@55c. Receipts, 46 cars.

Timothy seed was steady at $3.75@5.25 for cash. Clover seed was steady at $10.00@14.00 for cash.

Duluth flax closed 3@4c lower, with cash on track, $1.44; November, $1.43½; December, $1.44; May, $1.49. Receipts, 49 cars. Minneapolis was 3c lower at $1.42½@1.44½ for cash on track. Receipts, 37 cars. Winnipeg closed 4⅝@5¼c lower, with November, $1.22¼; December, $1.21, and May, $1.27⅝. Receipts, 18 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

"There is little Argentine corn contracted to come to New York," said James Simpson of New York, who was here yesterday. "War risk insurance adds about 5c per bu to the price and the corn now would cost approximately 80c at New York to arrive in December or January. It is out of line for shipment into New England, as the cost laid down at New England points would be about 86c, or nearly 10c per bushel above the price of new yellow corn for December-January. The entire east is bare of corn. We have never seen stocks of retail dealers so small. "The east, exclusive of seaboard markets, has abnormally small stocks of oats and the dealers are under necessity of buying. A hand to mouth policy has been pursued for two months. General buying for all months ahead is now in order. Europe will want our oats continuously and we are likely to see a serious scarcity before our next crop is raised. The Argentine oats crop has been seriously damaged and the competition from that country will be less of a factor than had been reckoned on. Our visible will begin decreasing within a week and during December the weekly decreases will probably be material. With the beginning of decreasing stocks we should see advancing prices."

Broomhall cabled the following reports: "France—Owing to the backwardness of the seeding for wheat and other grains and the importance attached to this the government is providing seed to farmers where needed and releasing from the army farm workers. Russia—Crop and weather news are generally favorable. Prices for old reserves are not high, but the question of shipments is still a matter of serious moment. Germany—Official circles here report that the Russian invasion formerly damaged immense quantities of agricultural produce in eastern regions and they are again invading on a broad scale. Argentina—Weather more favorable for wheat, being warmer over an extended area. Corn in both Buenos Aires and Rosario closed slightly under opening prices, but the tendency is strong, with foreigners buying heavily. The net advance for the day was 2¼@3c. European visible now 64,852,000 bu, against 67,912,000 last week, showing a decrease of 3,060,000 bu. Last week there was an increase of 3,356,000 bu and last year an increase of 3,900,000 bu, when the total amounted to 81,000,000 bu."

The following table, compiled by the Daily Trade Bulletin, shows supplies of breadstuffs afloat for Europe and in store in Europe, America, Argentine, and Australia on the dates named:

	Nov. 1, '14. Bu.	Oct. 1, '14. Bu.	Nov. 1, '13. Bu.
Afloat for Europe	30,400,000	30,900,000	28,930,000

In store—Canada	43,173,000	36,674,000	44,624,000
Totals	234,041,000	204,743,000	228,792,000

The increase during October was equal to 29,298,000 bu, compared with an increase of 57,017,000 bu in September and an increase of 38,424,000 bu in October, 1913. The increase in the United States during the last month was 21,749,000 bu, and in Canada 6,499,000 bu.

The cash demand was not so active yesterday here, but there was a good demand at Kansas City, sales of 550,000 bu wheat to exporters being reported there. At the seaboard there also was a good business. Local dealers said there were good sales late Monday afternoon estimated at about 55 loads, mostly via the gulf. At Minneapolis and Duluth cash prices were firm relatively. Total sales Monday in all positions were placed as high as 2,000,000 bu and about that much was claimed to have been done yesterday. The seaboard made big charters for grain Monday, about 2,000,000 bu. Local sales were 265,000 bu, with 250,000 bu for export. In the afternoon a good inquiry was reported.

Bradstreet's report of the available supply last week shows the following increases:

	1914.	1913.
Wheat, east of Rockies	2,068,000	683,000
Wheat, west of Rockies	245,000	*79,000

Oats	1,049,000	378,000

*Decrease.

The Kansas City board of trade has adopted an amendment to the commission rule, raising the charge for handling cash corn from ¼c to ⅜c per bu. The vote was 128 to 4 in favor of the change. It is understood the St. Louis exchange is favoring an increase to conform with the Kansas City rate. Recently a proposition to increase rates here was voted down.

The cash corn was fair yesterday, sales being 175,000 bu, including 100,000 bu to exporters. Outside markets were easy as a rule, St. Louis being unchanged to 3c lower. Prices for new corn were 1½@3c lower and old was 1½c off. Country offerings are increasing a little. Oats were ½@1c lower, with sales of 225,000 bu.

Wheat traders were generally of the opinion that the decline in wheat prices was due principally to an overbought market condition. A good many local longs sold out on the bulge. The selling of wheat was easier to trace than the buying, as at times nearly all the leading concerns were on the selling side.

Charters reported were 100,000 bu wheat to Buffalo at 1⅝c and 240,000 bu wheat at 1¼c; 850,000 bu wheat to load and hold at Buffalo at 2¼c and 1,400,000 bu at Duluth and Fort William for winter storage at Buffalo at 2½c.

P. J. McSorley of St. Louis was a visitor on change yesterday. He reported a good cash trade at St. Louis, but a slow speculative business. Some of the St. Louis mills are doing a good business in flour for export.

Logan-Bryan had a message from Portland, Ore., saying a cargo of wheat, half club and half blue stem, sold on Monday at 50s, the highest price in twenty-five years.

Liverpool was ¼@2d higher for spot wheat, with a good demand. Futures were ½d higher than last Saturday. Corn was ½d lower than Monday.

The flour trade locally is improving to some extent. There is a fair export inquiry and a moderate domestic demand.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 440 cars; corn, 314 cars; oats, 204 cars; rye, 10 cars; barley, 46 cars.

STEEL TONNAGE SHOWS DECLINE

Unfilled Orders in October Fall Off; Sentiment Is Not Much Affected.

TRACTION REPORT FAIR

The unfilled tonnage report of the United States Steel corporation for the month ended Oct. 31 shows a decrease of 326,570 tons compared with unfilled orders on hand Sept. 30. While this was an unfavorable exhibit, sentiment did not seem to be adversely affected.

According to general reports, the corporation is now operating at about 40 per cent of capacity, and this is regarded as being the bottom. In consequence, any activity should make for an increase in volume, and such a situation has the usual effect of causing the market to discount the current situation and look forward to the improvement which it is thought must necessarily follow.

Chicago Railways Position.

Henry A. Blair, chairman of the board of directors and president of the Chicago Railways company, said yesterday in speaking of earnings:

"Our traffic is now breaking about even compared with last year. It will vary from day to day a fraction of 1 per cent according to special conditions. This record we consider fine, since 1913 was the banner year for the company. Our fiscal year will end on Jan. 31 next. Our gross income will be slightly lower than the previous year.

"But owing to a decrease in operating expenses our net profits are ahead of last year and will so show for the fiscal period. Furthermore, we have spent over $4,000,000 in building twenty miles of track and in new equipment, the latter amounting to about 200 cars. These latter cost $6,000 apiece, so that the new car item totals around $1,200,000.

"We have been enabled to meet and overcome the increased interest charge of 5 per cent on capital expenditures and we still shall show a small gain in net. If traffic had shown normal improvement the results for the year would have been highly satisfactory.

"Meanwhile the city's share of 55 per cent of the net receipts will show no diminution, since, as I indicated, the net profits will be slightly larger than the previous year."

McAdoo Wields Big Stick?

Information reached Chicago that the secretary of the treasury had brought the influence of the treasury department to bear on the banks of the western reserve districts and that the $50,000,000 to be subscribed to the cotton pool by banks outside New York City and the cotton states had all been promised except about $6,000,000.

Of the $50,000,000 the Chicago federal reserve district was apportioned $20,000,000. Chicago bank took their allotment, $12,000,000, but Milwaukee, Detroit, and Indianapolis have been reported to be holding off. Minneapolis declined to do anything. That was the status until the secretary of the treasury, who also is chairman of the federal reserve board, began to exert pressure, which must have been strong to have secured promises of about $35,000,000 that the banks outside Chicago had indicated no desire to subscribe for.

If the treasury department is right in its assertion that the $100,000,000 to be raised outside the cotton states is practically completed it will be a surprise to New York bankers. Only yesterday they were reported as being of the belief that the pool plan would not get any further than the infancy stage. They thought that inasmuch as the principal banks in a large number of northern cities were unwilling to advance funds, the plan would not become effective.

Boston banks have been extremely backward, as have those of Philadelphia. The principal reason for the Boston banks not desiring to participate is that a large number of cotton mills are located throughout New England and they desire to secure the product for manufacture at the lowest possible price a pound.

Local Money Market.

Local bankers continue to note further easing in money conditions. Borrowers have reached the conclusion that with the opening of the reserve bank a large volume of funds, estimated at $30,000,000, will be liberated and that rates for money must reflect this.

Aside from that, however, there is a general condition leading to easier credit. For nearly two years speculative activities other than in securities have been held in check, and since Aug. 1 all expansion has been brought to a standstill. The stopping of new enterprises has had the effect of lessening the demand for accommodation, and with the crop moving pinch over and more money in sight and with borrowers holding off there is nothing left for the banks to do but to lend more freely.

In New York a few call loans were reported at 4½ per cent. This in the face of a closed stock exchange is pronounced evidence of easier condition.

Kresge Sales Grow.

The S. S. Kresge company reports October sales as amounting to $1,453,586, against $1,175,067 in October, 1913. The gain is 23.70 per cent.

For the ten months ended Oct. 31 sales were $12,108,210, being an increase of $2,249,510, or 22.81 per cent, over the corresponding period last year.

Hibernian Banking Association.

The opening day of the Hibernian Banking association in the bank's new quarters in the Continental and Commercial National Bank building attracted a crowd of 75,000 visitors, according to estimates of the bank's officials. The large general banking room was not only filled, but crowded.

Linseed Earnings Off.

The annual report of the American Linseed company showed a surplus for the year ended Sept. 30, 1914, of $306,646, being equal to 1.83 per cent on the $16,750,000 preferred stock. This compares with 2.96 per cent the previous year. The company's gross earnings showed a decrease of $731,025, or 27½ per cent. The figures:

Crex Carpet Passes Dividend.

The Crex Carpet company has passed its dividend. The last disbursement was 3 per cent on June 15, 1914. It was said by the company that the passing of the dividend was due to the unfavorable existing conditions.

Dividends Declared.

The Canadian Pacific railway company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent from revenue and a dividend of ½ of 1 per cent from land sales on its common stock, payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 1.

The Thompson-Starrett company declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent on its preferred stock, payable Nov. 14 to stock of record Nov. 7.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS IN FINANCIAL WORLD.

Gold Fields Consolidated Mines company reports for the quarter ended Sept. 30 gross income of $918,068 and operating costs of $516,878, leaving net for the quarter $401,120.

The requiar quarterly meeting of the directors of the Quaker Oats company, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed until Nov. 17, owing to inability of several members to be present.

Local Dealings Show Improvement.

There was improvement in trading through the committee of the Chicago stock exchange, and some prices advanced well over the closing quotations of July 30. The demand for stocks and bonds, particularly the latter, have exceeded the supply of offerings filed with the committee for sale. Bids for various issues of the bonds on which minimum prices were lowered recently yesterday advanced quotations ¼@½ point on an average throughout the active list.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The reopening of the New York cotton exchange for general trading within the next few days was forecast today by the announcement of the incorporation of the Cotton Trading corporation, a syndicate which will take over December contracts at 9 cents a pound. Although a date for reopening the exchange has not been officially announced, a prominent official of the exchange said today there was no reason why business should not begin by the first of next week. The Cotton Trading corporation, which is a part of the corporation-syndicate plan for taking over contracts which have remained outstanding since the exchanges were closed on account of the war, has been fully organized for business. Its president is S. T. Hubbard, a former president of the cotton exchange. All signatures needed for the corporation-syndicate agreements have been obtained, it is stated, and the plan is expected to be put into operation as soon as the details have been passed upon by the fifteen banks and trust companies which are financing the plans. Port receipts today, 73,824 bales. Stocks at all United States ports, 907,991 bales. Interior receipts, 44,918 bales. Exports today, 18,946 bales; so far this season, 752,183 bales. New Orleans spot firm, 7 9-16c; sales, 2,575 bales.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 10.—COTTON—Spot firm; sales, 1,125 bales; middling, 7 9-16c.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 10.—COTTON—Spot in fair demand; American middling, 4.66d. The sales of the day were 10,000 bales, including 8,300 American, and 500 for speculation and export. Receipts, 33,619 bales, including 32,033 American. Futures closed quiet.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The coffee market continued quiet today. Comparatively few offers are being received from Brazil, but shippers in the primary markets are said to have accepted bids at slight concessions, and buyers are operating only for immediate requirements. Spot values here are generally under a parity, however, and holders remain steady in their views, with Rio 7s quoted at about 6⅝, and Santos 4s at 10½c on the average. Liquidation through the voluntary committee of the exchange continues on a very moderate scale, sales of 2,250 bags being reported today, with December closing at 5.55@5.60c; March, 5.90@6.00c; May, 6.10@6.15c, and July, 6.85@6.95c. The remaining December interest is estimated in some quarters at about 150,000 bags. SUGAR—Raw firm; molasses, 3.36c; centrifugal, 4.01c. Refined steady.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—SUGAR—The following prices were quoted by wholesale dealers per 100 lbs: Cut loaf, H. & E., $7.25; powdered, standard, $6.70; eastern granulated, $6.15; beet, granulated, $5.75; extra "C," $5.00; canary, $5.50.

RAILWAYS, EXPRESS, MARINE.

Complaints of dangerous crossings filed against different railroads were heard yesterday afternoon by the Illinois public utilities commission. The citizens of Joliet, Ill., and the commissioners of highways of that city complained against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé and the Chicago and Alton railroads and petitioned the commission for a subway at South Chicago street where it is crossed by the main line of the two railroads. The Sixth and Seventh Ward Improvement associations of Joliet also was a complainant in the case.

Ralph J. Dady of Gurnee, Ill., complained against an alleged dangerous grade crossing at the intersection of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad company's tracks and a public highway in Gurnee.

After hearing the complaints the commission took them under advisement.

Discrimination in rates on coal from eastern points works an unnecessary hardship on consumers in certain localities, according to C. A. Eastman of the Eastman-Barber Coal company, who testified yesterday before H. E. Kelly, special examiner of the interstate commerce commission. A proposed increase of 25 cents a ton in the rate of anthracite coal shipped to Chicago is the basis of the hearing. Members of the Chicago Coal Dealers' association and officials of independent concerns protested to the commission and the rate was suspended. Representatives of companies in Iowa and Nebraska have also complained over an increase because they base their rates on those of Chicago firms.

Representatives of railroads who testified, however, argue that an increase of 25 cents a ton in the Chicago rate would remove discrimination because in that case the rates would be the same. The railroads affected by the increase are the Erie, the Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley, Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson, and the Philadelphia and Reading.

U. S. CAPITAL CALLED TIMID

Leading South American Paper Cites Needs of Trade Extension.

PAST ERRORS SHOWN.

South American countries are looking to the United States for supplies since the war in Europe started, according to an editorial in La Prensa of Oct. 8, which was received in Chicago yesterday. North Americans are overlooking a large volume of trade because they have not the patience to accommodate the merchants of the south who want to buy from them, the newspaper says.

La Prensa, published at Buenos Aires, Argentina, is the leading newspaper of South America.

The editorial, a part of which follows, dealt at length with the business relations of the two countries:

"It is no exaggeration to state that never in the history of the Argentine nation has the condition and future of its foreign trade occupied so large a share of the public attention as it does today. We have large crops to export and are face to face with a paralization almost total in its extent, the duration of which is dependent upon the European war, which has deprived us of two-thirds of our accustomed steamship movement.

Need Manufactured Products.

"We require manufactured products which our manufacturing industry does not yet produce, and the cessation of importation, which is beginning to make itself felt in our markets, is a new factor in the acute crisis which at present afflicts us.

"Among the countries, both European and American, that might supply the lack of foreign manufactures and consume Argentine products, the United States occupies undoubtedly the first place. Her influence in our markets might become very important.

"Several factors will intervene to prevent this commercial development from being as rapid and as efficient as is desired by both countries. In the first place, banking facilities for paying for the merchandise and the produce are undoubtedly lacking, as it is notorious that our trade with the United States is carried out principally by means of drafts on London and vice versa.

American Capital Timid.

"American capitalists are too timid; they lack the experience of the foreign trade struggle, in which it is necessary to risk much to assure future gains, and in addition they are prevented by the vast requirements of money in their own territory, their colonies, and the countries of the Gulf of Mexico. Even Canada has an enormous economic dependence upon the United States.

"American capital, in addition, lacks sufficient audacity for foreign trade—an audacity, nevertheless, which is an outstanding characteristic of its internal activities.

"The North Americans have started badly in South America, fostering distrust and hostility to their trade and their capital by means of the abuses and violences which unscrupulous traders and speculators imposed upon Cuba, Central America, Venezuela, Mexico, and Peru on account of the unsuccessful enPeru on account of unsuccessful diplomatic claims.

Wilson Policy Under Fire.

"In the second place the North Americans should throw overboard another failing, which gave rise tothe mistake of President Wilson in his much criticised speech at Mobile: The desire to oust from these countries all European trade and capital, substituting their own.

"This is purely an illusion, which has a prejudicial and retarding effect on the natural development of North American trade in our markets. They have not themselves sufficient free capital to think of an enterprise of this magnitude, and in any case our relations with Europe are too deeply rooted for any one to think of cutting them off. The North Americans should only aspire to compete freely in our markets with European products.

"In addition to this, North American commercial development in South America will depend to a great extent on the adaptability of their manufacturers in the sense of producing merchandise which will satisfy local tastes.

Disregard Latin Tastes.

"So far the Americans have endeavored to force their own tastes upon the consumer.

"Another mistake of North American trade has been that of treating these countries with a certain amount of disdain; failing to comply strictly with orders accepted, and sending instead inferior merchandise, or articles different from those ordered.

"Finally, another of the mistakes of the American trade has been its excessive distrust, which makes it stand out in comparison with the convenient and easy methods adopted by European traders.

"While the latter will give credit for his goods in current account, without even insisting on a document, allowing payment in six or twelve months, and even longer periods, the North American trader insists on selling only for cash. Often through a commission merchant who sometimes increases the price of the goods by an amount equal to their value.

Branch Sales Houses Urged.

"If the manufacturers had sales houses in Buenos Aires and would do business in the manner and on the terms current in the market their sales would be multiplied by a hundred.

"There is some talk of North American banks, but the initial operations realized by one of them with the Bank of the Argentine Nation confirms our accusation of timidity against North American capital."

Ernst L. Koehler of Shanghai, China, arrived in Chicago during the day to arrange with manufacturers here for the purchase of goods.

"In China the people are desirous of buying from American manufacturers," Mr. Koehler said. "They will refuse to buy from the English in the future because of that nation's alliance with Japan."

Forest City and Rockford Companies.

J. W. L.—The Forest City Life Insurance company began paying dividends this year on a basis of 5 per cent. It has made three quarterly payments of 1¼ per cent each. The company began operations in September, 1911, when it took over the business of an assessment company of the same name organized in July, 1909. The last annual report showed capital stock $100,000 and surplus $13,662. Last February it was voted to double the capital stock, selling the shares of $20 par at $30, and adding the $10 to surplus. The Rockford Life Insurance company began business in March, 1910, with $100,000 capital. Its last annual report showed a surplus of $15,900. It had at the end of last year $2,074,086 of insurance in force, while the Forest City had $2,212,107.

Texas City Transportation.

R. W.—The Texas City Transportation company has docks, warehouses, piers, and elevators on the mainland opposite Galveston, Tex., also a terminal railway. The company has outstanding $2,500,000 common stock and $300,000 7 per cent cumulative preferred. No dividends have been paid. There are also outstanding $1,729,500 first mortgage 6 per cent serial gold notes and $600,000 convertible notes. Interest has been paid promptly and the $100,000 of bonds already matured have been paid.

Delta Land Company.

D. F. R., Rhinelander, Wis.—The Delta Land company's $150,000 bonds are secured by 45,000 acres of land subject to overflow. About $300,000 has been expended in reclamation work and by the expenditure of $200,000 more 7,000 acres will be drained, and worth about $300,000, and the value of the remaining 38,000 acres will be enhanced. At the present time the holders of the mortgage of $150,000 must pay $25,000 a year taxes to preserve their title. The prospects are that the bondholders will have to foreclose and then expend a large sum in development work in order to realize on their investment.

Brief Answers to Correspondents.

G. B., Albion, Ill.—This department cannot advise you as to the future course of the market for stocks. Swift & Co. shares have been on a dividend basis since 1889. For the last sixteen years the rate has been 7 per cent. The minimum official price of stock is 101¼, and numerous sales have been made in Chicago on that basis. A sale was made on the Boston exchange a few days ago at 101½.

J. M. T.—The buy a bale movement has practically ceased. With cotton selling near 6 cents, few people want to pay 10 cents, particularly as it is probably some middleman, and not the southern farmer, who pockets the $20 profit on a bale.

M. W. L.—The advertising literature you inclose counts the apples before the trees are planted. The company claims to own 1,320 acres of Idaho land and is selling $250,000 of bonds to pay for and develop the property. This makes $189.40 an acre the investment of bondholders.

STOCK DEMAND EXCEEDS SUPPLY

New Record Set in Unofficial Securities Market at New York.

LOANS MADE IN LONDON

New York, Nov. 10.—For the first time since the formation of the unofficial market, which deals in the more active listed stocks, buying orders today far outnumbered offers to sell. This was reflected in the quoted prices of such speculative favorites as United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, Reading, the Harriman issues, and other stocks of like character, all of which were higher by 4 to 11 points than a month ago.

In the official market similar conditions prevailed, the New York city 3 year 4 per cent notes attaining a new high price at 103½.

Make Loans in London.

Of importance was the news that local brokerage houses had negotiated time loans in London on very favorable terms. The amount of these loans was not large, but the fact that London was willing to engage in such operations was accepted as strong proof of the improved conditions at that center.

Quoted rates for long time money were unchanged in the local market, but the supply was more abundant. Call money was easier at 4½ per cent for special transactions, which established the lowest rate since the beginning of the war. All grades of commercial paper were in demand, short maturities being accepted at as low as 4½ per cent.

The activity of marks at a new low price in the exchange market attested the increasing business being done here for German interests and gave currency to fresh rumors of a large loan for that country. Sterling exchange was lower on light business and Paris checks and drafts were merely nominal. More gold was exported to Canada, presumably in connection with the operations of the gold pool.

Some Adverse Developments.

There were some adverse developments during the day, including a report of a large decrease in unfilled orders by the United States Steel corporation for October, the largest increase in idle cars for this period of the year since 1907, a large falling off in local exports, and an unfavorable statement of gross earnings for October by the Great Northern railway.

London reported a decided stimulus to financial business, the chief contributing factor being the naval news, which was followed by a pronounced drop in marine insurance rates.

BOARD OF TRADE REFUSES TO REINSTATE MARK BATES.

The directors of the board of trade yesterday turned down the application of Mark Bates of W. G. Press & Co. for readmission to membership on the exchange. Mr. Bates was expelled from the board of trade nearly two years ago following the expulsion of Frank M. Bunch, an ex-president of the exchange.

A few weeks ago application for readmission of Bates was posted, and at once caused considerable interest among members. John Hill Jr., who was the prosecutor in the Bunch-Bates case, took up the fight against Bates a second time.

The directors held a long meeting lasting until 9:30 o'clock last night. Only three votes were necessary to debar the applicant. John Hill Jr. and Frank B. Rice were both at the meeting working against the readmission of Mr. Bates. It was said there was a practical rehearing of the principal evidence introduced against Bates at the original trial. The contention of the friends of Bates was that he had been convicted largely on technicalities.

AMENDMENT TO WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT URGED.

An amendment to the workmen's compensation act, providing for the review of the findings of the industrial board by the Supreme court of the state was advocated yesterday at a meeting of the safety committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' association at the Hotel La Salle.

The law was discussed by J. B. Vaughn, chairman of the Illinois Industrial board; Colin C. H. Fyffe, attorney for the Manufacturers' association; G. L. Mallory, an insurance agent; and Samuel A. Harper, author of the law.

Mr. Mallory objected to the provision for an arbitration committee, which may be called to decide on the amount of compensation to be allowed injured employés. He charged that decisions by these committees usually were unfair.

BUTTER AND EGG PRICES ADVANCE

Both Divisions of Produce Market Make Upturns of Half a Cent.

SPRING CHICKENS RISE.

Butter prices at Chicago yesterday were advanced ½c a pound and a gain of ½c a dozen was made by prices of fancy fresh eggs. The upturn in butter was due to higher outside markets, as receipts of 8,934 tubs were more than ample for local requirements. Eggs sold slowly and the market was uncertain at the advance. Receipts were 5,168 cases.

Live spring chickens recovered half of Monday's decline and live geese also sold ½c higher, while old chickens and other poultry held at former prices. Receipts were 6 cars and 1,660 coops.

Market for white potatoes displayed more firmness and sales of fair to good offerings were made at an advance of 2c a bu. Fancy potatoes continued scarce and firm at 45c a bushel on track. Receipts were 45 cars.

Fresh fruits and green vegetables met with a moderate demand and showed no important change in value.

FLEX-A-TILE ASPHALT SHINGLES FOR YOUR ROOF.
Don't have any sort of roofing laid on your home until you inspect Flex-a-Tile Asphalt Shingles. Resisting wear and tear of the elements, these shingles are decidedly beautiful and decorative to any home. Once applied properly, it's simply impossible for Flex-a-Tiles to stain, fade, rot, or fall off. Only the finest purest wool felt is used for the core; this is first saturated with twice its own weight of oil free asphalt and then coated on both sides with a specially chosen gilsonite asphalt whose melting point is 200 degrees Fahrenheit. Beautiful, natural color surfacings of slate or gravel are imbedded under tons of pressure. In red, greenish gray, emerald, and brown. Fewer shingles are needed. Phone Kedzie 2865. A Most Timely Opportunity in Winter Topcoats At $22.50, $25, $27.50

Special arrivals in coats disclose unusual values.

All the new and favored coat fabrics are represented. All the distinctive style features in flare—sleeves—in collars—in trimmings are cleverly adapted.

These new coat assortments have been separated into three groups. Each group is represented in the sketch by one of the several coat fashions which compose it—and every coat in itself offers splendid value.

Women's Coats, Special at $22.50

In broadcloths, tweeds, zibelines, cheviots, and novelty cloths—some with the new fur-fabric trimming—fashioned in the newest lines.

The coat at the left is of broadcloth trimmed in broadtail cloth, both fabric and trimming of exceptional quality. Specially priced at $22.50.

Women's Coats, Special at $25

The same splendid variety in fabrics is offered in this group from the soft zibelines to the strong, durable tweeds in plain colors or in mixtures, as the coat illustrated—

In the center. The smartness of this mixture tweed coat is accentuated by the large bullet buttons and the "choker" collar of velvet. $25.

Women's Coats, Special at $27.50

This group presents especially interesting values in sealette and plush coats, of soft, rich texture, as well as in distinctive models in the other new coat fabrics.

The coat at the right is of sealette of a quality rarely to be had at this moderate price. It has the new tab-belt and fastens with braid-trimmed buttons. $27.50.
